GRAVE SITUATION WITH MEXICO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 29.—The state department today faced two grave issues with Mexico. Carranza's renewed demand for the withdrawal of the American forces from Mexico was expected at the department before the close of the day. It is being brought to Washington by Manuel Mendez and will be presented by Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate.

The department has received from the White House the vigorous protest sent to President Wilson by Americans in the Tampico district asking for relief from the confiscatory decrees issued by Carranza against American oil operators. Apart from the deadlock bound to result over the renewed demand for the withdrawal of the American forces, the state department as a result of the Tampico protest faces the most serious situation that has yet arisen in its dealings with Mexico over the rights of American concessionaires.

The protest, signed by 84 American residents in Tampico, sets forth that the decrees have become progressively anti-American and the Carranza government even attempts to stipulate the wage rate to be paid by Americans to their employes.

Military decrees at first providing that oil lands in Vera Vruz state might not be leased without the consent of the state government have been modified until now all foreigners are prohibited from acquiring leases or assignment of leases from natives. So Americans, according to the protest, are restrained from selling their property to any save natives and so petty and so discriminatory are the decrees aimed at them that the lease of an apartment or of a horse may not be effected without a special permit.

"All of the decrees," says the protest, "violate Mexican law and are in contravention of the rights of Americans guaranteed by treaty between Mexico and the United States. We desire to know if the American government will permit the above decrees or any of them to remain in force where the rights of Americans are involved.

Describing the various orders as "progressive in that they are consistently becoming more anti-American," the appeal declares that the "authorities had not the remotest idea when they first began to issue such decrees that they would be able to enforce them, but when nothing was done by our government to secure their repeal these edicts have been made more stringent each day until now our property is threatened with confiscation and in some cases has actually been confiscated and our personal liberty is menaced."

The state department today was planning to call upon all American consuls in the Tampico and Vera Cruz districts for reports on the conditions set forth in the appeal.

CARRANZA TROOPS NEAR THE BORDER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Texas, May 29.—Reports from the interior of Chihuahua that 30,000 Carranzista troops are now within easy striking distance of the border have aroused some apprehension here.

General Obregon, the minister of war in the de facto government of Mexico, has concentrated a large amount of field artillery at Chihuahua City. This move is regarded as significant as it is said that artillery would be of no use in patrol work nor in the pursuit of Villa.

The diplomatic negotiations between Mexico and the United States which temporarily halted the search for Villa by the United States troops has given the bandit an opportunity to select a new hiding place and the task of the American forces has been increased in consequence. Villa is reported to have secured a number of recruits and now has a formidable band in his mountain retreat.

Although there are large masses of Carranza forces throughout northern Mexico they are apparently making little effort to search out Villa. It is feared that if the United States troops are withdrawn in compliance with the demand of General Venustiano Carranza that all the good done by the forces of Brigadier General Pershing will have been nullified and that Villa never will be taken.

There are 5,000 Carranza soldiers at Ahumada, about 80 miles south of El Paso. They are within a short march of General Pershing's main line of communication.

Runaway Boys Picked Up.

Saturday evening Policeman Shader picked up three runaway boys from New York city at the West Shore station. They gave their names as Joseph Kaufman, Arthur Pulson and George Freyberger. Kaufman told the police that he had run away while on parole from Randall's Island, but when the police communicated with the authorities of that institution they replied they had no record of a boy by that name. The boys were placed in jail and their case is being investigated by Mrs. MacMillan.

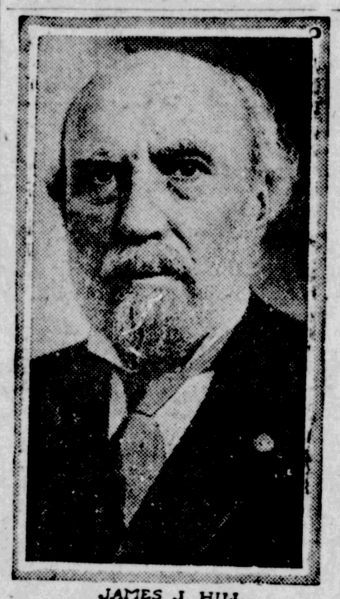
JAMES J. HILL DEAD IN ST. PAUL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—James J. Hill, eminent railroad builder and financier, died at his home here today at 9:30.

Mr. Hill had been ill for about ten days. Unprecedented efforts to save his life had been made by a large coterie of specialists rushed here several days ago from Rochester, Minn., and New York.

Announcement of Mr. Hill's death was made at his residence. Just a half hour before the end came, Dr. Herman Biggs of New York announced to newspaper men that his death was momentarily expected.



JAMES J. HILL.

Practically all the members of the financier's immediate family were at the bedside when he expired.

James Jerome Hill, who opened the great Northwest to development, created billions in values, did a vast amount to improve railroad methods, and himself amassed an enormous fortune, came of poor Irish and Scotch farmer stock.

By his own genius he rose to the top of the ladder, became one of the mentors of the New World, inspired tens of thousands of others to lives of usefulness and well deserved his title of "The Empire Builder."

Mr. Hill was born near Guelph, Wellington county, Ontario, Canada, on September 16, 1833. He was the son of James and Anne (Dunbar) Hill.

His childhood was spent in Canada. From his seventh to his fifteenth year he attended Rockwood Academy, a Quaker school.

He intended to study medicine. But his father died in 1853 and the young man took a job in a country store.

After surveying the field of the whole United States he selected St. Paul, Minn., as the best place for his start in life. In 1865 he secured work there as a shipping clerk.

He was a man who thought a great deal about his work. He studied transportation and fuel problems carefully.

Within a year he set up in business for himself. He became a steamboat and railway agent. In 1870, with a partner, he built a steamboat for use on the Red River of the North.

This brought him into competition with the powerful Hudson Bay Company. The great corporation soon found the struggle too hard and took Mr. Hill into its own service, putting him in charge of the company's interest in that district.

He was the first to take coal from St. Paul and he opened the first communication between St. Paul and Winnepeg, then Fort Garry, in 1872.

His great opportunity came in 1873 and he seized it eagerly. The discredited St. Louis and Pacific Railway went into a receivership. It was $33,000,000 in debt.

Mr. Hill took charge of this sick patient and nursed it back to ruddy health. In 1878, with Donald A. Smith, George Stephen and Norman Kittson, he secured complete control and the line was reorganized in 1879 as the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway Company, with Mr. Hill as general manager. He became president in 1883.

Mr. Hill now proposed a railway from the Great Lakes to the Pacific. Many thought him visionary. He paralleled the Northern Pacific which had been assisted by the United States government and the Canadian Pacific, which had received vast grants from Canada.

Without one cent of state of government money, the Great Northern system was constructed. From 1880 to 1893 six thousand miles of track were built and equipped.

It was built at the rate of nearly a mile a day for every day of Mr. Hill's control and extends from Lake Superior to Puget Sound.

In addition Mr. Hill organized a fleet on the Pacific and another on the Great Lakes as feeders to his railway. His lake boats surpassed in speed and size any built before.

Mr. Hill accepted no salary. While building up fortunes for himself and other shareholders, he created more than a billion in realty values for settlers along his line.

Mr. Hill worked and studied constantly until he was an expert in almost every phase of the geography, minerals, water, population and the resources of every port of the Northwest.

He was singularly felicitous in dealing with his employes and never had but one serious strike.

In 1901, with J. Pierpont Morgan and others, Mr. Hill's Great Northern and the Northern Pacific Railway bought a large share of the stock of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, comprising nearly 9,000 miles of track.

About the same time Edward H. Harriman and associates in the Union Pacific Railway acquired a majority of the stock of the Northern Pacific.

A fight between the Harriman interests and the Hill-Morgan interests for the purchase of Northern Pacific common stock in the open market brought about the panic of May 9, 1901, when the stock went to $1,000 a share.

By exercising a right to retire the Northern Pacific preferred stock the Hill-Morgan group, which controlled the common, won the fight.

Mr. Hill now organized and became president of the $400,000,000 Northern Securities Company, which was to take over Great Northern and Northern Pacific stock of the Hill-Morgan group and also the Harriman holdings in Northern Pacific.

This resulted in a federal anti-trust suit. President Roosevelt ordered the government prosecutors to take action. The case was taken up to the Supreme Court, where in 1904, the combination was held illegal. The Northern Securities Company's stock holdings were distributed among the stockholders.

But the Great Northern Pacific continued to control the Burlington and all three roads prospered. The territory along their lines developed rapidly.

Mr. Hill never gave up his work on acount of age and labored faithfully to the last.

The secret of his success lay largely in his ingenuity in devising and adopting standards for railway location, construction and operation. He revolutionized the American railway industry and brought costs of transportation by rail far below the level of foreign countries.

He was a great beliver in low grades, heavy power large capacity cars and big trainloads and he lived to see his principles universally accepted.

In his later life, Mr. Hill was a great art connoiseur and throughout his career he found time for extensive reading. He had a fine collections of paintings of the modern French school.

His charitable gifts were many. He supported especially Macalester and Hamline colleges.

His broadmindedness was attested in St. Paul Theological Seminary, an institution to train men for the Roman Catholic priesthood. Although Mr. Hill was not of that religious faith, he built this school and completely endowed it, at a cost of $500,000.

He married Mary Theresa Mehegan of St. Paul on August 19, 1867 and was the father of two sons, James N. and Lewis Hill, and five daughters. Both his sons are now prominent in the railroad business of their father.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Peter Murray of this city has been filed with Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court and a citation for its probate was issued returnable June 20. The testator gives his estate to his daughters, Catherine Murray and Mary DuBois, who are appointed executrices. The will was executed August 5, 1901, and witnessed by Christopher A. Murray and Milford B. Myers. The value of the real estate is $800 and there is no personal property. Christopher A. Murray appeared for the executrices.

In the matter of the guardianship of William Edward Lewis, an order to draw money out of court was granted. Brinnier & Canfield appeared for the petitioner.

A Correction.

In the list of names published recently of those who have donated the use of their automobiles for the civil war veterans inthe parade tomorrow the name Miss M. McLean should have read Miss M. Millard.

BULGARS INVADE GREEK TERRITORY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Athens, May 29.—Bulgarian troops, equipped with German artillery and led by German officers, are violently bombarding the Allies' positions on the Demir Hissar front in Macedonia.

The Bulgarians have penetrated Greek territory for 15 miles and at some points where the Greek troops tried to stem the invasion they were vigorously shelled by the Bulgars.

All the indications are that the long expected drive against the Alies in Macedonia is finally under way and that the Central Powers have decided upon an offensive campaign in practically all the theaters of war.

Strong protests have been made to the Bulgarian government by the Greek government against the intrusion of Bulgarian soldiers in Greece.

On Sunday mass meetings were held here and in Saloniki, when resolutions were adopted protesting against the invasion of Greece. There were cries of "Down with Bulgaria."

There are approximately 40,000 Bulgarians and Germans on Greek soil. The point where the invasion took place was far to the east of the place where it was expected that the Central Powers would make their attack. It was evidently part of German strategy to take the Allies upon the flank.

Demir Hissar is on the railway line which runs through the new Greek territory acquired in the Balkan wars. It is about 45 miles northeast of Saloniki.

Pro-ally newspapers declare that the Bulgarian offensive is aimed at Greece as well as the Allies put the question:

"Will the Bulgarian flag supplant the Greek flag in Macedonia?"

There are military critics who think that the Bulgarians will try to drive through to Kavala on the Aegean coast.

Three Greek forts and several blockhouses were captured by the Bulgarians, but the Greeks are in possession of Seres, an important city in the Struma valley, just south of Demir Hissar.

DOUBLE HEADER ON DECORATION DAY

Kingston Will Play a Double Header With Albany Southern Club at McVey's Field—First Game Called at 2 O'clock.

The Kingston Baseball Club will play a double header at McVey's Field on Delaware avenue on Decoration Day afternoon with the fast Albany Southern Club, and the first game is slated for 2 o'clock. The visitors come highly recommended and have not lost a game this season. Kingston has secured Kissam of Newburgh to pitch one of the games and Spalt of Kingston will pitch the other. The "fans" may look for a fast and exciting contest in both games.

Thief Grabbed Her Handbag.

Saturday evening shortly after 10 o'clock while Mrs. Mason of No. 80 Marius street and Mrs. McCommons and two children were walking home a thief sprang out from behind a tree at the corner of St. James and Fair streets, and snatched Mrs. Mason's handbag and made his escape with it. In the handbag were a pair of glasses and some small change. The matter was reported to the police.

Saturday morning the boys of the local Y. M. C. A. will go on a bicycle hike to Lake Mohonk, leaving the association at 8:15 o'clock that morning. All the boys are requested to take a lunch with them.

FINED $3 EACH FOR RIDING ON SIDEWALK

Four Boys Arrested Saturday by Police for Riding Bicycles on Sidewalks—Recorder Lang Issues Warning that Hereafter Fines Will be $5 Each.

After issuing numberless warnings to boys that they must stop riding bicycles on the sidewalks, the police got busy on Saturday and Policeman Welsh rounded up four young men. They were Clyde Hornbeck, 161 Prospect street; Harold Post, of 149 Prospect street; Herbert Gellert, of 138 North Front street, and George Duncan of Downs street. The boys averaged in age 17 years.

This morning they were arraigned before Recorder Lang and all entered a plea of guilty. In imposing a fine of $3 each the court informed the boys that many warnings had been given by the police and the court, but they seemed to have had no effect. Hereafter the court said that all boys riding bicycles on sidewalks would be arrested and the minimum fine would be $5. The boys when arrested were riding on the sidewalk on Albany avenue.

Mrs. John Glass of No. 207 West 110th street, New York city, was arrested late Saturday afternoon on a charge of running her automobile up Broadway on the left hand side of the street. The arrest was made by Policeman Kuehn who gave chase in another automobile.

When informed by the officer that she was arrested Mrs. Glass is said to have become very indignant and informed the policeman that if it had occurred in New York she would have had him "broken."

When taken to police headquarters she did not have enough ready money with her to furnish bail in the required amount and left her diamond earrings as security for her appearance in court on Wednesday morning.

It is said that she was on her way to Ellenville to spend Decoration Day.

Plumber is a Farmer.

Joseph Gruberg, the electrician, has moved from Kingston to the Pink farm near the Lucas Turnpike Four Corners, and while engaged in farming, with members of his family, will continue the electrical contracting business in Kingston. Telephone conections cannot be made until telephone poles are erected and wires strung for a mile and a half to connect with the present telephone circuit. Mr. Gruberg is now engaged in placing wires and fixtures in the automobile repair and supply store of Robinson & Gallup on North Front street; the establishments of H. Linson and Morris Munitz on North Front street, and is also installing nitrogen fixtures for a semi-indirect lighting system in the Kingston Hotel.

Joins Brother in Jail.

Thomas Coogan of Sleightsburgh was arrested by Policeman Shader on Sunday. Thomas was so drunk that he was unable to care for himself and this morning Recorder Lang sent him to jail for two days so that he would be able to go back to his work on Wednesday. Thomas will undoubtedly be assigned to the same tier of cells occupied by his brother, Dominick, who was sent up for 30 days recently by the court for the same offense.

WHITMAN WILL NOMINATE HUGHES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 29.—Governor Charles S. Whitman will nominate Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Hughes at the Chicago national convention. The chief executive of New York state is confident that the man who stood at the helm of government at Albany for four years will be the candidate of the Republican ticket.

From the moment that his own name was first mentioned as the possible candidate of the Republican party at Chicago, Governor Whitman has been ardent in his declaration that Justice Hughes should be the candidate of that party. He has worked early and late to bring about that result and now feels satisfied that his efforts will be justified in the selection of the famous jurist. The governor has frequently declared that if nominated, Justice Hughes would be elected.

William Orr, secretary to Governor Whitman, has been in touch with the delegates of many states and there has been scarcely a day of late that he does not hear favorably as regards to the prospects of Justice Hughes. In a word, supporters of Justice Hughes are determined that the situation shall be such that when the convention opens the cry for him will be so pronounced that there will be no other way than for him to accept the nomination. Many say that it will be unanimous.

It would appear that the personal influence of Governor Whitman in other states is material and that those in power there are of his mind that there is only one candidate to be thought about in spite of the sentiment for Colonel Roosevelt which prevails. Governor Whitman has not been passive in his allegiance for Justice Hughes, but on the other hand has publicly advocated him and as publicly worked in his interest in so far as a governor may do so with perfect official propriety.

Governor Whitman's nominating speech has not yet been fully prepared. It is said that when completed it will deal with the necessity of the Republican party selecting as its standard bearer a man who will unite all factions, be espoused by many men of all parties and whose experience and high character will leave nothing to be criticized. Such a candidate is Justice Hughes.

Politicians who have followed the administration of Governor Whitman, declare that they can see in his acts, an official endorsement and emulation of the methods used by Justice Hughes when he was governor. While this may be true in a sense, Governor Whitman did not push his demands as strenuously as did Governor Hughes. He let the legislature have its way and declared that he would do so before it met. In this respect he deviated from the Hughes path.

There was one Hughes characteristic, however, which Governor Whitman manifested which was akin to the Hughes method; he was independent as regards many of his appointments, oblivious to criticism, political or otherwise.

Governor Whitman is believed to have the full confidence of Justice Hughes, although this has never been fully established. He is regarded as the unofficial manager of the Hughes campaign, if it can be so termed.

Waite Wants No Appeal.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 29.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, who was convicted on Saturday of the murder of his father-in-law, spent a busy day in the Tombs preparing a long statement. Waite ate heartily and laughed and joked with his guards. He declared he was ready to die and protested that he did not want his case appealed.

ANOTHER KINGSTON POINT STABBING

The usual woman in the case caused another stabbing affray in Guadagnola's saloon at Kingston Point on Saturday evening when William Pritchard was cut in the leg by a knife, and a hurry call was sent to police headquarters which led to the arrest of John Lipscomb, who is charged with doing the stabbing. Both men are negroes.

Lipscomb was arraigned before Recorder Lang on Sunday morning and entered a plea of not guilty and the case was held open until Thursday morning. Lipscomb was represented by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly. Bail was fixed at $1,000 which was furnished by George Washburn.

According to Lipscomb's story of the affair the fight started over a woman and in the mixup that followed Pritchard was stabbed in the leg. Lipscomb claims that he did not do the stabbing but thinks that some other negro who had a private grudge against William thought that in the mixup at the saloon it would be a good idea to get even and so stabbed William with a knife.

On the other hand William claims that he saw John pull the knife and cut him.

BROADWAY KEPT CLEAR FOR PARADE

An effort will be made Decoration Day to keep Broadway clear of traffic while the big preparedness parade is passing through the street, and to that end the police ask all automobilists and drivers of other vehicles to keep off of Broadway during the time the parade is passing. All traffic following the parade down Broadway will be diverted to Prince street, to Hasbrouck avenue, and no trolley cars will run on Broadway at that time. Trolley cars will run on the Colonial Division from Thomas street down and from Cedar street up, none crossing Broadway during the parade. It is hoped and expected that all finding it necessary to go either to the uptown or the downtown section of the city while the parade is passing will use the back streets.

No vehicles will be permitted on the city hall grounds during the exercises that follow the parade.

Mr. Hill now organized and became president of the $400,000,000 Northern Securities Company, which was to take over Great Northern and Northern Pacific stock of the Hill-Morgan group and also the Harriman holdings in Northern Pacific.

This resulted in a federal anti-trust suit. President Roosevelt ordered the government prosecutors to take action. The case was taken up to the Supreme Court, where in 1904, the combination was held illegal. The Northern Securities Company's stock holdings were distributed among the stockholders.

But the Great Northern Pacific continued to control the Burlington and all three roads prospered. The territory along their lines developed rapidly.

Mr. Hill never gave up his work on account of age and labored faithfully to the last.

The secret of his success lay largely in his ingenuity in devising and adopting standards for railway location, construction and operation. He revolutionized the American railway industry and brought costs of transportation by rail far below the level of foreign countries.

He was a great beliver in low grades, heavy power large capacity cars and big trainloads and he lived to see his principles universally accepted.

In his later life, Mr. Hill was a great art connoiseur and throughout his career he found time for extensive reading. He had a fine collections of paintings of the modern French school.

His charitable gifts were many. He supported especially Macalester and Hamline colleges.

His broadmindedness was attested in St. Paul Theological Seminary, an institution to train men for the Roman Catholic priesthood. Although Mr. Hill was not of that religious faith, he built this school and completely endowed it, at a cost of $500,000.

He married Mary Theresa Mehegan of St. Paul on August 19, 1867 and was the father of two sons, James N. and Lewis Hill, and five daughters. Both his sons are now prominent in the railroad business of their father.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Peter Murray of this city has been filed with Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court and a citation for its probate was issued returnable June 20. The testator gives his estate to his daughters, Catherine Murray and Mary DuBois, who are appointed executrices. The will was executed August 5, 1901, and witnessed by Christopher A. Murray and Milford B. Myers. The value of the real estate is $800 and there is no personal property. Christopher A. Murray appeared for the executrices.

In the matter of the guardianship of William Edward Lewis, an order to draw money out of court was granted. Brinnier & Canfield appeared for the petitioner.

A Correction.

In the list of names published recently of those who have donated the use of their automobiles for the civil war veterans in the parade tomorrow the name Miss M. McLean should have read Miss M. Millard.

TROOP 1, BOY SCOUTS, WHO WILL PARADE ON MEMORIAL DAY.

BULGARS INVADE GREEK TERRITORY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Athens, May 29.—Bulgarian troops, equipped with German artillery and led by German officers, are violently bombarding the Allies' positions on the Demir Hissar front in Macedonia.

The Bulgarians have penetrated Greek territory for 15 miles and at some points where the Greek troops tried to stem the invasion they were vigorously shelled by the Bulgars.

All the indications are that the long expected drive against the Allies in Macedonia is finally under way and that the Central Powers have decided upon an offensive campaign in practically all the theaters of war.

Strong protests have been made to the Bulgarian government by the Greek government against the intrusion of Bulgarian soldiers in Greece.

On Sunday mass meetings were held here and in Saloniki, when resolutions were adopted protesting against the invasion of Greece. There were cries of "Down with Bulgaria."

There are approximately 40,000 Bulgarians and Germans on Greek soil. The point where the invasion took place was far to the east of the place where it was expected that the Central Powers would make their attack. It was evidently part of German strategy to take the Allies upon the flank.

Pro-ally newspapers declare that the Bulgarian offensive is aimed at Greece as well as the Allies put the question:

"Will the Bulgarian flag supplant the Greek flag in Macedonia?"

There are military critics who think that the Bulgarians will try to drive through to Kavala on the Aegean coast.

Three Greek forts and several blockhouses were captured by the Bulgarians, but the Greeks are in possession of Seres, an important city in the Struma valley, just south of Demir Hissar.

DOUBLE HEADER ON DECORATION DAY

The Kingston Baseball Club will play a double header at McVey's Field on Delaware avenue on Decoration Day afternoon with the fast Albany Southern Club, and the first game is slated for 2 o'clock. The visitors come highly recommended and have not lost a game this season. Kingston has secured Kissam of Newburgh to pitch one of the games and Spalt of Kingston will pitch the other. The "fans" may look for a fast and exciting contest in both games.

Thief Grabbed Her Handbag.

Saturday evening shortly after 10 o'clock while Mrs. Mason of No. 80 Marius street and Mrs. McCommons and two children were walking home a thief sprang out from behind a tree at the corner of St. James and Fair streets, and snatched Mrs. Mason's handbag and made his escape with it. In the handbag were a pair of glasses and some small change. The matter was reported to the police.

To Lake Mohonk Saturday.

Saturday morning the boys of the local Y. M. C. A. will go on a bicycle hike to Lake Mohonk, leaving the association at 8:15 o'clock that morning. All the boys are requested to take a lunch with them.

FINED $3 EACH FOR RIDING ON SIDEWALK

Four Boys Arrested Saturday by Police for Riding Bicycles on Sidewalks—Recorder Lang Issues Warning that Hereafter Fines Will be $5 Each.

After issuing numberless warnings to boys that they must stop riding bicycles on the sidewalks, the police got busy on Saturday and Policeman Welsh rounded up four young men. They were Clyde Hornbeck, 161 Prospect street; Harold Post, of 149 Prospect street; Herbert Gellert, of 138 North Front street, and George Duncan of Downs street. The boys averaged in age 17 years.

This morning they were arraigned before Recorder Lang and all entered a plea of guilty. In imposing a fine of $3 each the court informed the boys that many warnings had been given by the police and the court, but they seemed to have had no effect. Hereafter the court said that all boys riding bicycles on sidewalks would be arrested and the minimum fine would be $5. The boys when arrested were riding on the sidewalk on Albany avenue.

Mrs. John Glass of No. 207 West 110th street, New York city, was arrested late Saturday afternoon on a charge of running her automobile up Broadway on the left hand side of the street. The arrest was made by Policeman Kuehn who gave chase in another automobile.

When informed by the officer that she was arrested Mrs. Glass is said to have become very indignant and informed the policeman that if it had occurred in New York she would have had him "broken."

When taken to police headquarters she did not have enough ready money with her to furnish bail in the required amount and left her diamond earrings as security for her appearance in court on Wednesday morning.

It is said that she was on her way to Ellenville to spend Decoration Day.

Plumber is a Farmer.

Joseph Gruberg, the electrician, has moved from Kingston to the Pink farm near the Lucas Turnpike Four Corners, and while engaged in farming, with members of his family, will continue the electrical contracting business in Kingston. Telephone conections cannot be made until telephone poles are erected and wires strung for a mile and a half to connect with the present telephone circuit. Mr. Gruberg is now engaged in placing wires and fixtures in the automobile repair and supply store of Robinson & Gallup on North Front street; the establishments of H. Linson and Morris Munitz on North Front street, and is also installing nitrogen fixtures for a semi-indirect lighting system in the Kingston Hotel.

John Brother in Jail.

Thomas Cooran of Sleightsburgh was arrested by Policeman Shader on Sunday. Thomas was so drunk that he was unable to care for himself and this morning Recorder Lang sent him to jail for two days so that he would be able to go back to his work on Wednesday. Thomas will undoubtedly be assigned to the same tier of cells occupied by his brother, Dominick, who was sent up for 30 days recently by the court for the same offense.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 29.—Governor Charles S. Whitman will nominate Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Hughes at the Chicago national convention. The chief executive of New York state is confident that the man who stood at the helm of government at Albany for four years will be the candidate of the Republican ticket.

From the moment that his own name was first mentioned as the possible candidate of the Republican party at Chicago, Governor Whitman has been ardent in his declaration that Justice Hughes should be the candidate of that party. He has worked early and late to bring about that result and now feels satisfied that his efforts will be justified in the selection of the famous jurist. The governor has frequently declared that if nominated, Justice Hughes would be elected.

William Orr, secretary to Governor Whitman, has been in touch with the delegates of many states and there has been scarcely a day of late that he does not hear favorably as regards to the prospects of Justice Hughes. In a word, supporters of Justice Hughes are determined that the situation shall be such that when the convention opens the cry for him will be so pronounced that there will be no other way than for him to accept the nomination. Many say that it will be unanimous.

It would appear that the personal influence of Governor Whitman in other states is material and that those in power there are of his mind that there is only one candidate to be [illegible] in spite of the sentiment for Colonel Roosevelt which prevails Governor Whitman has not been passive in his allegiance for Justice Hughes, but on the other hand has publicly advocated him and as publicly worked in his interest in so far as a governor may do so with perfect official propriety.

Governor Whitman's nominating speech has not yet been fully prepared. It is said that when completed it will deal with the necessity of the Republican party selecting as its standard bearer a man who will unite all factions, be espoused by many men of all parties and whose experience and high character will leave nothing to be criticized. Such a candidate is Justice Hughes.

Politicians who have followed the administration of Governor Whitman, declare that they can see in his acts, an official endorsement and emulation of the methods used by Justice Hughes when he was governor. While this may be true in a sense Governor Whitman did not push his demands as strenuously as did Governor Hughes. He let the legislature have its way and declared that he would do so before it met. In this respect he deviated from the Hughes path.

There was one Hughes characteristic, however, which Governor Whitman manifested which was akin to the Hughes method; he was independent as regards many of his appointments, oblivious to criticism, political or otherwise.

Governor Whitman is believed to have the full confidence of Justice Hughes, although this has never been fully established. He is regarded as the unofficial manager of the Hughes campaign, if it can be so termed.

Waite Wants No Appeal.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 29.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, who was convicted on Saturday of the murder of his father-in-law, spent a busy day in the Tombs preparing a long statement. Waite ate heartily and laughed and joked with his guards. He declared he was ready to die, and protested that he did not want his case appealed.

ANOTHER KINGSTON POINT STABBING

The usual woman in the case caused another stabbing affray in Guadagnola's saloon at Kingston Point on Saturday evening when William Pritchard was cut in the leg by a knife, and a hurry call was sent to police headquarters which led to the arrest of John Lipscomb, who is charged with doing the stabbing. Both men are negroes.

Lipscomb was arraigned before Recorder Lang on Sunday morning and entered a plea of not guilty and the case was held open until Thursday morning. Lipscomb was represented by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly. Bail was fixed at $1,000 which was furnished by George Washburn.

According to Lipscomb's story of the affair the fight started over a woman and in the mixup that followed Pritchard was stabbed in the leg. Lipscomb claims that he did not do the stabbing but thinks that some other negro who had a private grudge against William thought that in the mixup at the saloon it would be a good idea to get even and so stabbed William with a knife.

On the other hand William claims that he saw John pull the knife and cut him.

BROADWAY KEPT CLEAR FOR PARADE

An effort will be made Decoration Day to keep Broadway clear of traffic while the big preparedness parade is passing through the street, and to that end the police ask all automobilists and drivers of other vehicles to keep off of Broadway during the time the parade is passing. All traffic following the parade down Broadway will be diverted to Prince street, to Hasbrouck avenue, and no trolley cars will run on Broadway at that time. Trolley cars will run on the Colonial Division from Thomas street down and from Cedar street up, none crossing Broadway during the parade. It is hoped and expected that all finding it necessary to go either to the uptown or the downtown section of the city while the parade is passing will use the back streets.

VALUABLE LEMON.

There are few places where one is unable to procure a lemon, and there are worse things than "being handed a lemon." Thompson says: "The antiscorbutic value of fruits is illustrated particularly by certain varieties which furnish potash salts as well as lime and magnesia. Among these are to be mentioned apples, lemons, limes and oranges."

Lemon juice is a well-known remedy for seasickness and nausea and as a cooling and refreshing drink in fevers it does more to diminish the craving of thirst than any other form of beverage.

Lemons are most delightful as flavor for various dishes as appetizers, or as fruit desserts. An eighth of a lemon with a bit of fish is an accompaniment altogether indispensable. The color is of value, appealing to the eye, thus adding to the value of the food thus garnished.

Lemon Pie.—Make a rich crust and fill with the following—mix together two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, one and a half cupfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt; two cupfuls of water, the yolks of three eggs, the juice of two and rind of one lemon, and two tablespoonfuls of butter; cook until smooth, fill the crust and cover with a meringue made of the three whites of eggs, using three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in a moderate oven.

Queen of Lemon Pie.—This is a pie especially for the fastidious who do not like a meringue. The crust for this pie is not previously baked, and the mixture is poured into the shell and baked. Take a cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter, mix well, then add a cupful of milk and mix four tablespoonfuls of flour in a little of the milk, or it may be added to the sugar and butter; add the juice and rind of a lemon, a pinch of salt and yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten; then fold in the whites of three eggs, beaten stiff, stir until lightly mixed, pour into the uncooked pastry and bake until firm. It will have a spongy top much like sponge cake, and very delicious.

MOHONK WINS OPENING GAME

Mohonk Lake, May 29.—But for the generosity of Lawrence who elected to retire Cahill at first base instead of preventing Crosby from scoring in the 6th inning, the story of Saturday's game would probably have been a shutout for the State Normal School nine of New Paltz. As it was, it proved easy for Mohonk to pile up a score of thirteen against the visitors lone run. The features of the game were brilliant running catches by Voigt and Walsh. Churchill pitched a good game for the home team, while Crosby for New Paltz was hit hard after the second inning and Cahill, who succeeded him in the sixth, was no more effective.

Red Monograms Won.

Red Monograms of this city defeated Robin Hoods of Hyde Park at Hyde Park Sunday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a crack-a-jack, the Red Monograms winning out in the ninth. With the score 3 to 2 in favor of Hyde Park, the Monograms went to bat for their last inning and Hoben, first man up, singled. Carr was hit by a pitched ball. Williams sacrificed both men along by a clever bunt and Brown scored both men with a two bagger to left. Smedes scored Brown with another two bagger, his third one of the game. Williams quickly ended the game in a final round by striking out the Hyde Park side in the order they came up. Features of the game were the hitting of Smedes, the pitching of Spalt and Williams and a great catch by Murphy for the Monograms and the battery work of the Hyde Park team. Next Sunday the Monograms are scheduled to play the Hustlers of Poughkeepsie at Poughkeepsie. Owing to the weather the Monograms did not have their expected excursion but went to Hyde Park by train.

SEAGER.

Seager, May 29.—Mrs. Margaret Stewart, who is ill at the home of her son, George, is gradually failing. Dr. Ames of Roxbury is attending her.

James Gray, who has employment with the Borden Company, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Todd and Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong attended the meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star, Belle Chapter, No. 333, at Fleischmann's, Thursday evening, May 25. They made the trip in Mr. Todd's new Overland.

The Rev. G. G. Weber is conducting a series of prayer meetings in the school house every Tuesday evening. His subject last week was "A True Soldier."

Nearly 75 bushels of potatoes have been planted on the farm of George J. Gould.

TILLSON.

Tillson, May 29.—The Misses Lizzie and Ina Quick spent Sunday at Marcus Krom's.

The entertainment was well attended both nights that it was given in the church hall by home talent. Over $26 were taken in at the door besides seventy quarts of ice cream were sold.

NICKNAMES DON'T FIT

Several of Giants Are Under Six Feet in Height.

Cubs Are Now Full Grown and Indians Are Not What Name Implies—Some of Yankees Are Irish and Others Are German.

The Giants aren't giants. Many of them are almost pigmies. Doyle, Kauff, Burns, Rariden and three or four others are far under six feet in height. The regular team, as a whole, probably doesn't average beyond 5-10 or 5-11.

The Cubs are full grown. There's Joe Tinker, who is well along in the thirties, the ancient Miner Brown and Frank Schulte.

The Indians aren't what their name implies. They're not savage; they don't emit warwhoops or conduct scalping parties.

The Browns are not brown.

The Dodgers still dodge trolley cars over in the wilds of Brooklyn, but they don't dodge the other ball clubs as they used to do in the bygone days.

The Cardinals belie their name. Cardinals are not supposed to use profane language, chew tobacco or drink beer. Yet some of the Cardinals do those very things.

The Yankees aren't Yankees. Some are Irish, some German, some English and the others are something other than pure Yankee descent.

The Pirates are not thieves. You'll agree with us if you consult the base stealing records. Nor are they bold. They do not sail the seas except when they make occasional trips to Boston. Some of them have buried gold, of course, but they've earned it.

As to the Reds—well, maybe they are a bit different. Anarchists are commonly referred to as "reds." If you don't believe that anarchy sometimes prevails in Cincinnati ask a National league umpire.

JACK GRANEY KILLING BALL

joined the team Graney has been "killing" the ball. It is a well-known fact that one player will start a whole team slugging. He begins to hit the sphere, then another starts to hit, and in no time the entire team is slugging the ball.

CAUGHT STRING OF CATFISH

Umpire Klem's Ire Aroused by Yarn Told by Jack Miller When Bad Strike Is Called.

Jack Miller was at bat and Umpire Klem called a bad strike on him in a game played in St. Louis last season.

Miller turned to Killifer, the Philadelphia catcher, and said:

"I was fishing yesterday."

"Were you? Get anything?" replied Killifer.

"You bet. Nice big string of catfish, all with pop eyes and mouths a block wide. Great fish, the catfish, but homely as sin."

And Klem glared! It will be recalled that Mr. Klem has ostracized dozens of athletes for daring to call him "Catfish." But what could he do?

TOBIN POPULAR WITH FANS

Reports from the West state that Tobin, the Browns' outfielder, has already established himself as a favorite in St. Louis. Tobin formerly was with the St. Louis Feds. Fielder Jones thought so well of the Browns he at once signed Tobin. Besides being a fast man on the bases he is a hard hitter and a good fielder. Jones expects him to be one of the stars of the season.

Nothing To Be Added To The Maxwell

YOU will never want to add anything to your Maxwell.

The purchase price includes everything you will ever need or desire for luxurious motoring.

You won't want to disguise the hood or buy a new body or put in another carburetor or ignition system or install electric lights or a self-starter.

You won't want a new radiator or springs or new spark plugs or shock-absorbers or a new top.

You need add nothing for comfort, reliability, beauty, economy or convenience. If it is a Maxwell, your car, your experience and your investment are complete.

That is the way that Maxwells are designed, manufactured and sold.

Question the owners of other motor cars—any other motor cars—and see if they are equally satisfied with their motoring investment.

An Abnormal Complexion.

"Don't I know ye?" he said. "Ye look innocent enough, ye young scallywag, but looks is deceivin'. Ye're that brazen that ye could stand there an' lie till ye was black in the face without ever changin' color!"—New York Times.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Keep the Teeth Clean.

That the farreaching consequences of neglecting to take care of the teeth may be felt in later life is the belief of many medical observers. Many diseases are the direct result of decayed teeth, swollen and inflamed gums, pyorrhea or some other form of oral sepsis.

Attention must be given to the teeth regularly, three times a day, as soon as possible after eating, if the teeth are to be preserved and the health kept normal. An equal portion of prepared chalk and orris root, mixed, will keep the mouth sweet and clean if used as a tooth powder. The gums may be toned up by rinsing the mouth with salt water. A half teaspoonful to a tumbler of water makes an agreeable solution. Salt water in this strength is also an excellent gargle for a sore throat.

The Egyptian Saw.

The saw appears to be the earliest tool that has been traced in Egyptian history. It was found first in the form of a notched bronze knife in the third dynasty, or about 5,000 years before the Christian era, and was followed in the fourth and fifth dynasties by larger toothed saws, which were used by carpenters, but there are no dated specimens until the seventh century before the Christian era, when the Assyrians used iron saws. The first knives on record were made out of flint and were, in fact, saws with minute teeth.

Too Much.

In a certain city the street car system is operated on the policy that the passenger is always right, and it seems to work to the advantage of the company. A man, woman and a boy plainly of fare age boarded a pay-as-you-enter car. Father handed the conductor a dime and started for a seat.

"How about the child?" asked the conductor politely.

Father reached in his pocket for another fare and as he offered it to the conductor remarked:

"I never have paid for him."

"How old is he?" asked the conductor.

"Not quite five."

"I beg your pardon," replied the conductor. "I thought he was past six. If you say he is not five I cannot accept a fare for him."

Father returned the money to his pocket and sat down, with a flushed face, realizing the polite conductor had given him the worst of it.

"Well," remarked father to mother, "I guess we will pay for William after this."—Indianapolis News.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, May 29.—Mr. and Mrs. John L. Onslow of Linden, N. J., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hotaling on Salem street.

Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., will meet in their room in Pythian Hall at 8 o'clock this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slater of Gardiner spent the week end with Mrs. Slater's mother, Mrs. Mary F. Neice, on Broadway.

John J. Drake of Amsterdam was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Drake on Salem street.

Eltinge Ellsworth of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Ellsworth, at Valley View avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Arza Barnard of Harrison, N. J., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Atkins on Broadway.

Miss Ethel Gray of Kingston was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Drake on Salem street Friday.

A rehearsal of the Junior and Senior Choir of the Methodist Church will be held in the chapel this evening and Friday evening at 7:30. A full attendance is desired.

S. M. Gray of Kingston gave Mr. and Mrs. James O. Drake an auto ride Friday. This was a very enjoyable treat for Mr. Drake, as he has been confined to his home since February on account of sickness.

The Missionary Society of the Reformed Church will give a reception to the congregation of the church in the Sunday school room Wednesday, May 3, after the installation services. The ladies cordially invite the congregation to be present and meet their pastor at this time and spend a social hour together.

On Tuesday evening, Decoration Day night, at 8 o'clock in Pythian Hall, the curtain will be rung up upon the only play to be given this season, "The Old Dairy Homestead." The play is for the benefit of the Reformed Church. Talented specialties will be rendered between the acts and ice cream will be on sale. Adults 15 cents. Children under ten years, 10 years. Come and hear something interesting, entertaining and full of mirth. The play is under the direction of T. H. Richards of Kingston, and the life Mr. Richards puts in a play is always appreciated by a Port Ewen audience.

Mrs. Silas M. Ronk of Riverside avenue spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schoonmaker on Schryver street.

Harold Tew, who is employed at Albany, spent the week end at his home on Bayard street.

Mrs. Maude Walker and her mother, Mrs. Tillson, who have spent a few weeks with relatives in Syracuse, have returned to their home on Green street.

Memorial Day will be observed in our village. Headed by the Veterans of the Civil War, the Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, Hope Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias, Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., and the school children of District No. 14 of Connelly and Districts No. 1 and 12 of Port Ewen, will form in procession in front of Port Ewen Public School No. 13 at 8:30 a. m., and proceed to the cemetery and decorate the graves of the soldiers. The procession will then reform and march to Pythian Hall, where a suitable program will be rendered, consisting of appropriate music, recitations by the school children and an address by the Rev. C. H. Polhemus. We believe it to be the privilege and the duty of each member of our community to march with the procession and be present at the exercises, and thus show a glowing pride in our martyred heroes, who pinned with their bayonets the stars of the union in the azure of our dear old flag.

Mrs. Woolheater and family of Smith avenue, Kingston, called on Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Crook on Broadway Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Weehawken Heights are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Miller on Tilden street.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Barnard of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Atkins on Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz and family wish to express their thanks through the columns of this paper to their many friends, who so kindly remembered them by sending flowers during the sickness and death of their son, Frederick. The funeral services were held at the home on Hudson street, Sunday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. C. H. Polhemus. Interment in family plot in Port Ewen cemetery.

Miss Mamie Conroy of Albany spent the week end at her home on Tilden street.

VALUABLE LEMON.

There are few places where one is unable to procure a lemon, and there are worse things than "being handed a lemon." Thompson says: "The antiscorbutic value of fruits is illustrated particularly by certain varieties, which furnish potash salts as well as lime and magnesia. Among these are to be mentioned apples, lemons, limes and oranges."

Lemon juice is a well-known remedy for seasickness and nausea and as a cooling and refreshing drink in fevers it does more to diminish the craving of thirst than any other form of beverage.

Lemons are most delightful as flavor for various dishes as appetizers, or as fruit desserts. An eighth of a lemon with a bit of fish is an accompaniment altogether indispensable. The color is of value, appealing to the eye, thus adding to the value of the food thus garnished.

Lemon Pie.—Make a rich crust and fill with the following—mix together two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, one and a half cupfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt, two cupfuls of water, the yolks of three eggs, the juice of two and rind of one lemon, and two tablespoonfuls of butter; cook until smooth, fill the crust and cover with a meringue made of the three whites of eggs, using three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in a moderate oven.

Queen of Lemon Pie.—This is a pie especially for the fastidious who do not like a meringue. The crust for this pie is not previously baked, and the mixture is poured into the shell and baked. Take a cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter, mix well, then add a cupful of milk and mix four tablespoonfuls of flour in a little of the milk, or it may be added to the sugar and butter; add the juice and rind of a lemon, a pinch of salt and yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten; then fold in the whites of three eggs, beaten stiff, stir until lightly mixed, pour into the uncooked pastry and bake until firm. It will have a spongy top much like sponge cake, and very delicious.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 29, 1916.

Whether the arbiters of aestheticism in the county legislature have accurately reflected public sentiment in the matter of arboreal abbreviation in the vicinity of public buildings is very much to be doubted. The cutting down of a fine old tree in order to extend a concrete sidewalk might have been done some years ago without comment or criticism being aroused. Nowadays it is different. The beauties of shade trees have been recognized by the public as assets to our streets, not to be cut down with impunity, axes or anything else. It is not sickly sentimentality but sensible feeling which inspires the protection of foliage trees within the city limits, where there are too few maples and elms at the present time and too many of the more rapidly growing, but far less desirable, cottonwoods and trees of a similar nature. It would be far better if the authorities investigated first and cut afterward. The magnificent maple which adorns the court house yard is destined for early destruction, judging from the large hole at its base where decay is slowly eating its way. Some tree surgery in such cases in lieu of such destructive demonstrations as that of Friday would be far more useful in preserving the acknowledged beauties of the scenery within or without the limits of the Colonial City.

Daylight saving is meeting with all of the approbation and the usual amount of criticism that the average bill receives at the outset, nevertheless, there is really too much of value in the suggestion to dismiss it offhand. Setting the clock's hands ahead an hour seems at first almost as revolutionary as changing to the metric system or shifting the thermometer scale from Fahrenheit to centigrade. Second thought shows the idea to be merely a scientific variation of the old nursery ditty, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." No matter whether one agrees with this theory the prospect of getting one's daily labor done and out of the way a full hour earlier than usual on these delightful, summery days certainly appeals. We are unable to dismiss the daylight savings plan so summarily as does the Naval Observatory at Washington, which is quoted as proclaiming it a "flim-flam" on the worker in that it starts him a full hour earlier than usual and leaves him at the end of the day with a similar period of time on his hands. It is easy to understand the viewpoint of the Federal employe on the question of time, which is something that usually hangs heavy on his hands. An extra hour to kill, even for entertainment, is nothing to some of these ornaments to the government service to whom time is an enemy not protected by the rules of civilized warfare. Whether Washington likes it or not there are some decidedly attractive features attached to daylight extension which are likely to procure a fair trial for the scheme all over the country within the next few years. But why cannot we get up earlier without falsifying the timepieces?

John A. Hennessy's name is not on everybody's tongue as it was once, but people have not forgotten him, and if he accomplished no other useful act during his lifetime he will bear the distinction of being responsible for the prosecution, both criminal and civil, against grafting contractors, and of having accomplished results. After pending three years, a suit brought by the State of New York against state road contractors in Warren county has resulted in favor of the state, which recovered a verdict of over $14,000. At the close of the trial the jury informed the court they were ready to award the verdict asked for without leaving their seats, but were advised they should retire and consider the evidence. They returned four minutes later with their verdict. This is the third of the so-called Hennessy cases to be tried, each of the others, which were against state road contractors, also resulting in verdicts in favor of the State. Testimony was given in the Warren county case that only one and one-half inches of bituminous macadam was laid instead of the three inches called for, and that while the road should have been constructed of hard crushed stone not larger than two and a quarter inches, stone as large as six by five inches was used throughout the resurfacing, the ordinary red sandstone found in the neighborhood being used instead of hard rock. Prosecution of any sort is not a pleasant task but it is a duty and the official who conducts it honestly and conscientiously bears the respect of the community. Any official who lives up to his oath of office while discharging his duties wins out in the long run, but some officials are not far-sighted enough to see it. Temporary blackguardism against an honest and capable official never stands the test of time but always creates a suspicion that the blackguard has some ulterior purpose, which in fact is often proved afterward, if not apparent at the time.

The Seventh.

Representative Barthold of Missouri tells the story of an old man with a soft daft look, who sat on a park bench in the sun, with rod and line, as if he were fishing, but the line with a worm on the hook, dangled over a bed of bright primroses.

Then with a gentle smile, the passerby approached the old man and said:

"What are you doing, uncle?"

"Fishing, sir,' answered the old man solemnly.

"Fishing, eh? Well, uncle, come and have a drink."

The old man shouldered his rod and followed the kindly stranger to the corner saloon. There he regaled himself with a large glass of dark beer and a good five-cent cigar. His host, contemplating him in a friendly, protecting way, as he sipped and smoked, said:

"So you were fishing, uncle? And how many have you caught this morning?"

The old man blew a smoke cloud toward the ceiling. Then after a pause he said:

"You are the seventh, sir."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

IN war or peace, Memorial Day commemorates the heroic valor of the men of this nation. Whatever men may do hereafter in the cause of humanity and in the sacred name of patriotism, each recurrence of this day should be an occasion for a backward look at past heroisms and a forward look at future consecrations.

In the meanwhile, we are here, doing our accustomed work; living our daily lives; the things we have to do, here and now, may be all of the service we shall be called upon to render. Our first duty is to do the things assigned to us as well as we can.

That's why we are trying to do our business of selling Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. It may seem a little prosaic, and lacking in heroic elements; but sometimes the finest thing a man can do, is to do the commonplace, prosaic thing with a high spirit.

MEMORIAL DAY AT SAWKILL.

Community Shows Creditable Pride in its Church.

At St. Ann's Church, Sawkill, there will be mass on Decoration Day at 9 a. m., whereby all the deceased who lie buried in St. Ann's cemetery shall be remembered.

A grand farmers' dance will be held in St. Ann's Hall Decoration Day night at 8:30. Prizes will be awarded to the lady and gentleman who have the best comic farmers outfit. Ice cream, cake and soft drinks will be served.

The following men of Holy Name Society have given several days' labor free of charge to repairing the walks around the church property and rectory roads, with bluestone gravel, viz: Edward McCaffrey, David O'Brien, Patrick Cavanaugh, Thomas Callahan, John Callahan, John Corkery, David Hanrahan.

The young boys' society has planted maple and pine trees about the church.

These are the days when the little birds are cheeping "Come Out in the Garden." But gardening is not all play. The correct implements, however, make for fewer blisters. What about a wheelbarrow, lawn-mower, hedge-trimmer, shovel, spade, trowel, rake, hose, hose-reel, sprinkler, grass-trimmer or a lawn-roller? The Advertising News in The Freeman quotes these very necessary garden tools at a reasonable price. Do you read the ads? BATTLE OF ALSEN WON BY RED ARMY

Noisy But Bloodless Encounter on Sunday in Which Local Military Company Took Part Was a Sight Worth Seeing.

The engagement of troops in mimic warfare which took place a few miles below Catskill Sunday morning attracted a large number of spectators from Kingston, Saugerties, Catskill and Hudson. As early as ten o'clock the automobiles began arriving, looking for advantageous positions. Motorcycles dashed up and down, and small boys on bicycles were everywhere.

Nobody knew exactly where the engagement was to take place, so interest centered about the Alsen railroad station where it was known the Blue army would detrain at 11.30.

Captain Best of Hudson was in command of the Red army which consisted of the Catskill and Hudson companies. In the absence of Captain Burnett of Poughkeepsie and Captain Meagher of Kingston, both of whom are away on military duty, the command of the Blue army fell to Lieut. Baker of Poughkeepsie.

The Red army was supposed to be holding stores at Post's cider mill, and the Blues were said to have valuable supplies at Alsen's cement works. Each side had received orders to attack and capture the enemy's stores, so that the encounter which took place midway between these points was unexpected by both sides.

The Blues, after detraining at Alsen, started up the state road, a small advance guard well ahead and the main body following.

Captain Cassidy of Catskill had organized a squad of motorcyclists who were scouting well in advance of the other troops. The advance guard of Blues pushing rapidly forward, arrived at the brow of a hill and caught the dismounted cyclists unawares. A lively skirmish resulted in which the men on foot came out victorious, all the cyclists being pronounced dead by the umpires. Among those "killed was Capt. Cassidy himself, which left the victors much elated.

Immediately after this the advance guard of both columns came in contact in the underbrush to the east of the road just below the red schoolhouse, lively fighting resulted. Bullets (imaginary) flew like hail (equally imaginary) and for the time being the Reds were forced back to cover, a splendid natural trench affording protection.

By this time the state road was lined with automobiles observing the engagement. The west side of the road was supposed to be absolutely impassable according to the umpires' orders, so that the battle all took place below the road, although the fighting was sometimes so close to the audience that timid ladies covered up their ears under the rattle of the musketry.

The main body of Reds was closer to the scene of action than the Blue army when their advance guards clashed, so that when a machine gun company of Reds got into position on the road, they succeeded in completely wiping out two advance platoons of Company M. The rest of Company M came up to the support, and held up very well against the whole Catskill company, but owing to number and positions the umpires ruled them back to retreat.

Now Capt. Best of the Reds saw his opportunity and threw in half the Hudson company on his left and started an enveloping movement. This was beautifully done, in fact could not have been done better by regular troops anywhere.

Strategic position and preponderance of numbers made it untenable for the Blues and they were forced back. The main body of Blues were unable to push up the road owing to the position of the machine gun and a flank fire of the Reds. They were therefor thrown out on the right flank in an endeavor to surround the Reds.

Owing to this over extension, the Reds got in between the Blues and had all the advantage, so the battle was declared over. The winners had of course the advantage of being more familiar with that part of the country though far be it from the writer to detract from their glorious victory.

At a signal from the umpires the bugles sounded recall. Immediately prisoners were released, the wounded recovered, the dead men jumped up, and both armies retired to the camping ground where in no time at all fully 100 camp fires were kindled and dinner was prepared. To the great interest of the spectators, the men did individual cooking. A nearby spring afforded drinking water, bacon sizzled, the smell of coffee filled the air, and friend and foe ate amicably together.

After dinner was over the field cleaned up in true military fashion, the umpires, Capt. Townsend of the U. S. army, and Major Chandler, of the 10th, gave each a short talk explaining their decisions in the battle just ended, and pointing out the mistakes which had been made.

The experiences of the day were educational to the men and enlightening to the onlookers, who followed every move with intense interest. One of the Co. M boys who was in the advence guard, tells of his experience on the battlefield: "We could see the enemy skulking behind bushes and underbrush at the other end of the field. Our platoon was working forward through the long grass near the road into a flanking position. Suddenly a machine gun hidden behind a huge bush began spitting bullets at us. I was killed at once, and five other fellows lay dead all around me. It was an awful thing to lie there in the grass dead and see our brave fellows being driven back. The hardest thing to bear was to have the people in the automobiles yelling at us to shoot. We kept telling them we were dead, but they didn't seem to believe it. It's bad enough to die for a cause without being jeered at."

On Major Chandler's staff was Lieut. Harold B. Evans of Hudson, who acted as aide, and former Capt. Decker of Catskill, who is now battalion quartermaster. Under his efficient direction a wonderfully complete dinner was cooked over the camp fire and served to the major and his staff, Capt. Townsend and a party of visitors from New York and Kingston.

HARVARD BOXING CHAMPION MAY ENTER PROFESSIONAL RING.

Cambridge, Mass., May 29.—Harvard may soon be represented in the professional prize ring. O. G. Kirkpatrick, Harvard's strong man in 1914, star football player and heavyweight boxing champion of the university, is considering an offer from John L. Sullivan, to turn professional.

Kirkpatrick made a trip to Sullivan's home at Abingdon, where the former champion proposed that Kirkpatrick put himself under John L.'s management for some three to five months, after which the old gladiator thinks the collegian will be ready to give battle to Frank Moran. With Moran disposed of, Willard would be challenged. Sullivan believes that Willard has but one or two good fights left in him and that Kirkpatrick could handle him when the time came.

Kirkpatrick hails from Texas.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, May 29.—Mrs. Arthur DeGroff and son of Peekskill are visiting her mother, Mrs. John Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coons have been entertaining for several days Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith and children and Miss Flavia Coons of Deposit and Miss Cookingham of Red Hook.

Frank A. Langwith, a student from the Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, N. J., has been appointed to the Reformed Church at Grahamsville for the summer months and will begin services on Sunday, June 4.

Miss Margaret Newkirk of North Main street is spending some days in New York.

John M. Kirby of Washingtonville is spending a few days in town.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Cleary and daughter and husband of Brooklyn have been spending several days in town stopping at the Wayside Inn.

Mrs. H. W. Coons entertained a company of about fifty friends at her home on West Center street Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6, in honor of her sister, Miss Cookingham, of Red Hook. The floral decorations of the home were the white lilacs, pink sweet peas and pansies, which were the favors. Mrs. F. J. Potter and Mrs. W. C. Rose assisted in receiving and the tables were in charge of Mrs. E. E. Count and Mrs. George F. Wilklow. Altogether it proved to be one of the most delightful affairs of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Terwilliger of Center street are spending Memorial Day with Mr. Terwilliger's sister, Mrs. John Marion, and family at Ridgefield Park, N. J.

Miss Horton, representative of the Deaconess Home, New York city, gave a most interesting talk to a large congregation at the M. E. Church Sunday morning. Miss Horton also gave a very interesting talk at the Sunday school following the church service.

The June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Nial Depuy on Main street Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This meeting is called in advance of the regular date in order to secure the presence of Mrs. James Cantine, who is the wife of our pioneer missionary to Arabia, the Rev. James Cantine, D. D. All ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to come and hear Mrs. Cantine speak on the work of the Reformed Church in Arabia.

Mrs. Tinsley and Mrs. Susan McDowell spent Sunday at Ulster Heights.

The Rev. W. H. Moser and family and Miss Bradford and Miss Clark are at Yankee Lake for over Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Duggan and Benjamin Kelly and family spent Sunday at Pine Bush, making the trip by auto.

Ancient Ispahan.

Ispahan, the ancient Persian capital, has had a checkered career. Timour the Tartar took the city in the fourteenth century, and is said to have massacred 70,000 of the inhabitants. It was then a trading town of importance under the caliphs of Bagdad. Three hundred years later it reached the climax of its prosperity under Shah Abbas. As the emporium of the Asiatic world, the merchandise of all nations enriched its bazaars, and ambassadors from Europe and the east crowded its court. Then, early in the eighteenth century, followed devastation by the Afghans, the transfer of the government to Teheran and the departure of Ispahan's glory.

A fascinating negligee is illustrated, developed in peach colored crepe de chine. This fabric forms the foundation and falls in long clinging folds to the ankles. A charming jacket of cream silk lace drapes about the shoulders and falls loosely to the knees. Soft rosebuds and a satin girdle afford trimming. The cap is of cream lace, two ends of which are boned to form a butterfly bow in back.

CHOOSING UPWARD.

Consider Well Before You Open One of These Doors.

"All the beauty and wonder of life lie in the choice we make and all the tragedy too."

Every moment of our lives some choice confronts us, and we are called upon to use our judgment, our experience, our faith, our self confidence, in making our decision.

Going through life is like traveling down a long corridor which constantly presents closed doors on either side—alternate doors—one of which we must open and pass through, irrevocably. We cannot make use of both doors, nor can we retrace our steps, nor even reconsider our choice, once the latch has been lifted. We must abide by our decision. There are no exchanges. We must do our considering before we choose, not after. And the choice once made, whether for good or ill, for better or worse, we must pay the full price.

This is well expressed by an old Persian proverb: "'Take what you will,' said the gods to mortals, 'but pay for it.'" This world is like a great balance sheet, and the man has not been born who has found a way to temper with the totals or to get around God. Life holds us inexorably to our accounting and carries out the final reckoning to the uttermost farthing.—From the Nautilus.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY.—John B. Shotwell, plaintiff, against Emily B. Goeller and others, defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of sale in the above entitled action bearing date the 6th day of May, 1916, and entered in the office of the clerk of the county of Ulster on the 25th day of May, 1916, I, the undersigned referee, appointed by said judgment for that purpose, will sell at public auction at the front door of the court house in the city of Kingston, Ulster county, New York, on Saturday, July 15th, 1916, at 11:30 o'clock a. m., the lands and premises in said judgment directed to be sold and therein described as follows:

FIRST PARCEL.—All that certain piece or parcel of land in the locality bearing the post office name of Highmount, in the town of Shandaken, county of Ulster, and state of New York, which is described and bounded as follows: BEGINNING at a stake on the southerly side of the Dry Brook Road at the westerly side of a roadway and running thence as the needle pointed August, 1893, along the southerly side of the Dry Brook Road N. 81° 30' W. 125 feet to a stake, thence south 14° 20' W. 363 feet, thence N. 52° 30' E. 316 feet to the westerly side of said roadway, thence N. 14° 45' W. 145 feet to the place of beginning. Containing one acre of land.

SECOND PARCEL.—All that piece or parcel of land immediately adjoining the southeast side or line of the first parcel of land described above, as laid down on map of E. B. Codwise August 30, 1893, described and bounded as follows: BEGINNING at the point formed by the intersection of said southeast side or line with the roadway aforesaid as laid down on said map, thence southwesterly along said southeast side of land first above conveyed one hundred and fifty feet, thence on a line at right angles with said southeast side or line five (5) feet, thence nearly northeasterly on a line parallel with said southeast side or line of land first above conveyed to said roadway, thence nearly northerly along said roadway to place of beginning. Said lot being five feet wide throughout and about one hundred and fifty feet deep.

THIRD PARCEL.—All that certain piece or parcel of land in the locality bearing the post office name of Highmount, in the town of Shandaken, county of Ulster, and state of New York, which is described and bounded as follows: BEGINNING at the northeasterly corner of the lot conveyed by J. Glentworth Butler, the party of the first part, to Susan C. Currie, the party of the second part, by deed dated December 16, 1893, and recorded in liber 315, page 6, and running thence S. 34° 45' E. 175 feet; thence S. 52° 15' W. three hundred and ten feet; thence N. 34° 30' W. seventy-five feet; thence N. 38° 30' W. one hundred and five feet; thence N. 52° 15' E. one hundred and sixty-six feet; thence S. 37° 45' E. five feet; thence N. 52° 15' E. one hundred and fifty feet to the place of beginning; containing two hundred and three rods of land, be the same more or less, as surveyed by W. B. Peters in 1897.

Also a perpetual right of way over a roadway twenty-five (25) feet in width known as Belle Arr Avenue extending from the Dry Brook Road to and in front of the above described premises to be extended around and in the rear of land now or late of Robinson and Leffingwell, being twenty (20) feet around the land now or late of Robinson and twenty-five (25) feet in the rear of land now or late of Robinson and Leffingwell.

Dated, May 26th, 1916.

MOHONK WINS OPENING GAME

Mohonk Lake, May 29.—But for the generosity of Lawrence who elected to retire Cahill at first base instead of preventing Crosby from scoring in the 6th inning, the story of Saturday's game would probably have been a shutout for the State Normal School nine of New Paltz. As it was, it proved easy for Mohonk to pile up a score of thirteen against the visitors lone run. The features of the game were brilliant running catches by Voigt and Walsh. Churchill pitched a good game for the home team, while Crosby for New Paltz was hit hard after the second inning and Cahill, who succeeded him in the sixth, was no more effective.

Red Monograms Won.

Red Monograms of this city defeated Robin Hoods of Hyde Park at Hyde Park Sunday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a crack-a-jack, the Red Monograms winning out in the ninth. With the score 3 to 2 in favor of Hyde Park, the Monograms went to bat for their last inning and Hoben, first man up, singled. Carr was hit by a pitched ball. Williams sacrificed both men along by a clever bunt and Brown scored both men with a two bagger to left. Smedes scored Brown with another two bagger, his third one of the game. Williams quickly ended the game in a final round by striking out the Hyde Park side in the order they came up. Features of the game were the hitting of Smedes, the pitching of Spalt and Williams and a great catch by Murphy for the Monograms and the battery work of the Hyde Park team. Next Sunday the Monograms are scheduled to play the Hustlers of Poughkeepsie at Poughkeepsie. Owing to the weather the Monograms did not have their expected excursion but went to Hyde Park by train.

SEAGER.

NICKNAMES DON'T FIT

Several of Giants Are Under Six Feet in Height.

Cubs Are Now Full Grown and Indians Are Not What Name Implies—Some of Yankees Are Irish and Others Are German.

The Giants aren't giants. Many of them are almost pigmies. Doyle, Kauff, Burns, Rariden and three or four others are far under six feet in height. The regular team, as a whole, probably doesn't average beyond 5-10 or 5-11.

The Cubs are full grown. There's Joe Tinker, who is well along in the thirties, the ancient Miner Brown and Frank Schulte.

The Indians aren't what their name implies. They're not savage; they don't emit warwhoops or conduct scalping parties.

The Browns are not brown.

The Dodgers still dodge trolley cars over in the wilds of Brooklyn, but they don't dodge the other ball clubs as they used to do in the bygone days.

The Cardinals belie their name. Cardinals are not supposed to use profane language, chew tobacco or drink beer. Yet some of the Cardinals do those very things.

The Pirates are not thieves. You'll agree with us if you consult the base stealing records. Nor are they bold. They do not sail the seas except when they make occasional trips to Boston. Some of them have buried gold, of course, but they've earned it.

As to the Reds—well, maybe they are a bit different. Anarchists are commonly referred to as "reds." If you don't believe that anarchy sometimes prevails in Cincinnati ask a National league umpire.

JACK GRANEY KILLING BALL

joined the team Graney has been "killing" the ball. It is a well-known fact that one player will start a whole team slugging. He begins to hit the sphere, then another starts to hit, and in no time the entire team is slugging the ball.

CAUGHT STRING OF CATFISH

Umpire Klem's Ire Aroused by Yarn Told by Jack Miller When Bad Strike Is Called.

Jack Miller was at bat and Umpire Klem called a bad strike on him in a game played in St. Louis last season.

Miller turned to Killifer, the Philadelphia catcher, and said:

"Were you? Get anything?" replied Killifer.

"You bet. Nice big string of catfish, all with pop eyes and mouths a block wide. Great fish, the catfish, but homely as sin."

And Klem glared! It will be recalled that Mr. Klem has ostracized dozens of athletes for daring to call him "Catfish." But what could he do?

TOBIN POPULAR WITH FANS

Reports from the West state that Tobin, the Browns' outfielder, has already established himself as a favorite in St. Louis. Tobin formerly was with the St. Louis Feds. Fielder Jones thought so well of the Browns he at once signed Tobin. Besides being a fast man on the bases he is a hard hitter and a good fielder. Jones expects him to be one of the stars of the season.

Nothing To Be Added To The Maxwell

YOU will never want to add anything to your Maxwell.

The purchase price includes everything you will ever need or desire for luxurious motoring.

You won't want to disguise the hood or buy a new body or put in another carburetor or ignition system or install electric lights or a self-starter.

You won't want a new radiator or springs or new spark plugs or shock-absorbers or a new top.

You need add nothing for comfort, reliability, beauty, economy or convenience. If it is a Maxwell, your car, your experience and your investment are complete.

That is the way that Maxwells are designed, manufactured and sold.

An Abnormal Complexion.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Keep the Teeth Clean.

That the farreaching concequences of neglecting to take care of the teeth may be felt in later life is the belief of many medical observers. Many diseases are the direct result of decayed teeth, swollen and inflamed gums, pyorrhea or some other form of oral sepsis.

Attention must be given to the teeth regularly, three times a day, as soon as possible after eating, if the teeth are to be preserved and the health kept normal. An equal portion of prepared chalk and orris root, mixed, will keep the mouth sweet and clean if used as a tooth powder. The gums may be toned up by rinsing the mouth with salt water. A half teaspoonful to a tumbler of water makes an agreeable solution. Salt water in this strength is also an excellent gargle for a sore throat.

The Egyptian Saw.

The saw appears to be the earliest tool that has been traced in Egyptian history. It was found first in the form of a notched bronze knife in the third dynasty, or about 5,000 years before the Christian era, and was followed in the fourth and fifth dynasties by larger toothed saws, which were used by carpenters, but there are no dated specimens until the seventh century before the Christian era, when the Assyrians used iron saws. The first knives on record were made out of flint and were, in fact, saws with minute teeth.

Too Much.

In a certain city the street car system is operated on the policy that the passenger is always right, and it seems to work to the advantage of the company. A man, woman and a boy plainly of fare age boarded a pay-as-you-enter car. Father handed the conductor a dime and started for a seat.

"How about the child?" asked the conductor politely.

Father reached in his pocket for another fare and as he offered it to the conductor remarked:

"How old is he?" asked the conductor.

"Not quite five."

"I beg your pardon," replied the conductor. "I thought he was past six. If you say he is not five I cannot accept a fare for him."

Father returned the money to his pocket and sat down, with a flushed face, realizing the polite conductor had given him the worst of it.

"Well," remarked father to mother, "I guess we will pay for William after this."—Indianapolis News.

TRYING TO SMOKE OUT JUSTICE HUGHES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 29.—Insistent demand that he answer two questions prior to the assembling of the Republican national convention began, reached Justice Hughes today. Failure to make his position on them known, he is being assured, by friends and foes alike, must seriously embarrass the men who look upon him as the "Moses who can lead the Republican hosts back into the Promised Land." Up to the present the justice has remained mute on the questions and to all inquiries his secretary returns the single reply:

"Justice Hughes is too busy with his duties to discuss any matters that do not pertain to them."

The two questions, copies of which are reaching the justice by both telegraph and mail indicating concerted action somewhere are:

"If you are nominated as the Republican candidate for president by the Chicago convention will you accept?"

"If you are the nominee of the Republican party will you favor such a degree of preparedness as will place the United States in such position as a world power that it can repel any effort at invasion no matter from what quarter it comes?"

The great question that may interfere with the plans of the men who intend making the justice the nominee of his party is the first one. The second, all feel sure, will be answered by the Republican platform which must be adopted before nominations are made. But as to whether, if nominated, the justice would accept, there is no one here who can speak with authority. Naturally it is generally accepted that no American would refuse a presidential nomination at the hands of one of the great national parties. But that is belief that has never been openly passed on by Justice Hughes and the leaders of the movement to carry the convention for Col. Roosevelt and the managers of the campaign of the "allies" are making the most of that fact. Within the last 48 hours many delegates favorable to the Hughes cause have received telegrams calling their attention to the embarrassing position the party would be in should the justice be nominated and then decline to make the race. There is no doubt that these telegrams are making the Hughes advocates uneasy and that they would greatly welcome an expression of intention on the part of their candidate.

There was a growing belief in political circles here today that the plans of the justice will be made public—probably through some intimate friend—before the end of the week. If he will agree to accept his nomination is assured. That is the concensus of opinion among senators and representatives here without regard to their personal feelings. But they say that the longer the announcement is withheld the greater the danger that the friends of Col. Roosevelt will be able to dominate the convention. It is believed that the belief that the Progressives would refuse to accept him may have had something to do with the reticence of the justice. He is believed to have desired a wait until it would be possible to determine whether a third ticket was to be forced into the field before taking any open position on his own candidacy.

Meanwhile the exodus Chicagoward is well under way. Despite the fact that the senate and house plan a full program for the week, a number of the Republican leaders in the two houses already have started for the convention. Others are to follow during the next few days and by the end of the week there will hardly be a quorum available in either house, as a number of the Democratic leaders are getting away to St. Louis to talk platform with the committeemen now assembling there.

Last Post Jubilee Lecture.

The last of the lectures given in the Post Jubilee Lecture Course, will be given on Friday evening of this week, by Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, traveler and author, at the First Reformed Dutch Church. The subject of this lecture will be "A Trip Around the World," and those who have already heard Mrs. Montgomery, say that she is a most entertaining and fascinating speaker. The lectures given in this course have been most remarkable in point of excellence, comparing favorably with the famous Lowell lectures in Boston, or notable lecture courses in New York city, and costing as they have, but a nominal sum, they have been fully appreciated by the entire community. It is a matter of regret with the committee having charge of this lecture course, that the final lectures have had to be given at such a late date. This was in large part due to the fact that the entire course had to be put at an exceptionally late date, because of the evangelistic services held earlier in the season in the uptown churches.

Cake Sale.

The Rondout Presbyterian Church Ladies' Aid Circles, of which Mrs. Frank R. Powley and Mrs. Charles G. Ellis are chairmen, will hold a sale of cakes at the home of Mrs. Frank R. In addition to these delectable eatables, the young ladies of Mrs. Powley's circle will serve fresh strawberry ice cream on the porch and Mrs. Ellis's circle will have homespun porch pillows and butterfly topped plant sticks for sale.

COST OF SLEUTHS HIGH FOR HUBBY

The high cost of sleuthing in Shandaken and elsewhere featured the testimony of Warren Holden whose divorce suit against Sarah Holden was placed on trial Saturday afternoon before Referee Daniel B. Deyo. Attorney Frank W. Brooks appeared for the plaintiff and Former City Judge N. Frank O'Reilly for the defendant, who seeks a separation on counter-charges of cruelty. The Holdens were married in 1888 and have a son 16 years old.

On the stand, Holden was asked as to the whereabouts of a $1,700 bank account and told Attorney O'Reilly that most of it had gone to detectives employed by him to detect his wife in a compromising position. One of these sleuths, William Cohen, disguised himself and went to Lilley's Hotel at Lexington, Greene county, where he himself was detected. The shrewd eyes of a friend penetrated Cohen's whiskered countenance, according to a witness, and posted Mrs. Holden. The latter was employed at the hotel following her separation from her husband a year ago.

Ralph Deyo, a relative of Dr. Deyo, by whom Frank Hinckel, named as co-respondent, was employed, testified to Frank having been up late nights and some times staying out all night. Deyo let Hinckel take his horse and buggy for his alleged philandering and testified to having seen Hinckel and Mrs. Holden together. He had never heard Mrs. Holden's reputation questioned.

Chester Holden, a cousin of the plaintiff, saw the pair sitting on the bridge over the old mill stream at 11 p. m. He did not explain why he had been out that late.

Charles E. Ford, another detective, swore to a visit to Lilley's Hotel with Holden when they claim to have found Hinckel behind the doors of Mrs. Holden's room. Ford was quite the William J. Burns' type and had a bulge on his chest under his coat which might have concealed a real detective's badge.

A Kingston man was sworn by the defense and denied the allegation of any improper relations with the defendant.

Mrs. Alice Crandall, for a score of years housekeeper for Dr. Deyo at whose place Hinckel worked, told of Hinckel being up nights and of her giving him advice as to his company. Hinckel told her, she said, that Mrs. Holden was "fairer than ten thousand others" to him and that it "would break his heart" if they were separated.

Mrs. Frances Hastings, for the defense, testified to Detective Ford's sleuthing. Life at the Lilley's must have been exciting with hearts being trumps and Holden endeavoring to make it clubs or spades every chance he had. A dummy was made and placed in Mrs. Radie Dunham's bed and, like one of Boccacio's tales, the irate husband and his trusty aide fell upon it with vigor and shook the stuffing out of Mr. Dummy for a few minutes before discovering their mistake.

Witness said Mrs. Holden had told her she had a motherly feeling for Hinckel.

Before any more feelings were gone into, Referee Deyo adjourned the proceedings until 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the defense expects to complete its case.

After Judge Jenkins had carefully charged the county court jury in the action of Henry C. Elmendorf against the New York Telephone Company that it must either find a certain sum for the plaintiff's damage or else a verdict of no cause for the defendant, the jurors came into court Saturday with the following verdict which was read by Foreman Abraham Hasbrouck:

"We find that the telephone pole must be moved back to its first location within sixty days or the plaintiff have judgment for $25."

The court sent the jurors back, saying it was not within their province to grant equitable relief, as they had evidently contemplated. A quarter hour later the jury came back, this time to stay, with a $25 verdict which will be trebled under the law. Judge Jenkins took a motion to set aside the verdict under advisement. How the jury had arrived at the removal of the telephone pole was a mystery to the court room. Elmendorf sued for the cutting of branches to an apple tree on his farm in the town of Olive. There have been no olive branches extended in subsequent litigation and it is likely that an appeal be taken in this case if the jury's verdict stands.

PLATTEKILL.

Plattekill, May 29.—The many friends of Miss Ethel Benedict sympathize greatly with her in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Phoebe Benedict, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Powles, at Cornwall-on-Hudson. Mrs. Benedict is survived by four children, Mrs. Walter Powles, of Cornwall, Miss Maud Benedict of Yonkers, Miss Ethel Benedict, a teacher in Plattekill, and Ray Benedict of Leptondale. The funeral was held at Cornwall, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Julian Greenfield, who is ill, is under the care of Dr. M. E. Stephens of Gardiner.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

An Attractive Costume for Misses and Small Women.

The waist is made with overlapped vest portions, and is mounted on a fitted body lining. The outer sections have deep armscyes and are finished with a revers collar. The sleeve is set in at the armscye of the lining, and may be made with a deep pointed cuff in wrist length finish, or in short length with a "turnback" cuff. The skirt has plaits at the sides and smart pockets.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. It requires 6 yards of 44 inch material for a 16 year size. The skirt measures 3¾ yards at the foot, with plaits drawn out.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps, by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

AT A SPECIAL TERM OF THE Supreme court of the state of New York, held at the court house in the city of Kingston on the sixth day of May, 1916.

Present: Hon. Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck, justice.

Supreme Court, Ulster County.—In the matter of the application of Matthews & Harrison for authority to change its name to F. B. Matthews & Co., Inc.

Upon reading and filing the petition of Matthews & Harrison, a domestic stock corporation, duly verified by Frank B. Matthews, its president, on April 3, 1916, wherein said petitioner prays for an order authorizing it to assume another corporate name, to-wit, the name of F. B. Matthews & Co., Inc., and upon filing the certificate of the secretary of state, dated March 27, 1916, annexed thereto, certifying that the name which such corporation proposes to assume is not the name of any other domestic corporation or a name which he deems so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive, upon filing proof that a copy of the petition herein and of the notice of motion were duly filed with the secretary of state as shown by the certificate of said secretary of state dated April 6, 1916, and upon filing due proof by affidavits showing that notice of the presentation of said petition has been duly published once in each week for three successive weeks in the Kingston Daily Leader, a newspaper of the county of Ulster in which county such corporation has its principal business office, and the court being satisfied by the said petition and by the affidavits and certificates presented therewith that the petition is true and that there is no reasonable objection to the change of name proposed and that the petition has been duly authorized and that notice of presentation of the petition as required by law has been made.

Now, on motion of James A. Betts, attorney for the said petitioner, no one opposing, it is Ordered, that said petition be and the same hereby is granted and that the petitioner herein, Matthews & Harrison, be and it hereby is authorized to assume another corporate name, to-wit, the name F. B. Matthews & Co., Inc., on and after the tenth day of June, 1916, and it is further ordered and directed that this order be entered and the papers on which it is granted be filed within ten days from the date hereof in the office of the clerk of Ulster county, the county in which the certificate of incorporation of said corporation is filed and that a certified copy of this order within ten days after the entry thereof be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and further, that a copy of this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper in the county of Ulster, beginning within ten days after the entry hereof.

G. D. B. HASBROUCK,
Justice Supreme Court.

JAMES A. BETTS,
Attorney for Petitioner,

Kingston, N. Y.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS—STATE of New York.—Office of the state commission of highways, Albany, N. Y.—Pursuant to the provisions of chapter 30, laws of 1909, as amended by chapter 646, laws of 1911 and chapter 80, laws of 1913, sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned at their office, No. 55 Lancaster St., Albany, N. Y., at one o'clock p. m. on Monday, the 5th day of June, 1916, for the improvement of the following highways:

ULSTER COUNTY.

Road No.	Name.	Approx. Length.
5601	Saugerties Village.	1.86
5599 A	Kingston-Port Ewen (Bridge Abutments)

Maps, plans, specifications and estimates may be seen and proposal forms obtained at the office of the commission in Albany, N. Y., and also at the office of Division Engineer B. H. Wait, Columbus Institute, 11 Washington St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The especial attention of bidders is called to "General Information For Bidders" in the itemized proposal, specifications and contract agreement.

Proposals for each road or contract must be presented in a separate sealed envelope, endorsed on the outside with the name and number of the road or contract for which the proposal is made. Each proposal must be accompanied by cash or a certified check payable to the order of the state commission of highways for an amount equal to at least five per cent of the amount of the proposal which such cash or check accompanies.

This cash or check will be held by the commission until the contract and bond are duly executed.

The successful bidder will be required to give a performance bond for fifty per cent of the contract, and a maintenance bond covering the wearing surface of all roads, except waterbound macadam and cement concrete pavements for twenty per cent of the contract price of the items which comprise the wearing surface, such bonds to be executed by a surety company to be approved by the commission, or a bond secured by the deposit of collateral securities to be approved by the commission.

EDWIN DUFFEY,
Commissioner.

I. J. MORRIS,
Secretary.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 29, 1916.

Whether the arbiters of aestheticism in the county legislature have accurately reflected public sentiment in the matter of arboreal abbreviation in the vicinity of public buildings is very much to be doubted. The cutting down of a fine old tree in order to extend a concrete sidewalk might have been done some years ago without comment or criticism being aroused. Nowadays it is different. The beauties of shade trees have been recognized by the public as assets to our streets, not to be cut down with impunity, axes or anything else. It is not sickly sentimentality but sensible feeling which inspires the protection of foliage trees within the city limits, where there are too few maples and elms at the present time and too many of the more rapidly growing, but far less desirable, cottonwoods and trees of a similar nature. It would be far better if the authorities investigated first and cut afterward. The magnificent maple which adorns the court house yard is destined for early destruction, judging from the large hole at its base where decay is slowly eating its way. Some tree surgery in such cases in lieu of such destructive demonstrations as that of Friday would be far more useful in preserving the acknowledged beauties of the scenery within or without the limits of the Colonial City.

Daylight saving is meeting with all of the approbation and the usual amount of criticism that the average fad receives at the outset, nevertheless, there is really too much of value in the suggestion to dismiss it offhand. Setting the clock's hands ahead an hour seems at first almost as revolutionary as changing to the metric system or shifting the thermometer scale from Fahrenheit to centigrade. Second thought shows the idea to be merely a scientific variation of the old nursery ditty, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." No matter whether one agrees with this theory the prospect of getting one's daily labor done and out of the way a full hour earlier than usual on these delightful, summery days certainly appeals. We are unable to dismiss the daylight savings plan so summarily as does the Naval Observatory at Washington, which is quoted as proclaiming it a "flim-flam" on the worker in that it starts him a full hour earlier than usual and leaves him at the end of the day with a similar period of time on his hands. It is easy to understand the viewpoint of the Federal employe on the question of time, which is something that usually hangs heavy on his hands. An extra hour to kill, even for entertainment, is nothing to some of these ornaments to the government service to whom time is an enemy not protected by the rules of civilized warfare. Whether Washington likes it or not there are some decidedly attractive features attached to daylight extension which are likely to procure a fair trial for the scheme all over the country within the next few years. But why cannot we get up earlier without falsifying the timepieces?

John A. Hennessy's name is not on everybody's tongue as it was once, but people have not forgotten him, and if he accomplished no other useful act during his lifetime he will bear the distinction of being responsible for the prosecution, both criminal and civil, against grafting contractors, and of having accomplished results. After pending three years, a suit brought by the State of New York against state road contractors in Warren county has resulted in favor of the state, which recovered a verdict of over $14,000. At the close of the trial the jury informed the court they were ready to award the verdict asked for without leaving their seats, but were advised they should retire and consider the evidence. They returned four minutes later with their verdict. This is the third of the so-called Hennessy cases to be tried, each of the others, which were against state road contractors, also resulting in verdicts in favor of the State. Testimony was given in the Warren county case that only one and one-half inches of bituminous macadam was laid instead of the three inches called for, and that while the road should have been constructed of hard crushed stone not larger than two and a quarter inches, stone as large as six by five inches was used throughout the resurfacing, the ordinary red sandstone found in the neighborhood being used instead of hard rock. Prosecution of any sort is not a pleasant task but it is a duty and the official who conducts it honestly and conscientiously bears the respect of the community. Any official who lives up to his oath of office while discharging his duties wins out in the long run, but some officials are not far-sighted enough to see it. Temporary blackguardism against an honest and capable official never stands the test of time but always creates a suspicion that the blackguard has some ulterior purpose, which in fact is often proved afterward, if not apparent at the time.

The Seventh.

Representative Barthold of Missouri tells the story of an old man with a soft daft look, who sat on a park bench in the sun, with rod and line, as if he were fishing, but the line with a worm on the hook, dangled over a bed of bright primroses.

Then with a gentle smile, the passerby approached the old man and said:

"What are you doing, uncle?"

"Fishing, sir," answered the old man solemnly.

"Fishing, eh? Well, uncle, come and have a drink."

The old man shouldered his rod and followed the kindly stranger to the corner saloon. There he regaled himself with a large glass of dark beer and a good five-cent cigar. His host, contemplating him in a friendly, protecting way, as he sipped and smoked, said:

"So you were fishing, uncle? And how many have you caught this morning?"

The old man blew a smoke cloud toward the ceiling. Then after a pause he said:

MEMORIAL DAY

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

IN war or peace, Memorial Day commemorates the heroic valor of the men of this nation. Whatever men may do hereafter in the cause of humanity and in the sacred name of patriotism, each recurrence of this day should be an occasion for a backward look at past heroisms and a forward look at future consecrations.

In the meanwhile, we are here, doing our accustomed work; living our daily lives; the things we have to do, here and now, may be all of the service we shall be called upon to render. Our first duty is to do the things assigned to us as well as we can.

That's why we are trying to do our business of selling Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. It may seem a little prosaic, and lacking in heroic elements; but sometimes the finest thing a man can do, is to do the commonplace, prosaic thing with a high spirit.

MEMORIAL DAY AT SAWKILL.

Community Shows Creditable Pride in its Church.

At St. Ann's Church, Sawkill, there will be mass on Decoration Day at 9 a. m., whereby all the deceased who lie buried in St. Ann's cemetery shall be remembered.

A grand farmers' dance will be held in St. Ann's Hall Decoration Day night at 8:30. Prizes will be awarded to the lady and gentleman who have the best comic farmers outfit. Ice cream, cake and soft drinks will be served.

The following men of Holy Name Society have given several days' labor free of charge to repairing the walks around the church property and rectory roads, with bluestone gravel, viz: Edward McCaffrey, David O'Brien, Patrick Cavanaugh, Thomas Callahan, John Callahan, John Corkery, David Hanrahan.

The young boys' society has planted maple and pine trees about the church.

POULTRY

Eggs with a richly colored golden yolk, from a market standpoint, are more desirable than the pale-yolked variety. Due to lack of green range feed in the winter, such eggs are not normally laid during cold weather. To produce them, though, is quite a simple matter if you know how. The poultry department of the Iowa State college tells the secret.

Yellow corn with clipped alfalfa or sprouted oats are winter feeds that put the color in the yolk. Stemmy alfalfa will not do, as it is too coarse and contains too much fiber. The alfalfa must be leafy. Alfalfa or clover sweepings from the hay mow make an excellent winter poultry feed. To keep the hens from scratching it about a rack or box may be provided, covered with coarse mesh poultry wire through which the birds may pick the leaves.

The fact that green feeds produce the desirable yellow-yolked eggs is an advantage of only secondary importance. The fact that they furnish food elements not to be had otherwise, and that are very much needed at this season of the year, is of far greater importance. The green feed is a necessary item to stimulate the general health of the fowls, as well as their laying ability, during the winter.

GATHERING UP ALL VERMIN

Trap Shown in Illustration Which Is Part of Perch on Which Birds Roost at Night.

Chickens are very subject to several kinds of vermin, which must be kept down in a measure, or they get so numerous that the birds' peace of mind is so greatly disturbed that it interferes with the bird's egg-laying propensities. A new invention is shown herewith by which it is designed to keep down the numbers of the pest by catching them in a trap, which is combined with the roost on which the birds sleep. The habits of the chicken lice and other pests of this character is to get at the birds while they are roosting, and they attack the birds in such numbers that its health is seriously interfered with. After sucking the bird's blood the insects return to the crevices to be found in the woodwork about the perch, so as to be ready for subsequent visits. The features of the new trap is that it enters into the construction of the perch. There are holes along the length of the perch which make inviting harboring places for the vermin; but when they enter these they are overcome by the fumes of a germicide contained in trays, which are disposed of within the interior of the perch. For convenience in cleaning these trays may be withdrawn from the ends without disturbing the perch.

REMEDY FOR A BUMBLE FOOT

Bumble foot is caused by a bruise. This may come from frozen ground, or from flying down from a height to a hard-surfaced floor. Often roosts are entirely too high, and the force with which the bird strikes the ground injures the foot.

Whenever a bird is seen to be limping, examine the bottom of the foot. If there is pus, make a cross on the sole of the foot, disinfect with any household disinfectant, and apply a soothing ointment. Bandage well, and put the bird in a coop on soft litter.

Fowls Need Plenty of Air.

Do not be afraid to give your birds plenty of air during the cold months. Open the doors and windows wide on sunny days, but be sure to shut them up again before the sun goes down.

Newark's Great Celebration Attracts Enormous Crowds

More Than a Hundred Parades, Conventions, Special Ceremonies, Sport Events, Concerts, Theatricals, Charitable Surveys and School Exhibits In Two Hundred and Fiftieth Birthday Anniversary of New Jersey's Hustling Metropolis.

The cynosure of her sister cities of the entire United States, each of which has been casting an interested and speculative eye upon her, Newark, metropolis of New Jersey, began to celebrate this month her two hundred and fiftieth birthday anniversary. This great celebration of the founding of the city on a site selected by Robert Treat, Quaker, on a trip from Connecticut in 1666, came after a year's preparation and the application of $250,000 to the purpose. The celebration lasts until October.

Since May 1 the city has enjoyed the largest music festival held anywhere in the east in recent years and an industrial exposition of live interest to all who buy or sell. It has had its big parades, opening ceremonies, its founders' day and other attendant exercises.

Beginning on Memorial day and lasting four nights a historic pageant involving the dramatic services of 4,000 performers is to begin. This will be the world's greatest spectacle in 1916. A hundred piece brass band will accompany the great chorus which will sing the music of the pageant. The spectacle will depict the history of the city from the time of its establishment as a hamlet by Robert Treat in 1666 to the present day. Fifty thousand people will see each of the four performances, it is expected, in a great open air amphitheater in Weequahic park. The book for the pageant was written by the director, Professor Thomas Wood Stevens, chief of the division of dramatic arts of the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, after a year's intimate study of the city's history. The music was written by the composer, Henry Hadley.

The costumes have been made in large part at Pageant House, Newark, from designs of experts by the women of the city who have volunteered their services. One of the interesting features of the most impressive pageant ever undertaken in America has been the public spirited work of Newark's talented women. The costumes portray not only periods, but industries, arts, sciences and events.

The pageant will be given at night by means of special and wonderful new lighting effects. Subdued colors are to be obtained by emitting from pipes, set where the footlights usually are, a series of jets of steam, so that the fairy-like dances will be viewed through a curtain of vapor, giving a softening effect.

Women Take Active Part.

Miss Mary Porter Beegle of Barnard college, barefoot dancer, is head of the dancing of the Newark pageant. While other women have been busy with the needle, paints and dyestuffs at Pageant House, Newark, or consulting art books for costume designs in John Cotton Dana's public library, Miss Beegle has visited some of Newark's 1,200 factories and discussed with artisans how electrical, ceramic and jewelry industries may best be visualized. She has insisted that its great civic benefit lay in its very making.

The active work of preparation for the great pageantry event has been in charge of a highly efficient committee headed by Dr. A. G. Vogt, general chairman. The musical preparations for this event have been under the guidance of Miss Frances Hays and A. L. Dennis. Mrs. F. C. Jacobson, chairman of the committee on costumes, has been in charge of Pageant House. Other active heads of the committee are H. A. Guenther, cast; F. W. Cann, stage settings; Dr. William Dimond, properties; J. Victor D'Aloia, dancing; Dr. A. R. Bianchi, organization; Patrick C. O'Brien, lighting. The pageant secretary at headquarters is Miss Sophie Wilds, who directs details with executive intelligence and zeal. All these and many others have joined hands with paid and unpaid experts to make the Newark pageant a worthy feature of such a celebration as Newark is to have.

Newark is also spending large sums of money on athletic contests of national importance and scores of other events. The city and her estimated million of visitors will enjoy more than a hundred parades, conventions, special ceremonies, sports, concerts, theatricals, church mass meetings, military exercises, charitable surveys and school exhibits.

In addition to the $250,000 being expended on civic events, the city is to spend $1,500,000 for a splendid memorial building to commemorate the epoch. With amounts to be spent for monuments and statues, special private decorations and for entertainment of a semi-public and private nature, and money to be expended by visitors, it is estimated that Newark's great birthday party will involve an ultimate outlay of not less that $4,000,000.

LEADING MEN IN NEWARK'S GREAT TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

On the left, ex-Governor Franklin Murphy, chairman of the Committee of One Hundred, in charge of all the details of the five months' festival; upper right, Henry Wellington Wack, lawyer, author and explorer, who is the executive adviser of the Committee of One Hundred and general manager of the entire celebration. Mr. Wack has full administrative charge of the greatest civic undertaking of this kind in the history of American cities; lower right, Matthias Stratton, ex-fire commissioner of the city of Newark, general secretary of the Committee of One Hundred.

A Drop in Rhetoric.

"I remember," said an official of the East Indian service, "the speech of an Anglo-Indian who was delegated by a certain district to place before the government's notice the horrible slaughter of their stock by tigers. A very noticeable titter could be heard in the audience when the delegate shouted very dramatically:

"'Mr. Chairman, the tiger is the most ferocious animal that prowls and runs at large in India. He creeps from his lurking place at the hour of midnight, when all nature is locked in the arms of Morpheus, and ere the portals of the east are unbound or bright Phoebus rises in his golden majesty whole litters of pigs are destroyed."

Fishing.

"Oh, I just love animals!" cried the enthusiastic girl.

"Perhaps you have noticed that I am a little hoarse," insinuated the young man who had a cold. — New York Times.

Naturally.

GOOD COMPANIONS.

It makes no difference, in looking back five years, how you have been dieted or dressed or lodged, whether you have had gardens or baths, have been carried in a neat equipage or in a ridiculous truck. These things are forgotten quickly and leave no effect. But it counts much whether we have had good companions in that time almost as much as what we have been doing.—Emerson.

AN ESCAPE WINKED AT

By JOHN D. JAMIESON

I have often been asked if in my detective work I had sheered off from the wrong trail when I was about to nab a criminal through sympathy. I never did that, but I once lost a woman whom I had under arrest because I had become convinced that she was innocent. I did not tell her that she might escape, but pretended to trust her. I was sorry afterward that I didn't let her know that I was willing she should go, for I saw her do something to gain her freedom that made my blood curdle.

A cashier of a bank had been convicted of defalcation, had been sent to the penitentiary and by means of steel saws sent him by his wife had cut the bars of a window of his cell. She had also provided him with a rope, on which he had lowered himself to the ground and had then thrown it over the prison wall, she being outside to catch it and secure the end. He then climbed on to the wall, and his wife and three of his friends had held a blanket, into which he had jumped. Then, getting into a carriage, he had been driven away.

The warden was quite sure that the escaped man's wife had secured his freedom, but had no evidence to support the charge. Some time after the escape I was ordered by my chief to go to Albany, where the woman was living, arrest her on a trumped up charge and bring her to Philadelphia, where the crime of which her husband had been convicted was committed. The object was to force her to betray his whereabouts, or, rather, to force him to give himself up to secure his wife's freedom.

I found the lady—she was a lady, and a refined lady, too—living in seclusion. She doubtless surmised what kind of a game was to be played on her, for I saw her face set with resolution. I did not believe anything could be forced out of her. She went with me without making any ado, and I refrained from the indignity of placing handcuffs on her. I took a seat beside her in the train, resolving to make the journey as easy for her as possible.

During the ride to New York she told me one of the most interesting stories of how a man's ruin may be planned to save another that I ever listened to. If the person who laid the scheme had devoted his genius to writing detective stories he might have made a large fortune. The most ingenious part of it was that he fixed on an innocent man so that there was no way that he could prove his innocence without casting an aspersion on his own wife.

Not only did the lady make the different steps in the plot plain to me, but by the artless way she told her story convinced me that she had not invented it and was telling the truth. And when she told me that she and her husband had intended to start for Brazil with her children in a few days to begin life anew under a different name I completely soured on my job.

On reaching New York we took supper together in a restaurant, crossed the river and boarded a train for Philadelphia. Having told me her story, the lady sat silently weeping. Her arrest had spoiled a plan that she and her husband had been working and waiting for for several months. If her story and my faith in its truth had not conquered me her tears would have done so—that is, being convinced of her innocence. After leaving Trenton I told her that I was going into the smoking car.

"Aren't you afraid I'll escape?" she asked.

"I don't see how you can," I replied. "This train doesn't stop till we reach Philadelphia, and before that I'll be back."

I did not intend to return to her till we were in the station at Philadelphia, hoping that she would find a way of giving me the slip there, and thought it possible that the train might pull up on the way and go slow enough for her to jump off.

I smoked several cigars. At one of the towns through which we passed where there were many tracks I noticed that we were running beside a train moving in the same direction as ourselves and on the next track. The two trains were so near together that I could put my hand in at the window of the one beside us. Both trains were going at pretty good speed.

Presently the other train began to pull ahead of mine. I was sitting in the front seat of the smoking car on the side next the other train. Suddenly as the platform of the rear car of the other trains caught and passed the platform of my car I saw my prisoner bend forward, grasp the rail of the platform beside her and step on to the other train. She missed the rail she tried for, and I thought it was all up with her, but she caught the rear rail and succeeded in clambering on to the platform. That's all I saw, for the train she was on passed out of sight.

I thanked heaven that I had been spared sending the poor woman to her death and that she had escaped me. Just before reaching Philadelphia I went into the car where I had left my prisoner and, not finding her, on reaching the hotel at which I put up notified my chief of the woman's escape, telling him exactly how she had effected it.

It is needless to say I was discharged. After some difficulty I found another berth and never regretted what I had done. Many years after the lady's husband was exonerated, and the story just as she told it to me came out in the newspapers.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to removal and disposal of rubbish.

Became a law April 1, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision twenty-five of section eighty-nine of chapter sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to villages, constituting chapter sixty-four of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

25. Disposition of garbage and ashes. May provide for the removal from the buildings in said village and for the disposition of swill, garbage, ashes and rubbish of said buildings, or for the removal and disposition of the swill and garbage alone, or the ashes alone, either directly through the employees of said village or by contracting with other persons, provided, however, that authority shall be first obtained therefor by a proposition adopted at a village election, which proposition shall state the maximum amount to be expended for such purpose or purposes in any one year.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend section one hundred of the insurance law, in relation to investments of domestic life insurance corporations.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. Section one hundred of chapter thirty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to insurance corporations, constituting chapter twenty-eight of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter seven hundred and sixty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven and chapter five hundred and ninety-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 100. Investments. No domestic life insurance corporation, whether incorporated by special act or under a general law, shall invest in or loan upon any shares of stock of any corporation, other than a municipal corporation, nor, excepting government, state or municipal securities, shall it invest in, or loan upon, any bonds or obligations which shall not be secured by adequate collateral security or where more than one-third of the total value of the collateral security therefor shall consist of shares of stock. Every such corporation which on the first day of June, nineteen hundred and six, owned any shares of stock other than public stocks of municipal corporations, whenever the same were acquired, or any bonds or obligations of the kinds above described where said bonds or obligations were acquired after the first day of March, nineteen hundred and six, shall dispose of said shares of stock and of said bonds and obligations within fifteen years from the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and six, and in each year prior to the expiration of said fifteen years shall make such reduction of its holdings of said securities as may be approved in writing by the superintendent of insurance. No investment or loan shall be made by any such life insurance corporation unless the same shall first have been authorized by the board of directors or by a committee thereof charged with the duty of supervising such investment or loan. No such corporation shall subscribe to or participate in any underwriting of the purchase or sale of securities or property, or enter into any transaction for such purchase or sale on account of said corporation jointly with any other person, firm or corporation; nor shall any such corporation enter into any agreement to withhold from sale any of its property, but the disposition of its property shall be at all times within the control of its board of directors. Any such corporation, in addition to other investments allowed by law, may invest any of its funds in any duly authorized bonds or evidences of debt of any government in which such corporation is transacting business, or of any state, or of any city, county, town, village, school district, municipality or other civil division of any state and may loan upon the security of improved unincumbered real property in any state worth fifty per centum more than the amount loaned thereon. Provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed as prohibiting a life insurance company from entering into an agreement for the purpose of protecting the interests of the company in securities lawfully held by it, or for the purpose of reorganization of a corporation which issued securities so held, and from depositing such securities with a committee or depositaries appointed under such agreement; but such agreement and deposit of securities thereunder must first be approved in writing by the superintendent of insurance with a statement of his reason for such approval. Nor shall this section be construed as preventing such company from accepting corporate stock or bonds or other securities, which may be distributed pursuant to any such agreement approved as aforesaid or to any plan of reorganization approved in writing by the superintendent of insurance with a statement of his reason for such approval. But if any securities so received shall consist in whole or in part of stock in any corporation or of bonds or obligations which shall not be secured by adequate collateral security or where more than one-third of the total value of the collateral security therefor shall consist of shares of stock, then any stock and any such bond or obligation so received shall be disposed of within five years from the time of their acquisition or before the expiration of such further period or periods of time as may be fixed in writing for that purpose by the superintendent of insurance.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to provide for returning to the general fund the unexpended balance of certain existing appropriations and to repeal the acts and parts of acts making such appropriations, with respect to the unexpended balances.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The unexpended balances of all existing appropriations made prior to January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, from the general fund and the unexpended balances thereof in the canal maintenance fund, less the amount of liabilities chargeable to such appropriations or fund, and incurred or to be incurred not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, shall revert to the general fund and be available for the payment of moneys appropriated by the legislature during or after the year nineteen hundred and sixteen, except appropriations for construction work, permanent betterments and repairs; and all such appropriations, other than the appropriations for such construction work, betterments and repairs, shall cease to have force or effect, and the various acts therefor in so far as they make such appropriations are repealed, after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, except for the purpose of paying liabilities incurred on or before that date.

CHAP. 127.

AN ACT to amend the stock corporation law, in relation to the inspection of stock books.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. Section thirty-two of chapter sixty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to stock corporations, constituting chapter fifty-nine of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 32. Books to be kept. Every stock corporation shall keep at its office correct books of account of all its business and transactions, and a book to be known as the stock book, containing the names, alphabetically arranged, of all persons who are stockholders of the corporation, showing their places of residence, the number of shares of stock held by them respectively, the time when they respectively became the owners thereof, and the amount paid thereon. The stock book of every such corporation shall be open daily, during at least three business hours, for inspection by any judgment creditor of the corporation; or by any person who shall have been stockholder of record in such corporation for at least six months immediately preceding his demand; or by any person holding stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all its outstanding shares; or by any person thereunto in writing authorized by the holders of stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all of its outstanding shares. Persons so entitled to inspect stock books may make extracts therefrom. No transfer of stock shall be valid as against the corporation, its stockholders and creditors for any purpose except to render the transferee liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent provided for in this chapter, until it shall have been entered in such book as required by this section, by an entry showing from and to whom transferred. The stock book of every such corporation and the books of account of every bank shall be presumptive evidence of the facts therein so stated in favor of the plaintiff, in any action or proceeding against such corporation or any of its officers, directors or stockholders. Every corporation that shall neglect or refuse to keep or cause to be kept such books, or to keep any book open for inspection as herein required, shall forfeit to the people the sum of fifty dollars for every day it shall so neglect or refuse. If any officer or agent of any such corporation shall wilfully neglect or refuse to make any proper entry in such book or books, or shall neglect or refuse to exhibit the same, or to allow them to be inspected and extracts taken therefrom as provided in this section, the corporation and such officer or agent shall each forfeit and pay to the party injured a penalty of fifty dollars for every such neglect or refusal and all damages resulting to him therefrom. It shall be a defense to any action for penalties under this section that the person suing therefor has within two years sold or offered for sale any list of stockholders of such corporation or of any other corporation, or has aided or abetted any person in procuring any stock list for any such purpose. Nothing herein impairs the power of the courts to compel by mandamus or judgment the production for examination by any stockholder of the stock books of a corporation.

§ 2. Section thirty-three of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 33. Stock books of foreign corporations. Every foreign stock corporation having an office for the transaction of business in this state, except moneyed and railroad corporations, shall keep therein a book to be known as a stock book, containing the names, alphabetically arranged, of all persons who are stockholders of the corporation, showing their places of residence, the number of shares of stock held by them respectively, the time when they respectively became the owners thereof, and the amount paid thereon. Such stock book shall be open daily, during business hours, for inspection by any judgment creditor of such corporation; by any officer of this state authorized by law to investigate the affairs of any such corporation; by any person who shall have been stockholder of record in such corporation for at least six months immediately preceding his demand; by any person holding stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all of its outstanding shares; or by any person thereunto in writing authorized by the holders of stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all of its outstanding shares. Persons so entitled to inspect stock books may make extracts therefrom. If any such foreign stock corporation has in this state a transfer agent, whether such agent shall be a corporation or a natural person, such stock book may be deposited in the office of such agent and shall be open to inspect at all times during the usual hours of transacting business, to any stockholder, judgment creditor or officer of the state authorized by law to investigate the affairs of such corporation. For any refusal to allow such book to be inspected, such corporation and the officer or agent so refusing shall each forfeit the sum of fifty dollars to be recovered by the person to whom such refusal was made. It shall be a defense to any action for penalties under this section that the person suing therefor has within two years sold or offered for sale any list of stockholders of such corporation or of any other corporation or has aided or abetted any person in procuring any stock list for any such purpose. Nothing herein impairs the power of the courts to compel by mandamus or judgment the production for examination by any stockholder of the stock books of a corporation.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 129.

AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to the definition of practice of dentistry, the appointment of members of the state board of dental examiners, licenses, correction of books of dental registry and penalties.

Became a law April 5, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. Section one hundred and ninety of chapter forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the public health, constituting chapter forty-five of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 190. Definitions. As used in this article, the terms "university," "regents" and "physicians" have respectively the meanings defined in article eight of this chapter. "Board," where not otherwise limited, means the board of dental examiners of the state of New York. "Registered medical or dental school" means a medical or dental school, college or department of a university, registered by the regents as maintaining a proper educational standard and legally incorporated. "Examiner," where not otherwise qualified, means a member of the board. "State dental society" means the dental society of the state of New York.

Practice of dentistry. A person practices dentistry within the meaning of this article, who holds himself out as being able to diagnose, treat, operate, or prescribe for any disease, pain, injury, deficiency, deformity, or physical condition of the human teeth, alveolar process, gums, or jaws, and who shall either offer or undertake by any means or method to diagnose, treat, operate, or prescribe for any disease, pain, injury, deficiency, deformity, or physical condition of the same.

§ 2. Section one hundred and ninety-five of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and thirty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 195. 1. State board of dental examiners. The existing state board of dental examiners shall be divided into four classes and their terms of office shall continue except that said terms shall expire on the thirty-first day of July in each year. After July thirty-first, nineteen hundred and ten, the state board of dental examiners shall be increased by the addition of a member residing in the ninth judicial district, who shall be appointed in the manner provided by this section, for a term of four years, commencing on the first day of August, nineteen hundred and ten, and who shall be a member of the class whose terms commence on such date. Before the day when the official terms of the members of any of said classes shall expire, the regents shall appoint their successors, to serve for the term of four years from said day. Such appointment shall be made from nominations in number twice the number of the outgoing class made by such society to the regents prior to the second Tuesday in June of each year, or in default of such nominations from the licensed and registered dentists of the state who have been members of the state dental society for not less than ten years prior to the time of the appointment. The regents, in the same manner, shall also fill vacancies in the board that may occur. All nominations and appointments shall be so made that every vacancy in the board shall be filled by a resident of the same judicial district in which the last incumbent of the office resided. The board shall elect at its annual meeting from its members a president and shall hold one or more meetings each year pursuant to call of the regents. No person shall be appointed an examiner unless he shall have received a dental degree from a body lawfully entitled to confer the same, and in good standing at the time of its conferment, and shall have been engaged within the state during not less than five years prior to his appointment in the actual and lawful practice of dentistry. Nor shall any person connected with a dental school as professor, trustee or instructor be eligible to such appointment. Cause being shown before them the regents may remove an examiner from office on proven charges of inefficiency, incompetency, immorality or unprofessional conduct.

2. Secretary of the board. The secretary shall be a licensed dentist who has been in practice in this state for at least five years with a degree of D.D.S. He shall be appointed by the regents, shall hold office during their pleasure, and shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars, payable from moneys received under this article. He shall have such powers and shall perform such duties as are prescribed by the rules of the regents.

§ 3. Section one hundred and ninety-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter seven hundred and eighty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 196. Examinations. The regents shall admit to examination any candidate who shall pay the fee herein prescribed and submit satisfactory evidence, verified by oath if required, that he:

1. Is more than twenty-one years of age;
2. Is of good moral character;
3. Has a preliminary education equivalent to graduation from a four year high school course registered by the regents, or an education accepted by the regents as fully equivalent.
4. Subsequently to receiving such preliminary education either has been graduated in course with a dental degree from a registered dental school, or else, having been graduated in course from a registered medical school with a degree of doctor of medicine, has pursued thereafter a course of special study of dentistry for at least two years in a registered dental school and received therefrom its degree of doctor of dental surgery, or else holds a diploma or license conferring full right to practice dentistry in some other of the United States or in some foreign country and granted by some licensing board, college, school or university registered by the regents as maintaining an educational standard equal to that required of dental colleges of this state, or else has lawfully practiced dentistry for more than twenty-five years without this state and within the United States; but the examination for those who have lawfully practiced for twenty-five years in other states shall be a practical examination only. The regents may also in their discretion on or after June first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, admit conditionally to the examination in anatomy, physiology, chemistry and metallurgy and histology, applicants twenty years of age certified as having studied dentistry not less than two years, including two satisfactory courses in two different calendar years, in a dental school registered as maintaining at the time a satisfactory standard, provided that such applicants meet the second and third requirements of candidates for examination. If a candidate fails on final examination, he may have a second examination without fee; but for every examination subsequent an additional fee of twenty-five dollars shall be required. Any member of the board may inquire of any applicant for examination concerning his qualifications and may take testimony of any one in regard thereto, under oath, which he is hereby empowered to administer.
5. Any dental dispensary or infirmary legally incorporated and registered by the regents, and maintaining a proper standard and equipment may establish for women students a course of study in oral hygiene, all such students upon entrance shall present evidence of attendance of one year in the high school, and may be graduated in one year as dental hygienists, upon complying with the preliminary requirements to examination by the board, which are:

A. A fee of five dollars.
B. Evidence that they are at least twenty years of age and of good moral character.
C. That they have complied with and fulfilled the preliminary and professional requirements and the requirements of the statute.

After having satisfactorily passed such examination they shall be registered and licensed as dental hygienists by the regents under such rules as the regents shall prescribe.

6. Any licensed dentist, public institution or school authorities may employ such licensed and registered dental hygienists. Such dental hygienists may remove lime deposits, accretions and stains from the exposed surfaces of the teeth, but shall not perform any other operation on the teeth or tissues of the mouth. They may operate in the office of any licensed dentist, or in any public institution or in the schools under the general direction or supervision of a licensed dentist, but nothing herein shall be construed as authorizing any dental hygienist performing any operation in the mouth without supervision. The regents may revoke the license of any licensed dentist who shall permit any dental hygienist operating under his supervision to perform any operation other than that permitted under the provisions of this section, and they may also revoke the license of any dental hygienist violating the provisions of this act.

§ 197. Degrees. No degree in dentistry shall be conferred in this state except the degree of doctor of dental surgery. Said degree shall not be conferred upon any one unless he shall after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, have satisfactorily completed a course of at least four years in a registered dental school, and prior to that date a course of at least three years, or having been graduated in course from a registered medical school with the degree of doctor of medicine shall have pursued satisfactorily thereafter a course of special study of dentistry for at least two years in a registered dental school; nor shall said degree be conferred upon any one matriculating after January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, unless prior to matriculation in the institution conferring this professional education, he shall have filed a regents' certificate that he had the minimum education required by the regents; provided, further, however, that the regents may confer upon all persons who shall have received the degree of master of dental surgery under the laws of this state, prior to March twenty-eight, nineteen hundred and one, the degree of doctor of dental surgery in lieu of said master's degree.

§ 198. Licenses. 1. On certification by the board of dental examiners that a candidate has successfully passed its examinations and is competent to practice dentistry, the regents shall issue to him their license so to practice pursuant to the rules established by them. On the recommendation of the board, the regents may also, without the examination hereinbefore provided for, issue their license to any applicant therefor who shall furnish proof satisfactory to them that he has been duly graduated from a registered dental school and has been thereafter lawfully and reputably engaged in such practice for six years next preceding his application; or who holds a license to practice dentistry in any other state of the United States granted by a state board of dental examiners, indorsed by the dental society of the state of New York, provided, that in either case his preliminary and professional education shall have been not less than required in this state. Every license so issued shall state on its face the grounds on which it is granted and the applicant may be required to furnish his proof on affidavit.

2. Upon recommendation of the board, the regents may issue a permit to graduate from the dental colleges of this state to be employed in registered dental dispensaries, infirmaries and public institutions while under the direction or supervision of a licensed dentist in the interim between graduation and one year thereafter. This permit may be revoked for cause. No such permit shall be issued except such graduate has definite offer of a position in such dental dispensaries, infirmaries or public institutions.

§ 199. 1. Registration. Every person practicing dentistry in this state and not lawfully registered before April seventeenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, shall register in the office of the clerk of the county where his place of business is located, in a book kept by the clerk for such purpose, his name, age, office and post-office address, date and number of his license to practice dentistry and the date of such registration, which registration he shall be entitled to make only upon showing to the county clerk his license or a duly authenticated copy thereof, and making an affidavit stating name, age, birthplace, the number of his license and the date of its issue; that he is the identical person named in the license; that before receiving the same he complied with all the preliminary requirements of this article and the rules of the regents and board as to the terms and the amount of study and examination; that no money, other than the fees prescribed by this article and said rules, was paid directly or indirectly for such license; and that no fraud, misrepresentation or mistake in a material regard was employed or occurred in order that such license should be conferred. The county clerk shall preserve such affidavit in a bound volume and shall issue to every licentiate duly registering and making such affidavit, a certificate of registration in his county, which shall include a transcript of the registration. Such transcript and the license may be offered as presumptive evidence in all courts of the facts stated therein. The county clerk's fee for taking such registration and affidavit and issuing such certificate, shall be one dollar. Any person who having lawfully registered as aforesaid shall thereafter change his name in any lawful manner shall register the new name with marginal note of the former name; and shall note upon the margin of the former registration the fact of such change and a cross reference to the new registration. A county clerk who knowingly shall make or suffer to be made upon the book of registry of dentists kept in his office any other entry than is provided for in this article shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars to be recovered by the State Dental Society in a suit in any court having jurisdiction.

2. A county clerk having properly issued a certificate of registration to a licensed dentist, shall forward a duly attested copy of the same, and a copy of the affidavit and evidence upon which said certificate was issued, to the secretary of the board within thirty days of such initial registraton of a duly licensed dentist. On or before the first day of May of each year the secretary of the board shall mail to every dentist registered in the state of New York a blank application for re-registration, addressing the same in accordance with the post-office address given at the last previous registration. Upon receipt of such application blank, which shall contain space for the insertion of his name, office and post-office address, date and number of his license, and such other information as the regents deem necessary; and he shall sign and swear to the accuracy of the same before a notary public, after which he shall forward this sworn statement and application for renewal of his registration certificate to the secretary of the board together with the fee of two dollars. Upon receipt of such application and fee, and having verified the accuracy of the same by comparison with the applicant's initial registration statements the secretary of the board shall issue a certificate of registration which shall render the holder thereof a legal practitioner of dentistry for the ensuing year. These certificates of registration shall all bear date of September first of the year of issue, and shall expire on the thirty-first day of August in the year following. Applications for renewal of registration therefore must be made on or before the first day of September of each year, and if not so made an additional fee of one dollar for each thirty days of delay beyond the first day of September and up to the first day of January, shall be added to the regular fee. On the first day of January of each year, or within ten days thereafter, the secretary of the board shall publish and mail to every registered dentist in the state of New York a printed copy of the dental law and a printed list of the legally registered dentists within the state, and each such published list shall contain at the beginning thereof these words: "Each registered dentist receiving this list is requested to report to the secretary of the board the name and addresses of any dentists known to be practicing dentistry, whose names do not appear in this registry. The names of persons giving such information shall not be divulged." Should any dentist continue to practice dentistry beyond the first day of January, despite the fact that his name does not appear in the registry, he shall be counted as an illegal practitioner, and his license may be suspended or revoked by the regents, in accordance with the provisions of section two hundred and one. All practitioners of dentistry already registered in this state at the time of the passage of this act, shall make application to the secretary of the board for the re-registration blank upon receipt of which he shall, in like manner already described, make application for re-registration, forwarding to the secretary of the board the re-registration blank properly filled in and accompanied by the fee of two dollars. Said application and fee must reach the secretary on or before the first day of December following the adoption of this statute; failing which the delinquent shall be dealt with as outlined in section two hundred and one.

§ 200. Examination fees; expenses. Every applicant for license to practice dentistry shall pay a fee of not more than twenty-five dollars. All fees, fines, penalties and other moneys derived from the operation of this article shall be applied by the regents in the payment of all proper expenses incurred by them under its provisions, including the salary and expenses of the secretary of the board, the compensation and expenses of the members of such board, and all other expenses pertaining to the enforcement of the provisions of this article. All expenses of the state dental society incurred by them in the prosecution of illegal practitioners of dentistry shall be paid out of the first year's receipts, upon the indorsement of the auditing committee of the state dental society.

§ 201. Revocation of licenses. 1. If any practitioner of dentistry should fail to register in time for the appearance of his name in the published list of registered dentists, in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-nine the regents shall notify said delinquent to appear before them at an appointed time and place, and if his explanation of his failure to have registered shall be satisfactory to the regents, he may be reinstated and his name added to the registry; and the regents may also at their option remit the additional fees accruing because of delay in registering. But should the delinquent's explanation prove unsatisfactory, the regents may suspend the person from the practice of dentistry for a limited season; or the regents may revoke the person's license.

2. If any practitioner of dentistry be charged under oath before the board, with unprofessional or immoral conduct, or with gross ignorance, or inefficiency in his profession, or with fraud or deceit in procuring admission to practice, the board shall notify him to appear before a committee of three of the board at an appointed time and place, with counsel, if he so desires, to answer said charges, furnishing to him a copy thereof. Upon the report of the board to the regents that the accused has been guilty of unprofessional or immoral conduct, or that he is grossly ignorant or inefficient in his profession, or of fraud or deceit in procuring admission to practice, the regents may, without further hearing, suspend the person so charged from the practice of dentistry for a limited season, or may revoke his license. Upon the revocation of any license, the fact shall be noted upon the records of the regents and the license shall be marked as canceled, of the date of its revocation. Upon presentation of a certificate of such cancellation to the clerk of any county wherein the licentiate may be registered, said clerk shall note the date of the cancellation on the register of dentists and cancel the registration. A conviction of felony shall forfeit a license to practice dentistry, and upon presentation to the regents or a county clerk by any public officer or officer of a dental society of a certified copy of a court of record showing that a practitioner of dentistry has been convicted of felony, that fact shall be noted on the record of license and clerk's register, and the license and registration shall be marked "canceled." Any person who, after conviction of a felony shall practice dentistry in this state, shall be subject to all the penalties prescribed for the unlicensed practice of dentistry, providing that if such conviction be subsequently reversed upon appeal and the accused acquitted or discharged, his license shall become again operative from the date of such acquittal or discharge.

§ 202. Construction of this article. This article shall not be construed to prohibit an unlicensed person from performing merely mechanical work upon inert matter in a dental office or laboratory; or a student in an incorporated dental school or college, registered by the regents, from performing operations for purposes of clinical study under the supervision and instruction of preceptors; or a duly licensed physician from treating diseases of the mouth or performing operations in oral surgery. But nothing in this article shall be construed to permit the performance of independent dental operations by an unlicensed person under cover of the name of a registered practitioner or in his office.

§ 203. Penalties and their collection. A. A person who, in any county of this state, practices dentistry, not being at the time of said practice a dentist licensed to practice as such in this state and registered in the office of the clerk of such county, pursuant to the general laws regulating the practice of dentistry, is guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable upon conviction of a first offense by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, and upon conviction of a subsequent offense by a fine not less than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than two months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any violation of this section by a person theretofore convicted under the then existing laws of this state of practicing dentistry without license or registration, shall be included in the term "a subsequent offense." Every conviction of unlawful practice subsequent to a first conviction thereof shall be a conviction of a second offense. Every practitioner of dentistry must display conspicuously upon the house or in the dental office wherein he practices, his full name. If there are more dental chairs than one in any dental office the name of the practitioner practicing at each chair must be displayed conspicuously on or by said chair in plain sight of the patient. Any person who shall practice dentistry personally or by hiring or procuring another to practice and shall fail so to display or cause to be displayed the name, license and registration certificate of himself and any person practicing or employed to practice as a dentist or dental hygienist in his dental office or any dental office under his control, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable upon a first conviction by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year, and upon every subsequent conviction by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than sixty days, or by both fine and imprisonment. Any person who shall employ, hire, procure, or induce one who is not duly licensed and registered as a dentist to practice dentistry, or shall aid or abet one not so licensed and registered in such practice shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine or not less than fifty dollars or more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than a year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; providing that a person practiced upon by an unlicensed or unregistered dentist shall not be deemed an accomplice, employer, hirer, procurer, inducer, aider, or abettor within the meaning of this section.

B. A person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon every conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than six months, or by both fine and imprisonment, who

1. Shall sell or barter or offer to sell or barter, or, not being lawfully authorized so to do, shall issue or confer or offer to issue or confer any dental degree, license or any diploma or document conferring or purporting to confer any dental degree or license or any certificate or transcript made or purporting to be made pursuant to the laws regulating the license and registration of dentists; or

2. Shall purchase or procure by barter any diploma, certificate or transcript, with intent that the same shall be used as evidence of the qualifications to practice dentistry of any person other than the one upon or to whom it was lawfully conferred or issued or in fraud of the laws regulating such practice; or,

3. Shall use or attempt to use any diploma, certificate or transcript which has been purchased, fraudulently issued, counterfeited or materially altered either as a license or color of license to practice dentistry or in order to procure registration as a dentist; or,

4. Shall practice dentistry under a false or assumed name or under the license of registration of another person of the same name or under the name of a corporation, company, association, parlor or trade name; provided that legally incorporated dental corporations existing and in operation prior to January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, may continue so operating while conforming to the provisions of this act. Their advertising subject to the rules of the regents, and employees of said corporations shall be licensed and registered dentists, and corporations that cease to exist or operate for any reason whatsoever shall not be permitted to resume operation; or,

5. Shall assume the degree of bachelor of dental surgery, doctor of dental surgery, or master of dental surgery, or shall append the letters B.D.S., D.D.S., M.D.S., D.M.D., to his name, or make use of the same or shall prefix to his name the title doctor or any abbreviation thereof, not having and duly conferred upon him by diploma from some college, school or board of examiners legally empowered to confer the same, the right to assume said titles; or shall assume any title or append or prefix any letters to his name with the intent to represent falsely that he has received a medical or dental degree or license; or shall represent that, not having been licensed to practice dentistry under the laws of this state, he is entitled so to practice; provided that any licentiate may use the prefix to his name of "doctor" or "Dr."; or,

6. Shall falsely personate another at any examination held by the regents or by the board, of the preliminary or professional education of candidates for dental students' certificates, dental degrees or licenses, or who shall induce another to make or aid and abet in the making of such false personation, or who shall knowingly avail himself of the benefit of such false personation, or who shall knowingly or negligently make or induce another to make falsely any certificate required by the regents or board in connection with their examinations.

C. Any person who in any affidavit or examination required of an applicant for examination, license or registration under the laws regulating the practice of dentistry, or under the laws, ordinances or regulation governing the regents' examinations of the preliminary education required for a dental student's certificate shall make wilfully a false statement in a material regard shall be guilty of perjury, and punishable upon conviction thereof by imprisonment not exceeding ten years.

D. All courts of specials sessions and police justices sitting as courts of special sessions shall have jurisdiction in the first instance to hear and determine all charges of misdemeanors mentioned in this article committed within their local jurisdiction, and to impose all the penalties provided for such misdemeanors; a judgment that the defendant pay a fine shall also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine be paid, specifying the extent of the imprisonment, which cannot exceed one day for every dollar of the fine imposed; provided, however, that the power of said courts and justices to hear and determine such charges shall be divested, if before the commencement of a trial before such court or justice, a grand jury shall present an indictment against the accused person for the same offense, or if a justice of the supreme court or a county judge of the county shall grant a certificate in the manner provided by law in cases of misdemeanor, that it is reasonable that such charge be prosecuted by indictment. Any misdemeanor mentioned in this article for which a punishment is not specifically imposed shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both fine and imprisonment. All prosecutions under this act shall be by the attorney-general in the name of the people of the state and all fines may be paid to the board or sued for and recovered in the name of the people of the state in an action brought therefor by the attorney-general.

E. All violations of this act when reported to the regents and duly substantiated by affidavits or other satisfactory evidence shall be investigated and if the report is found to be true and the evidence substantiated the regents shall report such violations to the attorney-general and request prompt prosecution. The regents may appoint such inspectors as are necessary to be paid from the funds received under this act at such salaries as they may determine for the purpose of the investigation of such violations.

These are the days when the little birds are cheeping "Come Out in the Garden." But gardening is not all play. The correct implements, however, make for fewer blisters. What about a wheelbarrow, lawn-mower, hedge-trimmer, shovel, spade, trowel, rake, hose, hose-reel, sprinkler, grass-trimmer or a lawn-roller? The Advertising News in The Freeman quotes these very necessary garden tools at a reasonable price. Do you read the ads? Does this talk remind you of the tough cutting last Summer with that antiquated grass-chewer of yours? BUT A LAWN MOWER.

BATTLE OF ALSEN WON BY RED ARMY

The engagement of troops in mimic warfare which took place a few miles below Catskill Sunday morning attracted a large number of spectators from Kingston, Saugerties, Catskill and Hudson. As early as ten o'clock the automobiles began arriving, looking for advantageous positions. Motorcycles dashed up and down, and small boys on bicycles were everywhere.

Nobody knew exactly where the engagement was to take place, so interest centered about the Alsen railroad station where it was known the Blue army would detrain at 11.30.

Captain Best of Hudson was in command of the Red army which consisted of the Catskill and Hudson companies. In the absence of Captain Burnett of Poughkeepsie and Captain Meagher of Kingston, both of whom are away on military duty, the ommand of the Blue army fell to Lieut. Baker of Poughkeepsie.

The Red army was supposed to be holding stores at Post's cider mill, and the Blues were said to have valuable supplies at Alsen's cement works. Each side had received orders to attack and capture the enemy's stores, so that the encounter which took place midway between these points was unexpected by both sides.

The Blues, after detraining at Alsen, started up the state road, a small advance guard well ahead and the main body following.

Captain Cassidy of Catskill had organized a squad of motorcyclists who were scouting well in advance of the other troops. The advance guard of Blues pushing rapidly forward, arrived at the brow of a hill and caught the dismounted cyclists unawares. A lively skirmish resulted in which the men on foot came out victorious, all the cyclists being pronounced dead by the umpires. Among those "killed was Capt. Cassidy himself, which left the victors much elated.

Immediately after this the advance guard of both columns came in contact in the underbrush to the east of the road just below the red schoolhouse. Lively fighting resulted. Bullets (imaginary) flew like hail (equally imaginary) and for the time being the Reds were forced back to cover a splendid natural trench affording protection.

By this time the state road was lined with automobiles observing the engagement. The west side of the road was supposed to be absolutely impassable according to the umpires' orders, so that the battle all took place below the road, although the fighting was sometimes so close to the audience that timid ladies covered up their ears under the rattle of the musketry.

The main body of Reds was closer to the scene of action than the Blue army when their advance guards clashed, so that when a machine gun company of Reds got into position on the road they succeeded in completely wiping out two advance platoons of Company M. The rest of Company M came up to the support, and held up very well against the whole Catskill company but owing to number and positions the umpires ruled them back to retreat.

Now Capt. Best of the Reds saw his opportunity and threw in half the Hudson company on his left and started an enveloping movement. This was beautifully done, in fact could not have been done better by regular troops anywhere.

Strategic position and preponderance of numbers made it untenable for the Blues and they were forced back. The main body of Blues were unable to push up the road owing to the position of the machine gun and a flank fire of the Reds. They were therefor thrown out on the right flank in an endeavor to surround the Reds.

Owing to this over extension, the Reds got in between the Blues and had all the advantage, so the battle was declared over. The winners had of course the advantage of being more familiar with that part of the country though far be it from the writer to detract from their glorious victory.

At a signal from the umpires the bugles sounded recall. Immediately prisoners were released, the wounded recovered, the dead men jumped up, and both armies retired to the camping ground where in no time at all fully 100 camp fires were kindled and dinner was prepared. To the great interest of the spectators, the men did individual cooking. A nearby spring afforded drinking water, bacon sizzled, the smell of coffee filled the air, and friend and foe ate amicably together.

After dinner was over the field cleaned up in true military fashion, the umpires, Capt. Townsend of the U. S. army, and Major Chandler, of the 10th, gave each a short talk explaining their decisions in the battle just ended, and pointing out the mistakes which had been made.

The experiences of the day were educational to the men and enlightening to the onlookers, who followed every move with intense interest. One of the Co. M boys who was in the advance guard, tells of his experience on the battlefield: "We could see the enemy skulking behind bushes and underbrush at the other end of the field. Our platoon was working forward through the long grass near the road into a flanking position. Suddenly a machine gun hidden behind a huge bush began spitting bullets at us. I was killed at once, and five other fellows lay dead all around me. It was an awful thing to lie there in the grass dead and see our brave fellows being driven back. The hardest thing to bear was to have the people in the automobiles yelling at us to shoot. We kept telling them we were dead, but they didn't seem to believe it. It's bad enough to die for a cause without being jeered at."

On Major Chandler's staff was Lieut. Harold B. Evans of Hudson, who acted as aide, and former Capt. Decker of Catskill, who is now battalion quartermaster. Under his efficient direction a wonderfully complete dinner was cooked over the camp fire and served to the major and his staff, Capt. Townsend and a party of visitors from New York and Kingston.

O. G. KIRKPATRICK

HARVARD BOXING CHAMPION MAY ENTER PROFESSIONAL RING.

Cambridge, Mass., May 29.—Harvard may soon be represented in the professional prize ring. O. G. Kirkpatrick, Harvard's strong man in 1914, star football player and heavyweight boxing champion of the university, is considering an offer from John L. Sullivan, to turn professional.

Kirkpatrick made a trip to Sullivan's home at Abingdon, where the former champion proposed that Kirkpatrick put himself under John L.'s management for some three to five months, after which the old gladiator thinks the collegian will be ready to give battle to Frank Moran. With Moran disposed of, Willard would be challenged. Sullivan believes that Willard has but one or two good fights left in him and that Kirkpatrick could handle him when the time came.

Kirkpatrick hails from Texas.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, May 29.—Mrs. Arthur DeGroff and son of Peekskill are visiting her mother, Mrs. John Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coons have been entertaining for several days Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith and children and Miss Flavia Coons of Deposit and Miss Cookingham of Red Hook.

Frank A. Langwith, a student from the Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, N. J., has been appointed to the Reformed Church at Grahamsville for the summer months and will begin services on Sunday, June 4.

Miss Margaret Newkirk of North Main street is spending some days in New York.

John M. Kirby of Washingtonville is spending a few days in town.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Cleary and daughter and husband of Brooklyn have been spending several days in town stopping at the Wayside Inn.

Mrs. H. W. Coons entertained a company of about fifty friends at her home on West Center street Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6, in honor of her sister, Miss Cookingham, of Red Hook. The floral decorations of the home were the white lilacs, pink sweet peas and pansies, which were the favors. Mrs. F. J. Potter and Mrs. W. C. Rose assisted in receiving and the tables were in charge of Mrs. E. E. Count and Mrs. George F. Wilklow. Altogether it proved to be one of the most delightful affairs of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Terwilliger of Center street are spending Memorial Day with Mr. Terwilliger's sister, Mrs. John Marion, and family at Ridgefield Park, N. J.

Miss Horton, representative of the Deaconess Home, New York city, gave a most interesting talk to a large congregation at the M. E. Church Sunday morning. Miss Horton also gave a very interesting talk at the Sunday school following the church service.

The June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Nial Depuy on Main street Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This meeting is called in advance of the regular date in order to secure the presence of Mrs. James Cantine, who is the wife of our pioneer missionary to Arabia, the Rev. James Cantine, D. D. All ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to come and hear Mrs. Cantine speak on the work of the Reformed Church in Arabia.

Mrs. Tinsley and Mrs. Susan McDowell spent Sunday at Ulster Heights.

The Rev. W. H. Moser and family and Miss Bradford and Miss Clark are at Yankee Lake for over Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Duggan and Benjamin Kelly and family spent Sunday at Pine Bush, making the trip by auto.

Ancient Ispahan.

Ispahan, the ancient Persian capital, has had a checkered career. Timour the Tartar took the city in the fourteenth century, and is said to have massacred 70,000 of the inhabitants. It was then a trading town of importance under the caliphs of Bagdad. Three hundred years later it reached the climax of its prosperity under Shah Abbas. As the emporium of the Asiatic world, the merchandise of all nations enriched its bazaars and ambassadors from Europe and the east crowded its court. Then, early in the eighteenth century, followed devastation by the Afghans, the transfer of the government to Teheran and the departure of Ispahan's glory.

This photograph of a highway on the western front shows precautions taken by the French for the safety of travelers in the war zone. The sign "Attention, a Fritz" at the entrance of a Bogan, or trench, warns travelers to take to the Bogan for safety. "Fritz" is the name given to the type of shell which menaces all persons who venture along this road.

CHOOSING UPWARD.

Consider Well Before You Open One of These Doors.

"All the beauty and wonder of life lie in the choice we make and all the tragedy too."

Every moment of our lives some choice confronts us, and we are called upon to use our judgment, our experience, our faith, our self confidence, in making our decision.

Going through life is like traveling down a long corridor which constantly presents closed doors on either side—alternate doors—one of which we must open and pass through, irrevocably. We cannot make use of both doors, nor can we retrace our steps, nor even reconsider our choice, once the latch has been lifted. We must abide by our decision. There are no exchanges. We must do our considering before we choose, not after. And the choice once made, whether for good or ill, for better or worse, we must pay the full price.

This is well expressed by an old Persian proverb. "Take what you will," said the gods to mortals, "but pay for it." This world is like a great balance sheet, and the man has not been born who has found a way to temper with the totals or to get around God. Life holds us inexorably to our accounting and carries out the final reckoning to the uttermost farthing. From the [illegible]

BIG PARADE ON MEMORIAL DAY

Everybody on foot in a democratic demonstration of patriotism and preparedness is the parade program for Memorial Day with the exception of the Grand Army, whose members will ride in automobiles, and the grand marshal and his staff, the only exceptions to this order. Already citizens and business houses are displaying the national colors and a display of Old Glory such as the city has not know in years will be a fitting accompaniment to the unique expression of love and loyalty which will mark the celebration of this occasion in Kingston this year.

Through the generosity of a prominent citizen who asked that his identity be kept a secret, Gartland's military band of 20 pieces has been secured for the parade and will march at the head of the high school section. Announcement of this news was made at the high school auditorium at noon by Superintendent Michael and judging from the enthusiasm displayed there will be a delegation three or four hundred strong from the high school in the procession. The board of education has been asked to march at the head of the school.

Every citizen is urged to give an hour tomorrow to honor the memory of the soldier dead by marching in the citizens' division of the parade. All are urged to meet at West O'Reilly street before 9 o'clock in order to make the civic division representative an up to Kingston quality of patriotic fervor. Flags will be supplied to marchers.

The industrial section gives promise of being up to expectations with a large number of employes of various plants manifesting their intention to take part.

As has been published, the line of march is short, extending from the starting point, the armory, up Broadway to Clinton avenue, thence to Maiden Lane, counter-marching on Broadway, thence to McEntee street, to Wurts street, to Rogers street, to Broadway and thence to the city hall, where the parade will break ranks and the patriotic exercises held.

Invocation ... Rev. Wilbur F. Stowe
Reading of President Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.
Address—Congressman Charles B. Ward of Liberty.
Address—Hon. William E. Thorpe of Catskill.
Benediction.

The six divisions of the parade have already been published as announced by Major George Chandler, grand marshal, and these include every phase of city life, civic industrial, military and other organizations all being represented together with business and professional men whose ranks have been stirred to an unwonted degree by the public interest manifested in the preparedness feature.

In conclusion, the committee in charge whose indefatigable efforts have been so consistently directed toward making a great success of Memorial Day, weather permitting, urges every person in Kingston to turn out and do his or her part in properly honoring the veterans and the occasion instituted in their honor.

Dance at Kingston Point.

On account of Tuesday being a holiday there will be dancing at the Casino, Kingston Point, both afternoon and evening. The music for dancing will be furnished by Steve Miller's three-piece orchestra which will furnish the music during the summer for the regular Wednesday and Saturday night dances.

No Automobiles on Broadway.

Automobiles will not be permitted to park on Broadway and other streets on the line of march during the parade on Tuesday, but must keep in the side streets.

GOELET'S CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED TODAY

This afternoon while Robert W. Goelet, the well known New York millionaire, was on his way to the Kingston City Hospital to see John Ryan, a chauffeur, who was injured in an auto accident near Arkville this morning, as told elsewhere, his chauffeur, Henry Turen, drove the automobile past a trolley car which was discharging passengers on Broadway at Pine Grove avenue. The chauffeur was placed under arrest and later was arraigned before Recorder Lang and fined $5, which was paid.

MAY BE PUNISHED.

Move to Exact Vengeance for Destruction of Tree.

The county officials who cut down the superb elm at the corner of John and Crown streets probably will discover that the destruction of county property is not a joke. The law it seems, provides that all trees growing upon land belonging to the county are its corporate property, and that corporate property cannot be destroyed even by the board of supervisors, and that any official destroying or conniving at its destruction is liable to removal from office, and to be made to pay three times its value. So great is the indignation over this piece of wantonness that it is proposed by some of the residents of the upper part of the city to enforce the law, and it is to be hoped they will do so.

Memorial Sunday at Trinity.

Memorial Day was observed at the Trinity Methodist Church on Sunday. The auditorium was decorated in an attractive and appropriate manner. The pastor, the Rev. P. C. Weyant, preached a sermon that called forth many expressions of appreciation and held the close attention of his congregation. Trinity Church is fast becoming recognized as a church, the pulpit of which is filled from week to week by a strong, forceful preacher, not lacking in ability as an orator; one well deserving of the many words of appreciation. Concerning not alone his ability as a preacher, but as a force in the community life, in the pastorates heretofore served by him. Many of the members who had found the habit of attending but one service on Sunday now find it profitable to attend both morning and evening. There is every indication of a steady growth in interest and attendance.

ACCORD.

Accord, May 29.—Vernon Lawrence, who is employed at Walden, spent several days at Asa Bennett's last week.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCabe, who recently returned home after a stay of several months with Mrs. A. A. Lester, was taken to Dr. Sahler's Sanitarium Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. White have been spending a few days at the Reformed Church parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hartwig of Ellenville were in town Friday.

R. Krom of Beacon, N. Y., spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. M. C. Myers.

While a load of M. Lederman's boarders were driving down the clay hill Saturday, the shaft bolt dropped out, scaring the horse. After a short distance the wagon overturned, throwing everyone out. No one was severely hurt, but the wagon was damaged considerably, two wheels being smashed.

The convention of the Township S. S. Association Sunday was a great success. The attendance was good and the addresses were of a very high order. We only wish that every adult in the town could have been present. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Chester Quick, Accord; vice president, Edwin DeWitt, Samsonville; secretary, Herman Knickel, Accord. Department superintendents were also elected.

The ladies of the M. E. Church will give an entertainment and strawberry social at the hall Wednesday evening, June 7.

WOODLAND.

Woodland, May 29.—Walter Lord has purchased a new Ford touring car.

The Roxmor Inn has opened for the summer and a number of guests have arrived.

Mrs. T. B. Craig and family of Rutherford, N. J., are in their summer cottage at Woodland. Thomas Hommel is their coachman.

George Yerry, contractor and builder for E. B. Miller, has purchased a new Overland touring car. The Ford which he formerly owned he sold to Melvin Finch of Phoenicia.

Mrs. Murray is occupying her residence in Woodland.

Destiny.

Destiny never forsakes the good man as long as he does not forsake himself and ignobly despair of himself. The genius which seemed to have departed from him returns to him again at the right moment, bringing new activity, fortune and joy. Sometimes the genius comes in the shape of a friend, sometimes in that of an unexpected change of times. Sacrifice to this genius, even though you see him not. Hope in back looking, returning fortune, even when you deem her far off. If the left side is sore lay yourself on the right; if the storm has bent your sapling one way bend it the other way until it attains once more the perpendicular medium.—Herder.

MEMORIAL DAY IN KINGSTON

The principal attraction, of course, will be the big preparedness parade which is scheduled for 9:30 o'clock in the morning, to be followed by exercises at the city hall.

At McVey's field on Delaware avenue, the Kingstons will play an Albany team a double header, the first game starting at 2 o'clock.

Kingston Point Park will be open all day and evening.

For those desiring to go out of town the Central Hudson line will run an excursion to Bear Mountain Park on the steamer Newburgh, leaving Rondout at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The Rondout Social Mannerchor and the singing societies of Newburgh and Poughkeepsie will run an excursion to Coney Island on the steamer Sirius, leaving Kingston at 7 o'clock in the morning.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Dance tonight at St. Mary's Hall by the Loyal Friends Aid Society. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Arrangements are completed for the reception and dance to be held this evening at St. Joseph's Hall, under the auspices of the Children of Mary Sodality. The proceeds will be devoted to the renovation of St. Joseph's Church. All who attend are assured of an enjoyable evening. Muller's orchestra will supply music. Refreshments will be served by the young ladies.

Melnik-Betlej.

Michael Melnik and Miss Caroline Betlej, both of East Pierpont street, were married this morning at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Delaware avenue, the Rev. Francis Lesniewski officiating. The ceremonies were very impressive, a nuptial mass being celebrated. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Melnik will reside in New York city. Mr. Melnik was formerly a member of the Russian Church but became a convert to the Roman Catholic faith and on Sunday made a public profession of faith after vespers in the church. The bride has been a member of the choir for several years, and both she and her husband have the well wishes of a host of friends for a long and prosperous married life.

Anson-Recor.

Walter Anson of No. 318 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, and Mrs. Ethel Recor of No. 112 Cedar street were married at Albany on Saturday by the Rev. E. M. Grahn.

Leonard-Straley.

Miss Mary Straley, of No. 214 Hasbrouck avenue, and John Leonard, of East Kingston, were married at St. Peter's Church at 6:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Rev. John P. Neuman. They were attended by Miss Nellie Selfridge and William Tierney.

Bernard-Sahloff.

Miss Bessie Sahloff, daughter of Frederick Sahloff of this city, and Harry Bernard of Walden, formerly of this city, were married at the home of the bride on Third avenue on Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Mr. Moot, pastor of the Ponckhockie Union Church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. James McCausland. After a honeymoon trip to New York and vicinity they will reside in Walden.

Wolfgang-Kaplan.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kaplan on Fair street was the scene on Sunday afternoon, at half after three o'clock of a most charming home wedding, when Miss Rae Kaplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kaplan, became the bride of Louis Wolfgang of New York city. The home was artistically decorated with lilacs, carnations and lilies-of-the-valley. The ceremony, performed by Rabbi Miller, took place under a bower of palms and lilacs, Muller's orchestra playing the customary wedding music and also a fine program of other selections. The bride, who was given away by her father, was elegantly gowned in white taffeta, trimmed wth Georgette crepe, and wore a white picture hat. She carried bride roses. Following the ceremony, an elaborate collation was served, the bridal table being decorated with white carnations and lily-of-the-valley. The great bridal cake was cut by the bride herself, who was the recipient of many beautiful and costly wedding gifts. Both the groom, who is a successful manufacturer in New York city, and the bride, who has made her home for some time in Waterbury, Conn., have a wide circle of friends in this city, who wish them all happiness in their married life. During the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfgang left for Atlantic City, where they will enjoy their honeymoon. Returning they will spend the summer at Arverne, N. Y. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. Wolfgang, Mr. and Mrs. Hayflick of New York city, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Friedman of Waterbury, Conn.

WALKILL.

Wallkill, May 29.—A "Dry America" rally will be held in Wallkill in the Wallkill Reformed Church, Monday night, June 5, at 7:45. It will be addressed by the Rev. Sam Small, one of the leaders in the fight for National Constitutional Prohibition. Admission is free and all are welcome.

The Wallkill Reformed Church festival will be held on the school grounds on June 14. Supper served in the church lecture room. Excellent band music. Strawberries and ice cream. The best yet festival. Come and bring your friends.

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR ARKVILLE

This morning a large touring car running on the state road near Arkville crashed through the roadside fence and shot down an embankment, a fall of about sixty feet, landing under one of the culverts of the Ulster & Delaware railroad. The car was wrecked, and John Ryan, the chauffeur, who lives in New Jersey, was seriously injured. The injured man was brought to Kingston on the down train on the railroad and taken to the Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance. The car was owned by an Englewood, N. J., lawyer named DeWitt, who was on his way to visit Robert W. Goelet of New York at his summer home in Delaware county. What caused the car to leap from the road is not known.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Deputy Sheriff Jacob Huben of Rosendale is in town today.

Miss Tessie McHugh, who spent the past week in the Catskills, has returned to her home on West O'Reilly street.

Mary Wynn of No. 17 Cedar street was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital this afternoon in the ambulance.

Mrs. Elting of Warren street, who has been critically ill for the past few days, was slightly improved this morning.

Miss Anna Brink of New York city is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Nancy DuBois, of No. 19 Oak street, over Decoration Day.

Mr. and Mrs. David Atkins of Schenectady are visiting at the home of Mrs. Atkins's mother, Mrs. Charles Burger, on New street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lebowitz of New York city are the guests of Mrs. Lebowitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mollott, on Crown street.

The many friends of Mrs. C. D. Dodge of Green street, will be delighted to learn that she is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Eisoile of West New York, New Jersey, are visiting Mrs. Nancy DuBois over Decoration Day, at No. 19 Oak street.

Miss Alida Suppies and Miss Retta Smith are spending a few days at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. Edgar Dransfield in Hudson Heights, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gillen and daughter, Dorothy, of Amsterdam, N. Y., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. DuBois at their home on Pine street.

John Mower, stenographer and office assistant of the Canfield Supply Co., has accepted a lucrative position with the Central Hudson Steamboat Co. at Newburgh.

Preston DuBois, formerly employed by the Canfield Supply Company, left town yesterday for Schenectady where he has secured a position with the National Biscuit Company.

Mrs. William J. Stapleton of Chicago and her two children, Master Bobbie and Doris, also father-in-law, William Charles Stapleton, are on an extended visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. Hackett, 55 Van Buren street.

Mrs. W. S. Hawk, who has been under special medical treatment at Middletown, N. Y., has returned to Kingston, having quite recovered. Mrs. Hawk, who has been greatly attracted to Kingston as a place of residence, will make her home here, and as she is a woman of public spirit and interested in the community, her residence here will be of value to the community.

Back to Highland.

Severyn Stokes, who looked upon the lemonade when it was a deep pink on circus day, May 19, is wanted down on the farm in Highland and it is a safe bet that when he gets there all the wild animals in the Barnum and Bailey menagerie will not again attract him to Kingston, at least not without an escort. Severyn has been at "1818" since the big show, Recorder Lang having imposed a sentence of 60 days for intoxication on the man. An appeal was taken from the sentence to Judge Jenkins on Saturday and Stokes's sentence was modified so that he can help out at planting time.

Odd Fellows', Attention.

All Odd Fellows in the city are requested to meet at Kosciusko lodge rooms Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock to take part in the big preparedness parade. Any Odd Fellow, whether a member of a local lodge or not is invited to participate in the parade and meet at the lodge rooms.

Facts About the Deadly Fly

FLIES breed in manure and filth.
Flies carry disease germs on their feet.

When Your Foot Is Asleep.

After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and pricking are often felt in the arm, leg or foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise. The reason of the sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable while it lasts, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed, as straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled underneath the body, sensibility gradually returns to the nerve, and as each nerve fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a pricking sensation is felt, and these successive prickings from the successive awakenings of the numerous fibers have not inaptly been called "pins and needles."

Big and Little Bibles.

There are no fewer than 110 different editions of the Oxford Bible in English, varying from the magnificent folio edition for pulpit purposes to the "brilliant" Bible, the smallest edition of the Scriptures in the world. Of the revised version fourteen editions are published. More than a million copies of the revised New Testament had been ordered before the day of publication in May of 1881, and it is claimed that the workingmen of the establishment refused a bribe of some £4,000 to furnish a copy of the book before the day of issue. The largest folio Bible printed in Oxford measures 19 by 12 inches, and no erratum has as yet been found in it. The "Brilliant Text Bible" measures 3¾ by 2⅛ inches and is three-quarters of an inch thick and bound weighs less than three ounces.—Exchange.

Hops as a Vegetable.

Of hops for the brewing vat we hear a good deal, but what of hops as a vegetable? The Romans ate them, and the Germans, at least the Bavarians, do so, while our own old fashioned country folk can relish a dish of "hop tops." Here is the recipe: Take only the very young shoots, which boil. Serve either with melted butter and a little gravy or with the plain salad dressing composed of oil, vinegar, pepper and salt. There you have a wholesome dish such as was not disdained by the epicures of ancient Rome.—London Chronicle.

Bad Enough.

"I think that society editor is a mean, horrid old thing, so there!" exclaimed wifie, looking up from the morning paper.

"What's the matter?" asked her husband, with a grin. "Did he take you at your word and leave your name out of the paper?"

"No," replied wifie; "it isn't quite so bad as that, but he went and got the description of my gown all wrong."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Horseshoeing In Chile.

Methods of horseshoeing in Chile are still primitive, the tools used being simple and few, consisting usually of a hammer, a rasp, a pair of pinchers, a crude knife and an anvil. There is no need of fire, for the workman beats the shoe into shape cold.

Lawyers and Advice.

"Lawyers must be men of wonderful self control."

"Why so?"

JAPANESE DELEGATE TO WOMEN'S CLUBS CONVENTION BELIEVES U. S. WILL BRING ABOUT WORLD PEACE.

New York, May 29.—"The peace of the world will finally be brought about by the United States," says Miss Nichi Kawai, the only Japanese delegate to the 13th biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, now in session here.

Miss Kawai hails from the Philippine Islands, where she has spent some time in working among the lepers and day nurseries in Manila. She has made a report of this work before the convention.

Two Views of a Treaty.

The treaty of Ghent, which ended the war of 1812, as signed on the 28th of December, 1814, was variously regarded. Henry Clay, one of the signers, thought it "a —— bad treaty" and did not hesitate to say so. In certain high quarters in England, on the other hand, it was looked upon as a great opportunity thrown away.

"An able minister would have continued the war," Lieutenant General Sir Charles Napier declared, "until the northern states withdrew from the Union, making a separate treaty with England, after which England could have raised the negroes of the south, marched to Washington at the head of an immense force of armed and disciplined black regiments and dictated peace, making Delaware an independent black state in alliance with England." So much depends upon the point of view.—From "Our Nation In the Building," by Helen Nicolay, in Century Magazine.

Tricks of the Trade.

When the little blond stenographer visited her friend, the tall brunette bookkeeper, the other day she found the latter busy with a lot of envelopes and some paste.

"Why don't you get good envelopes so they'll stick?" she asked.

"These did stick once," the brunette confided, "but I'm fixing them again."

"What's the idea?"

"Whenever people come into the office for my boss he likes to make them think he is rushed to death."

"Uh huh!"

"So you see I am fixing up these old letters. He will make a great fuss opening them when a customer calls. He does that so much we have a hard time keeping a supply of letters to stick up."—Exchange.

Different Conditions.

Schoolteacher—I'm sorry to say, Mr. Jones, that your boy is very backward in his studies. Jones—That's strange. At home in conversation with me he seems to know it all.—Boston Transcript.

The Kick Subtle.

A man who lives in Savannah and owns a plantation in Chatham county, Ga., bought a mule with a reputation for owning a set of gifted and hair triggered hind legs and shipped her out to his place to be used in plowing for cotton.

A Sunday or so later he visited the plantation. The darky whose particular job it was to care for the working stock came limping up to him to report.

"Jim," asked the owner of the plantation, "does that new mule kick much?"

Restraints of Poverty.

A negro with a bad cut in his head came to a doctor. The doctor fixed him up, and as the man was about to depart the physician said: "That's a pretty bad cut in your head, Henry. Why don't you profit by this lesson and keep out of bad company in the future?"

"Well, I should like to, doctor," replied Henry sadly, "but, you see, I ain't got no money to get er divorce."

RUSSIAN SOUP KITCHEN © INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE

FEEDING ARMIES UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

One of the greatest difficulties in the great European war has been the distributions of the food supply. The travelling soup kitchen has solved the problem to a certain extent and each of the belligerent nations is plentifully supplied with the "boilers."

The accompanying photograph shows the latest style Russian soup kitchen, which was taken to France with the Russian troops who landed at Marseilles more than a month ago.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT KINGSTON POINT

Memorial services for the sailor dead were held Sunday afternoon at Kingston Point with more than 500 people in attendance to witness the exercises which were more than usually impressive. Flowers were strewn on the water by the speakers and various organizations represented, including the Sunday school of Ponckhockie Union Church.

Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., gave an eloquent tribute to the memory of the soldier and sailor dead, citing their patriotism as active rather than passive in its expressions and an existing force today in the inspiration that it had proved for the present generation.

The Rev. A. H. Haynes declared that Mason and Dixon's line had been obliterated and styled the sailors as brave as the soldiers and as important in their achievements for the united nation in the struggle of the sixties.

Major Everett spoke briefly and confined his remarks to the observance of the occasion in which, he stated, he was personally glad to see so many persons manifest interest.

Chaplain Drake referred to the rivers and their tributaries flowing to the sea, citing Rondout creek among others, the simile being used to show the flood of patriotism pouring to the defense of the country whenever occasion made necessary.

The Rev. F. W. Moot of Ponckhockie Union Church delivered the address of the afternoon, laying stress upon the perpetual influence of the sailor-soldiers who so ably defended this nation with their lives and made possible the United States as it exists today. In conclusion of the speeches, each speaker added his bouquet to the stream and the pretty ceremony was carried out most impressively by the Sunday school children. "America" was sung in conclusion.

The sole drawback was the purloining of the flowers floating on the river by some young people in boats, this form of vandalism being criticised by spectators but without effect.

In the evening memorial services at the Ponckhockie Union Church were largely attended. The Rev. F. W. Moot preached an appropriate sermon, his subject being, "The Art of Peace." The speaker, among other points, declared that the master minds of the world which were now devoted to war and the perfecting of engines of destruction would eventually be turned to the school of the Art of Peace in which the world will learn that war is a relic of savagery.

Sixty Days in Jail.

John Ellsworth of Hurley was brought to jail today to serve 60 days, he having been sentenced by Judge Lockwood for petit larceny.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Ellen Dunn, daughter of Ellen and the late Patrick Dunn, formerly of Fish Creek, died in New York, Friday. Deceased was 12 years of age. The body was taken to Saugerties for burial in St. Mary's Cemetery on the 11:30 W. S. R. R. train Sunday morning.

Amalia Simon, sister of William and Herman Simon, died at her home Sunday evening, aged 71 years. She was born in Enkirch ad Mosel, Germany, and lived in this city 39 years. She leaves two brothers, William and Herman Simon, and a niece, Mrs. Joseph Salinger, of Shelbyville, Kentucky. Funeral will be held from her late home, 96 McEntee street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Interment in Montrepose cemetery.

Dennis Dunn, for several years dock master for James T. Maxwell, the bluestone dealer, died Sunday night at his home on Partition street, Saugerties. He is survived by a widow and several children. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Wednesday morning. Esopus Tribe, I. O. Red Men, of which he was a member, will attend and the burial services of the order will be used. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Katherine Kolts died Sunday evening at her home No. 44 Foxhall avenue, after long illness. She is survived by her husband Frank, and leaves one son, George, and three daughters, Mrs. Mary Flick, Mrs. Henry Genskie, Mrs. J. E. Kiersted, all of this city. Mrs. Kolts has a host of friends who will deeply mourn her loss. Funeral will be held Wednesday morning from her late home, 44 Foxhall avenue, at 9, and at 9:30 from St. Peters Church.

The funeral of the Rev. John J. Boyle, late rector of St. Luke's Church, New York city, was held this afternoon. A number of the Catholic clergy of the city and a delegation of laymen met the cortege at the Rhinebeck ferry and accompanied the remains to St. Mary's Cemetery, where committal services were conducted by the Rev. John J. Hickey. A large number of parishioners from New York attended the funeral. Father Boyle was born and received his early education in St. Mary's parish. He is survived by one brother.

Mrs. Mary Dickerson Holt, widow of Dr. John V. Holt, and a former resident of this city, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Abrams, in Poughkeepsie, in her 90th year. Deceased was a native of Orange county and from the early seventies up to 1890 had made her home in Kingston, afterward residing in Esopus, Ulster Park and New Paltz. She was a member of the First Reformed Church. She is survived by two sons, William T. Holt, of Port Richmond, Staten Island, and Abner D. Holt, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. A. J. Abrams, of Poughkeepsie. The remains will be brought to Kingston on Wednesday on the train arriving here at 2:25 p. m. for interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Miss Sarah L. Brewer, a well known lady, died at her home on Center street, Ellenville Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock of complication, at the age of about 80 years. Miss Brewer had been a resident of this village many years, having been born in Dutchess county, and coming here from Poughkeepsie. She had with her as a member of her home, Miss Ella Haight, who cared for Miss Brewer in the most loving and true way. No daughter could have done more for her. Surviving are two sisters and a niece. Miss Anna Brewer, who arrived on Sunday to attend to the burial of her aunt. The funeral will be held from the home Tuesday evening in charge of Rev. H. P. Hobson, D. D., of St. John's Church of which deceased was a member, and the body will be taken by Undertaker Ostrander to Poughkeepsie on Wednesday for burial.

Rachel Bell, widow of Daniel Coddington, died at her home at High Falls, N. Y., on Wednesday, May 24, after a short illness. The deceased was 87 years of age. She is survived by three sons, Jesse of Tarrytown, James of Peekskill and Lorin of High Falls, three daughters, Mrs. Sarah Paulmier of Yonkers, N. Y., Mrs. Martha Sheeley and Mrs. Lambert Brodhead of High Falls, and one brother, DuBois Bell of Sayre, Pa., also 24 grandchildren, 36 great grandchildren, and six great, great grandchildren. She was born in the town of Rochester, N. Y. A large part of her life was spent at the Coddington homestead at High Falls, which is now occupied by the youngest son, Lorin. Besides all of her children, a large number of her grandchildren attended the funeral. The casket was covered with carnations, roses, lilies and a large wreath, a loving tribute of her grandchildren, also other floral offerings of friends. Although she lived to nearly four-score years and ten, her cheerful, youthful disposition made her dearly beloved by her large circle of grandchildren. The funeral, which was held at the house Friday afternoon at three o'clock, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Dangremond of High Falls. The interment was in the family plot in the Kyserike cemetery. At the services, Mrs. Charles Hutchins sang beautifully, "Peace, Perfect, Peace," and "Asleep in Jesus."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 29.—The attendance on the street and on the floor of the stock exchange today was small, with transactions limited, but there were some wide price movements. Chandler Motor was in brisk demand, advancing 2½ points to 104½, with buyers talking about dividend probability. Reading advanced to 100⅜ and then lost its gain. The copper stocks shaded off under small sales, Anaconda yielding ⅝ to 83¾, and other copper issues showing small fractional losses, because of the lower price of the metal. Mexican Petroleum declined 1⅛ to 108⅜. Willys-Overland advanced six points to 276 on three transactions and Steel Common was unchanged at 85.

Although trading was of a holiday character, many stocks showed a strong tone in the late forenoon, and price movements were generally toward higher levels. Chandler Motor continued its upward movement, selling at 106½, a gain of 4½ points in all and a new high record. This was followed by a quick reaction to 104½, from which it rose to above 105. Lehigh Valley advanced 1¾ to 82⅞, Reading a point to 101⅜, Canadian Pacific to 177⅞, and fractional advances were made in many of the other railway issues. Studebaker rose to 139¼. Baldwin to 88⅞, and Mexican Petroleum to 108⅝. Steel Common sold at 85⅛. Money loaning at 2½ per cent.

The final tone was strong. Stocks were in urgent demand in the late trading, with nearly all the important issues joining in the upward movement. Lehigh Valley was the strongest feature advancing to 83½ and Reading, St. Paul and Union Pacific made substantial gains. Steel Common was also active and strong, advancing ¾ to 85¾ and many of the specialties, including Studebaker, Lee Tire and Butte and Superior moved up over a point. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

One Woman's Way.

A West Philadelphia woman is still smarting over the "compliment" that a guest paid her when she was hostess at an entertainment a week ago. The West Philadelphia woman, whose name is not Brown, prides herself especially on her coffee, and she made some of her best for this occasion.

Among the guests was a woman who makes it a practice always to compliment persons with whom she comes in contact. She says it makes others feel pleasant and doesn't hurt her. During the refreshments this guest turned to the woman whose name is not Brown and said:

"Your tea is so delicious! May I have another cup?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Moss Troopers.

Moss troopers was the name given to the desperate plunderers and robbers who secreted themselves throughout the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in the "mosses" on the borders of Scotland. These outlaws were largely made up of deserters and criminals from the armies of England and the continent, and their depredations and cruelties were the terror of the region infested by them. Many severe laws were passed against them, but they were not fairly extirpated until the eighteenth century.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Mrs. S. J. Horwitz and sister Minnie, who have been visiting Mrs. E. Mecker at 24 Lavan street, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

A coffee social will be held in St. Peter's school hall on Thursday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock. All ladies of the parish and friends are invited.

The members of Wiltwyck Hose Company, who are going to take part in the big Memorial Day parade, will meet at the rooms of the company on Fair street at 8:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

GLASCO.

Glasco, May 29.—The funeral of Capt. William Morgan was held at the M. E. Church, of which he was a member, on Sunday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Nicholas Hess, assisted by the Rev. H. I. Hoag, of Saugerties. "Captain Bill," as he was familiarly called, had a large circle of acquaintances and friends, besides relatives, which drew a large attendance. By his dying request the entire congregation arose and joined in the singing of "Jesus Lover of My Soul." After an appropriate address by each of the pastors, the choir sang "Come Ye Disconsolate." Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties.

The funeral of Floyd Ebel, the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ebel, was held at their home on Friday afternoon. A very touching and beautiful tribute to the memory of the litle lad, was the attendance of his school mates from the public school, who contributed an unusually large and beautiful floral display.

The Knickerbocker Ice Company commenced last week loading barges from their ice house at the landing, which is a favorable indication that there may be something doing next winter in the way of refilling.

Mrs. Raymond Ten Broeck will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society at her home on Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being their regular weekly meeting.

One of our well known lady chauffers alighted from her car at Fuller's Corner the other day, leaving the engine running, while she stepped inside. In a few seconds the car, without an occupant, started forward in the direction of a big telephone pole at the roadside. It failed to climb the pole because an irresistible force coming in contact with an immovable body, checked its further progress by the sudden and violent impact. No apparent damage resulted, however, and the lady quickly resumed her seat at the wheel and was soon lost to sight in a cloud of dust.

The Rev. Nicholas Hess preached upon the subject of "Peace" on Sunday evening. It goes without saying that the domine is a pacifist. The only kind of preparedness that he advocates is on the spiritual side.

Mrs. Hoyt Weeks, Jr., has been quite seriously ill for the past week.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, May 29.—Sally Tock Inn opened May 29. People passing through the village will find here an up-to-date tea room.

Rev. Chauncey Stevens and family came Friday. Mr. Stevens expects to occupy the Reformed parsonage as soon as his furniture arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Elmendorf, Wallace Beatty and Miss Elizabeth Elmendorf spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Elmendorf.

Mrs. Dennis Beatty of Kingston has been spending a few days in this village.

The supper held in the Reformed Church on Friday evening was a great success. Receipts about $26.

Grange meeting in the new hall Friday evening, June 2. A number of new members will receive the first and second degrees. The Grange wishes to talk over the subject of the dedication of the hall. The dedication exercises will be free to all. The members are hoping to hold these exercises on June 8. Some good speakers will be present and all those who attend will be assured of a pleasant afternoon. Notice of the time, etc., will appear in this paper.

KYSERIKE.

Kyserike, May 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Van Wagenen are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a young son on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Henry Ahrens of Ellenville spent the past week with her daughter at Fred D. Oakley's.

Miss Maude Oakley and Miss Mildred Green spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Abner Oakley at Wawarsing.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner S. Osterhoudt have been entertaining friends from Walden.

Mrs. L. J. Haines, Mrs. Ollie Davis and Mrs. Edward Hardenburgh enjoyed an auto ride on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Maria Westbrook, Mrs. Vina Westbrook and son, Thomas, Roy Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davis and family and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiana motored to Ellenville on Sunday and were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Enkler.

The Kripplebush school will close June 2. The pupils have progressed fine under the management of Miss Mathilda Enkler. Miss Enkler expects to attend Oneonta Normal the coming year.

Claude Christiana and Miss Viola M. Davis were married at Accord, N. Y., on May 20, by the Rev. H. Heroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiana and Mrs. Marvin Davis and daughter, Dorothy, were in Kingston on Thursday.

Mrs. James H. Christiana has returned home after spending some time at Ellenville and Accord.

In a decision handed down in Utica today by Supreme Court Justice Davendorf, Miss Isabel W. G. Reed, grand regent of Utica Court, No. 1, Daughters of Isabella, who was expelled from the order by the national officers for alleged insubordination, is ordered reinstated. The court's decision marks the culmination of one phase of bitter controversy and litigation that have been waged between the national officers of the Daughters of Isabella and subordinate bodies of the organization of several states for months and that have already resulted in defections from the national order. Today's ruling is considered a sharp rebuke to the national officers and is directed principally against Supreme Regent Genevieve Walsh of New York city, National Secretary M. F. Kelley of Utica, and National Advocate P. H. Fitzgerald, also of Utica who voted to expel Miss Reed.

TRYING TO SMOKE OUT JUSTICE HUGHES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 29.—Insistent demand that he answer two questions prior to the assembling of the Republican national convention began, reached Justice Hughes today. Failure to make his position on them known, he is being assured, by friends and foes alike, must seriously embarrass the men who look upon him as the "Moses who can lead the Republican hosts back into the Promised Land." Up to the present the justice has remained mute on the questions and to all inquiries his secretary returns the single reply:

The two questions, copies of which are reaching the justice by both telegraph and mail indicating concerted action somewhere are.

"If you are nominated as the Republican candidate for president by the Chicago convention will you accept?"

"If you are the nominee of the Republican party will you favor such a degree of preparedness as will place the United States in such position as a world power that it can repel any effort at invasion no matter from what quarter it comes?"

The great question that may interfere with the plans of the men who intend making the justice the nominee of his party is the first one. The second, all feel sure, will be answered by the Republican platform which must be adopted before nominations are made. But as to whether, if nominated, the justice would accept, there is no one here who can speak with authority. Naturally it is generally accepted that no American would refuse a presidential nomination at the hands of one of the great national parties. But that is belief that has never been openly passed on by Justice Hughes and the leaders of the movement to carry the convention for Col Roosevelt and the managers of the campaign of the "allies" are making the most of that fact. Within the last 48 hours many delegates favorable to the Hughes cause have received telegrams calling their attention to the embarrassing position the party would be in should the justice be nominated and then decline to make the race. There is no doubt that these telegrams are making the Hughes advocates uneasy and that they would greatly welcome an expression of intention on the part of their candidate.

There was a growing belief in political circles here today that the plans of the justice will be made public—probably through some intimate friend—before the end of the week. If he will agree to accept his nomination is assured. That is the concensus of opinion among senators and representatives here without regard to their personal feelings. But they say that the longer the announcement is withheld the greater the danger that the friends of Col. Roosevelt will be able to dominate the convention. It is believed that the belief that the Progressives would refuse to accept him may have had something to do with the reticence of the justice. He is believed to have desired a wait until it would be possible to determine whether a third ticket was to be forced into the field before taking any open position on his own candidacy.

Meanwhile the exodus Chicagoward is well under way. Despite the fact that the senate and house plan a full program for the week, a number of the Republican leaders in the two houses already have started for the convention. Others are to follow during the next few days and by the end of the week there will hardly be a quorum available in either house, as a number of the Democratic leaders are getting away to St. Louis to talk platform with the committeemen now assembling there.

Last Post Jubilee Lecture.

The last of the lectures given in the Post Jubilee Lecture Course, will be given on Friday evening of this week, by Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, traveler and author, at the First Reformed Dutch Church. The subject of this lecture will be "A Trip Around the World," and those who have already heard Mrs. Montgomery, say that she is a most entertaining and fascinating speaker. The lectures given in this course have been most remarkable in point of excellence, comparing favorably with the famous Lowell lectures in Boston, or notable lecture courses in New York city, and costing as they have, but a nominal sum, they have been fully appreciated by the entire community. It is a matter of regret with the committee having charge of this lecture course, that the final lectures have had to be given at such a late date. This was in large part due to the fact that the entire course had to be put at an exceptionally late date, because of the evangelistic services held earlier in the season in the uptown churches.

Cake Sale.

The Rondout Presbyterian Church Ladies' Aid Circles, of which Mrs. Frank R. Powley and Mrs. Charles G. Ellis are chairmen, will hold a sale of cakes at the home of Mrs. Frank R. Powley, 49 West Chestnut street, on Friday afternoon, June 2, commencing at 3 o'clock. In addition to these delectable eatables, the young ladies of Mrs. Powley's circle will serve fresh strawberry ice cream on the porch and Mrs. Ellis's circle will have homespun porch pillows and butterfly topped plant sticks for sale.

Midgets Won the Game.

The Kingston High School Midgets defeated the Saugertips High School Midgets Saturday afternoon on Athletic Field by the score of 12 to 8. For Kingston, Miles pitched a spectacular game for five innings with one hit and no runs. Strayley and Gallagher pitched the closing four innings, the former allowing three hits and five runs and the latter one hit and three runs. The home team made 11 hits and the visitors were held down to five hits. The visiting battery was Baker, p.; Levine, c.

EXCITING GAME GOES TO RED SEALS

One of the fastest and most exciting games ever played on the Andrew street grounds was played Sunday afternoon and was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiastic spectators. The game, which went ten innings, ended in the Wilbur Feds quitting the game in the tenth when the Seals began to use their large bats and pounded Cullen for three doubles, a single and a tripple, and were keeping right on going. Stout started the game for the Feds. He was supposed to shut out the Red Seals, but was surprised to learn that five runs were gotten off him in the first. Cullen came to the rescue in the fifth, as something was again to happen. The uptowners led until the ninth, 6-4, when the Feds tied the score. The game was sent to inning ten and the Wilburs sent five more men home, making it 11-6. The Red Seals came to bat in last half of the tenth and here's where the trouble started. Pyers led off with a double. D. Moxham singled, Butler doubled, as did Johnson. Roche tripled and the Feds knowing that victory was about to change hands, decided that they quit the game, insisting that Roche was out on a very close play at third. After arguing for about ten or fifteen minutes, the umpire said he would give his time as five minutes for the Wilburs to take the field, which they refused. At the end of that time the umpire forfeited the game to the Red Seals, 10-0. It might be known that two men were out when Roche hit his tripple and the Feds had the better of winning, as the next batter might have struck out or went out in another way, but were so excited that they would lose threw the game away. The score by innings follows:

R. Seals 5 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 4—10

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

New York, May 29.—On the opening day at the Jamaica track, we lined the rail to watch the finish of the big handicap race, which Sand Marsh, a 15 to 1 shot, won with ease.

As the horses rounded the turn into the stretch, the jockey aboard the horse raced him along to his greatest speed, widening the gap that separated him from the contending field. As Sand Marsh neared the finish line, his jockey half turned in his seat, glanced back at the trailers, figured he had a commanding lead, and then pulled his horse, breezing in an easy winner.

Just at the moment a wizened old chap alongside of us, loosened a string of words that rhyme nicely with jam and sam and bell and dell.

"Didja see that? Didja see that?" he exclaimed, excitedly, as he grabbed our coat and whirled us around a bit. "Didja see him look back and then pull his horse?"

We remarked that we had.

"What of it" we countered. "Sand Marsh had a safe lead, didn't he? Why race a horse to its limit when it isn't necessary?"

"That's what a jockey thought ten years ago—and it cost me $20,000," returned the old fellow. "Ever since that day I never can look at a turning jockey without feeling a shiver all over me.

"Yes?" we broke in, figuring that he had a story to tell.

"Well, Peter Pan was the sensation of the turf ten or eleven years ago," he continued, without waiting for our answer. "He was the pride of the James R. Keene stable, and one of the greatest animals that ever faced a barrier. Along in 1906 Peter Pan was entered in one of the big races at Belmont Park. He was figured to be unbeatable in that event, and although a big field was pitted against him, he was quoted at 6 to 5 when the betting opened. And when he went to the post he was an odds—on favorite of 4 to 5.

"I bet $10,000 on Peter Pan to win, my betting averaging even money. If Peter Pan won that race I stood to get back $20,000. If he lost, every dollar I had in the world was gone. I'd played the horses for a while before then and had decided that I'd make my last bet on Peter Pan. Some folks probably think that I was crazy to stake every dollar I had in the world on a race horse, but those who remember Peter Pan will tell you that betting on him, when well ridden, was as safe a thing as investing in government bond.

"Well, the horses got away from the barrier in a bunch. After the first hundred yards Peter Pan shot into the lead and when the turn for home was reached, he was leading the nearest horse by a wide margin. It looked like an absolute cinch when jockey Walter Miller, riding Peter Pan, committed the fatal error of looking back.

"Miller turned and squinted down along the rail. He saw that his horse was leading the nearest horse within the scope of his vision by five lengths. And the finish mark was only about ten lengths away. It looked like sure victory, whereupon Miller pulled Peter Pan, and, of course, the horse slowed down.

"But Miller, in looking down along the rail hadn't seen the horse Frank Gill, driven by Jockey Hotter, racing along on the outside. When Miller turned, the Gill horse was probably three lengths behind and rushing along like a streak. And when Peter Pan was pulled, the gap between the two horses was reduced to a bare length.

"A roar from the stand awoke Miller to his peril. He looked toward the outside and saw Frank Gill almost abreast of him, with the finish line less than three lengths away. Miller applied the whip to the sides of Peter Pan, but before the great horse could get back into his fastest stride again, the finish line was crossed. And Frank Gill, a 15 to 1 shot, was the winner of the race by a nose."

"I've never bet on a horse race since that day. But I still love the horses and I like to see them go. But I never can watch a jockey pull a horse near the finish line, no matter how great his lead, without feeling a shudder—without calling back to memory that one action of Miller which lost me my bet of $10,000 and my seemingly certain winner of another $10,000."

Hot Liners.

The Indians received an awful wallop by the White Sox, being shut out in both games of a double header. Morton's winning streak of eight was checked and Coumbe lost his first game of the season.

There's no holding Frank Kramer. The champ bike rider won a match race and then cleaned up in the five mile contest.

GREENWALD'S WINDOW.

Boston Paper Prints Pictures of Rondout Shoe Store.

The Shoe Retailer, a paper printed in Boston, in the interest of the retail shoe trade, in its issue of May 13, gives pictures of the Greenwald shoe store in this city and says of them:

The lattice work background in both windows was painted white, thus giving a good contrast with the blue decorative scheme. Apple blossoms, made of artificial paper, covered the latice work. The two large ovals, flanked by a pair of scrolls, were made of beaver board and edged and puffed with a material to harmonize with the general decorative treatment. Mr. Greenwald says he is partial to the use of skins draped on the quartered oak backgrounds of his windows and states that the color of them always harmonizes with the decorative scheme.

The high cost of sleuthing in Shandaken and elsewhere featured the testimony of Warren Holden whose divorce suit against Sarah Holden was placed on trial Saturday afternoon before Referee Daniel B. Deyo. Attorney Frank W. Brooks appeared for the plaintiff and Former City Judge N. Frank O'Reilly for the defendant, who seeks a separation on counter-charges of cruelty. The Holdens were married in 1888 and have a son 16 years old.

On the stand, Holden was asked as to the whereabouts of a $1,700 bank account and told Attorney O'Reilly that most of it had gone to detectives employed by him to detect his wife in a compromising position. One of these sleuths, William Cohen, disguised himself and went to Lilley's Hotel at Lexington, Greene county, where he himself was detected. The shrewd eyes of a friend penetrated Cohen's whiskered countenance, according to a witness, and posted Mrs. Holden. The latter was employed at the hotel following her separation from her husband a year ago.

Ralph Deyo, a relative of Dr. Deyo, by whom Frank Hinckel, named as co-respondent, was employed, testified to Frank having been up late nights and some times staying out all night. Deyo let Hinckel take his horse and buggy for his alleged philandering and testified to having seen Hinckel and Mrs. Holden together. He had never heard Mrs. Holden's reputation questioned.

Chester Holden, a cousin of the plaintiff, saw the pair sitting on the bridge over the old mill stream at 11 p. m. He did not explain why he had been out that late.

Charles E. Ford, another detective, swore to a visit to Lilley's Hotel with Holden when they claim to have found Hinckel behind the doors of Mrs Holden's room. Ford was quite the William J. Burns' type and had a bulge on his chest under his coat which might have concealed a real detective's badge.

A Kingston man was sworn by the defense and denied the allegation of any improper relations with the defendant.

Mrs. Alice Crandall, for a score of years housekeeper for Dr Deyo at whose place Hinckel worked, told of Hinckel being up nights and of her giving him advice as to his company. Hinckel told her, she said, that Mrs. Holden was "fairer than ten thousand others" to him and that it "would break his heart" if they were separated.

Mrs Frances Hastings, for the defense, testified to Detective Ford's sleuthing. Life at the Lilley's must have been exciting with hearts being trumps and Holden endeavoring to make it clubs or spades every chance he had. A dummy was made and placed in Mrs. Radie Dunham's bed and, like one of Boccaccio's tales, the irate husband and his trusty aide fell upon it with vigor and shook the stuffing out of Mr. Dummy for a few minutes before discovering their mistake.

Witness said Mrs Holden had told her she had a motherly feeling for Hinckel.

Before any more feelings were gone into, Referee Deyo adjourned the proceedings until 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the defense expects to complete its case.

Mystics Defeat Rhinecliff.

The Mystic Baseball team of this city journey to Rhinecliff on Sunday and staged a "come back" with the ball tossers of that hamlet, whom they defeated in a fast game by the score of 10 to 6. McAuliffe for the Mystics had 14 strike-outs to his credit, and was held up in great style by "Jack" McMahon. The Mystics are now rounding into form, and with the new players, who showed to advantage yesterday, expect to tuck many more victories under their belts.

After Judge Jenkins had carefully charged the county court jury in the action of Henry C. Elmendorf against the New York Telephone Company that it must either find a certain sum for the plaintiff's damage or else a verdict of no cause for the defendant, the jurors came into court Saturday with the following verdict which was read by Foreman Abraham Hasbrouck:

"We find that the telephone pole must be moved back to its first location within sixty days or the plaintiff have judgment for $25."

The court sent the jurors back, saying it was not within their province to grant equitable relief, as they had evidently contemplated. A quarter hour later the jury came back, this time to stay, with a $25 verdict which will be trebled under the law. Judge Jenkins took a motion to set aside the verdict under advisement. How the jury had arrived at the removal of the telephone pole was a mystery to the court room. Elmendorf sued for the cutting of branches to an apple tree on his farm in the town of Olive There have been no olive branches extended in subsequent litigation and it is likely that an appeal be taken in this case if the jury's verdict stands

PLATTEKILL.

Plattekill, May 29.—The many friends of Miss Ethel Benedict sympathize greatly with her in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Phoebe Benedict, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Powles, at Cornwall-on-Hudson. Mrs Benedict is survived by four children, Mrs. Walter Powles, of Cornwall, Miss Maud Benedict of Yonkers, Miss Ethel Benedict, a teacher in Plattekill, and Ray Benedict of Leptondale. The funeral was held at Cornwall, Thursday afternoon.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

The waist is made with overlapped vest portions, and is mounted on a fitted body lining. The outer sections have deep armscyes and are finished with a revers collar. The sleeve is set in at the armscye of the lining, and may be made with a deep pointed cuff in wrist length finish, or in short length with a "turnback" cuff. The skirt has plaits at the sides and smart pockets.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. It requires 6 yards of 44 inch material for a 16 year size. The skirt measures 3¾ yards at the foot, with plaits drawn out.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps, by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

CADY DENTAL OFFICE

324 Wall St. Kingston, N. Y.

AT A SPECIAL TERM OF THE Supreme court of the state of New York, held at the court house in the city of Kingston on the sixth day of May, 1916.

Present: Hon Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck, Justice.

Supreme Court, Ulster County.—In the matter of the application of Matthews & Harrison for authority to change its name to F. B. Matthews & Co., Inc.

Upon reading and filing the petition of Matthews & Harrison, a domestic stock corporation, duly verified by Frank B. Matthews, its president, on April 3, 1916, wherein said petitioner prays for an order authorizing it to assume another corporate name, to-wit, the name of F. B. Matthews & Co., Inc., and upon filing the certificate of the secretary of state, dated March 27, 1916, annexed thereto, certifying that the name which such corporation proposes to assume is not the name of any other domestic corporation or a name which he deems so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive, upon filing proof that a copy of the petition herein and of the notice of motion were duly filed with the secretary of state as shown by the certificate of said secretary of state dated April 4, 1916, and upon filing due proof by affidavits showing that notice of the presentation of said petition has been duly published once in each week for three successive weeks in the Kingston Daily Leader, a newspaper of the county of Ulster in which county such corporation has its principal business office, and the court being satisfied by the said petition and by the affidavits and certificates presented therewith that the petition is true and that there is no reasonable objection to the change of name proposed and that the petition has been duly authorized and that notice of presentation of the petition as required by law has been made.

Now, on motion of James A. Betts, attorney for the said petitioner, no one opposing, it is Ordered, that said petition be and the same hereby is granted and that the petitioner herein, Matthews & Harrison, be and it hereby is authorized to assume another corporate name, to-wit, the name F. B. Matthews & Co., Inc., on and after the tenth day of June, 1916, and it is further ordered and directed that this order be entered and the papers on which it is granted be filed within ten days from the date hereof in the office of the clerk of Ulster county, the county in which the certificate of incorporation of said corporation is filed and that a certified copy of this order within ten days after the entry thereof be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and further, that a copy of this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper in the county of Ulster, beginning within ten days after the entry hereof.

Eggs with a richly colored golden yolk, from a market standpoint, are more desirable than the pale-yolked variety. Due to lack of green range feed in the winter, such eggs are not normally laid during cold weather. To produce them, though, is quite a simple matter if you know how. The poultry department of the Iowa State college tells the secret.

Yellow corn with clipped alfalfa or sprouted oats are winter feeds that put the color in the yolk. Stemmy alfalfa will not do, as it is too coarse and contains too much fiber. The alfalfa must be leafy. Alfalfa or clover sweepings from the hay mow make an excellent winter poultry feed. To keep the hens from scratching it about a rack or box may be provided, covered with coarse mesh poultry wire through which the birds may pick the leaves.

The fact that green feeds produce the desirable yellow-yolked eggs is an advantage of only secondary importance. The fact that they furnish food elements not to be had otherwise, and that are very much needed at this season of the year, is of far greater importance. The green feed is a necessary item to stimulate the general health of the fowls, as well as their laying ability, during the winter.

GATHERING UP ALL VERMIN

Chickens are very subject to several kinds of vermin, which must be kept down in a measure, or they get so numerous that the birds' peace of mind is so greatly disturbed that it interferes with the bird's egg-laying propensities. A new invention is shown herewith by which it is designed to keep down the numbers of the pest by catching them in a trap, which is combined with the roost on which the birds sleep. The habits of the chicken lice and other pests of this character is to get at the birds while they are roosting, and they attack the birds in such numbers that its health is seriously interfered with. After sucking the bird's blood the insects return to the crevices to be found in the woodwork about the perch, so as to be ready for subsequent visits. The features of the new trap is that it enters into the construction of the perch. There are holes along the length of the perch which make inviting harboring places for the vermin; but when they enter these they are overcome by the fumes of a germicide contained in trays, which are disposed of within the interior of the perch. For convenience in cleaning these trays may be withdrawn from the ends without disturbing the perch.

REMEDY FOR A BUMBLE FOOT

Bumble foot is caused by a bruise. This may come from frozen ground, or from flying down from a height to a hard-surfaced floor. Often roosts are entirely too high, and the force with which the bird strikes the ground injures the foot.

Whenever a bird is seen to be limping, examine the bottom of the foot. If there is pus, make a cross on the sole of the foot, disinfect with any household disinfectant, and apply a soothing ointment. Bandage well, and put the bird in a coop on soft litter.

Fowls Need Plenty of Air.

Do not be afraid to give your birds plenty of air during the cold months. Open the doors and windows wide on sunny days, but be sure to shut them up again before the sun goes down.

Newark's Great Celebration Attracts Enormous Crowds

The cynosure of her sister cities of the entire United States, each of which has been casting an interested and speculative eye upon her, Newark, metropolis of New Jersey, began to celebrate this month her two hundred and fiftieth birthday anniversary. This great celebration of the founding of the city on a site selected by Robert Treat, Quaker, on a trip from Connecticut in 1666, came after a year's preparation and the application of $250,000 to the purpose. The celebration lasts until October.

Since May 1 the city has enjoyed the largest music festival held anywhere in the east in recent years and an industrial exposition of live interest to all who buy or sell. It has had its big parades, opening ceremonies, its founders' day and other attendant exercises.

Beginning on Memorial day and lasting four nights a historic pageant involving the dramatic services of 4,000 performers is to begin. This will be the world's greatest spectacle in 1916. A hundred piece brass band will accompany the great chorus which will sing the music of the pageant. The spectacle will depict the history of the city from the time of its establishment as a hamlet by Robert Treat in 1666 to the present day. Fifty thousand people will see each of the four performances, it is expected, in a great open air amphitheater in Weequahic park. The book for the pageant was written by the director, Professor Thomas Wood Stevens, chief of the division of dramatic arts of the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, after a year's intimate study of the city's history. The music was written by the composer, Henry Hadley.

The costumes have been made in large part at Pageant House, Newark, from designs of experts by the women of the city who have volunteered their services. One of the interesting features of the most impressive pageant ever undertaken in America has been the public spirited work of Newark's talented women. The costumes portray not only periods, but industries, arts, sciences and events.

The pageant will be given at night by means of special and wonderful new lighting effects. Subdued colors are to be obtained by emitting from pipes, set where the footlights usually are, a series of jets of steam, so that the fairy-like dances will be viewed through a curtain of vapor, giving a softening effect.

Miss Mary Porter Beegle of Barnard college, barefoot dancer, is head of the dancing of the Newark pageant. While other women have been busy with the needle, paints and dressstuffs at Pageant House, Newark, or consulting art books for costume designs in John Cotton Dana's public library, Miss Beegle has visited some of Newark's 1,200 factories and discussed with artisans how electrical, ceramic and jewelry industries may best be visualized. She has insisted that its great civic benefit lay in its very making.

The active work of preparation for the great pageantry event has been in charge of a highly efficient committee headed by Dr. A. G. Vogt, general chairman. The musical preparations for this event have been under the guidance of Miss Frances Hays and A. L. Dennis. Mrs. F. C. Jacobson, chairman of the committee on costumes, has been in charge of Pageant House. Other active heads of the committee are H. A. Guenther, cast; F. W. Cann, stage settings; Dr. William Dimond, properties; J. Victor D'Aloia, dancing; Dr. A. R. Bianchi, organization; Patrick C. O'Brien, lighting. The pageant secretary at headquarters is Miss Sophie Wilds, who directs details with executive intelligence and zeal. All these and many others have joined hands with paid and unpaid experts to make the Newark pageant a worthy feature of such a celebration as Newark is to have.

Newark is also spending large sums of money on athletic contests of national importance and scores of other events. The city and her estimated million of visitors will enjoy more than a hundred parades, conventions, special ceremonies, sports, concerts, theatricals, church mass meetings, military exercises, charitable surveys and school exhibits.

In addition to the $250,000 being expended on civic events, the city is to spend $1,500,000 for a splendid memorial building to commemorate the epoch. With amounts to be spent for monuments and statues, special private decorations and for entertainment of a semi-public and private nature, and money to be expended by visitors, it is estimated that Newark's great birthday party will involve an ultimate outlay of not less that $4,000,000.

"I remember," said an official of the East Indian service, "the speech of an Anglo-Indian who was delegated by a certain district to place before the government's notice the horrible slaughter of their stock by tigers. A very noticeable titter could be heard in the audience when the delegate shouted very dramatically:

"'Mr. Chairman, the tiger is the most ferocious animal that prowls and runs at large in India. He creeps from his lurking place at the hour of midnight, when all nature is locked in the arms of Morpheus, and ere the portals of the east are unbound or bright Phoebus rises in his golden majesty whole litters of pigs are destroyed.'"

Fishing.

"Perhaps you have noticed that I am a little hoarse," insinuated the young man who had a cold.—New York Times.

Naturally.

GOOD COMPANIONS.

It makes no difference, in looking back five years, how you have been dieted or dressed or lodged, whether you have had gardens or baths, have been carried in a neat equipage or in a ridiculous truck. These things are forgotten quickly and leave no effect. But it counts much whether we have had good companions in that time almost as much as what we have been doing.—Emerson.

AN ESCAPE WINKED AT

I have often been asked if in my detective work I had sheered off from the wrong trail when I was about to nab a criminal through sympathy. I never did that, but I once lost a woman whom I had under arrest because I had become convinced that she was innocent. I did not tell her that she might escape, but pretended to trust her. I was sorry afterward that I didn't let her know that I was willing she should go, for I saw her do something to gain her freedom that made my blood curdle.

A cashier of a bank had been convicted of defalcation, had been sent to the penitentiary and by means of steel saws sent him by his wife had cut the bars of a window of his cell. She had also provided him with a rope, on which he had lowered himself to the ground and had then thrown it over the prison wall, she being outside to catch it and secure the end. He then climbed on to the wall, and his wife and three of his friends had held a blanket, into which he had jumped. Then, getting into a carriage, he had been driven away.

The warden was quite sure that the escaped man's wife had secured his freedom, but had no evidence to support the charge. Some time after the escape I was ordered by my chief to go to Albany, where the woman was living, arrest her on a trumped up charge and bring her to Philadelphia, where the crime of which her husband had been convicted was committed. The object was to force her to betray his whereabouts, or, rather, to force him to give himself up to secure his wife's freedom.

I found the lady—she was a lady, and a refined lady, too—living in seclusion. She doubtless surmised what kind of a game was to be played on her, for I saw her face set with resolution. I did not believe anything could be forced out of her. She went with me without making any ado, and I refrained from the indignity of placing handcuffs on her. I took a seat beside her in the train, resolving to make the journey as easy for her as possible.

During the ride to New York she told me one of the most interesting stories of how a man's ruin may be planned to save another that I ever listened to. If the person who laid the scheme had devoted his genius to writing detective stories he might have made a large fortune. The most ingenious part of it was that he fixed on an innocent man so that there was no way that he could prove his innocence without casting an aspersion on his own wife.

Not only did the lady make the different steps in the plot plain to me, but by the artless way she told her story convinced me that she had not invented it and was telling the truth. And when she told me that she and her husband had intended to start for Brazil with her children in a few days to begin life anew under a different name completely soured on my job.

On reaching New York we took supper together in a restaurant, crossed the river and boarded a train for Philadelphia. Having told me her story, the lady sat silently weeping. Her arrest had spoiled a plan that she and her husband had been working and waiting for for several months. If her story and my faith in its truth had not conquered me her tears would have done so—that is, being convinced of her innocence. After leaving Trenton I told her that I was going into the smoking car.

"Aren't you afraid I'll escape?" she asked.

"I don't see how you can," I replied. "This train doesn't stop till we reach Philadelphia, and before that I'll be back."

I did not intend to return to her till we were in the station at Philadelphia, hoping that she would find a way of giving me the slip there, and thought it possible that the train might pull up on the way and go slow enough for her to jump off.

I smoked several cigars. At one of the towns through which we passed where there were many tracks I noticed that we were running beside a train moving in the same direction as ourselves and on the next track. The two trains were so near together that I could put my hand in at the window of the one beside us. Both trains were going at pretty good speed.

Presently the other train began to pull ahead of mine. I was sitting in the front seat of the smoking car on the side next the other train. Suddenly as the platform of the rear car of the other trains caught and passed the platform of my car I saw my prisoner bend forward, grasp the rail of the platform beside her and step on to the other train. She missed the rail she tried for, and I thought it was all up with her, but she caught the rear rail and succeeded in clambering on to the platform. That's all I saw, for the train she was on passed out of sight.

I thanked heaven that I had been spared sending the poor woman to her death and that she had escaped me. Just before reaching Philadelphia I went into the car where I had left my prisoner and, not finding her, on reaching the hotel at which I put up notified my chief of the woman's escape, telling him exactly how she had effected it.

It is needless to say I was discharged. After some difficulty I found another berth and never regretted what I had done. Many years after the lady's husband was exonerated, and the story just as she told it to me came out in the newspapers.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. Section thirty-two of chapter sixty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to stock corporations, constituting chapter fifty-nine of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 32. Books to be kept. Every stock corporation shall keep at its office correct books of account of all its business and transactions, and a book to be known as the stock book, containing the names, alphabetically arranged, of all persons who are stockholders of the corporation, showing their places of residence, the number of shares of stock held by them respectively, the time when they respectively became the owners thereof, and the amount paid thereon. The stock book of every such corporation shall be open daily, during at least three business hours, for inspection by any judgment creditor of the corporation; or by any person who shall have been stockholder of record in such corporation for at least six months immediately preceding his demand; or by any person holding stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all its outstanding shares; or by any person thereunto in writing authorized by the holders of stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all of its outstanding shares. Persons so entitled to inspect stock books may make extracts therefrom. No transfer of stock shall be valid as against the corporation, its stockholders and creditors for any purpose except to render the transferee liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent provided for in this chapter, until it shall have been entered in such book as required by this section, by an entry showing from and to whom transferred. The stock book of every such corporation and the books of account of every bank shall be presumptive evidence of the facts therein so stated in favor of the plaintiff, in any action or proceeding against such corporation or any of its officers, directors or stockholders. Every corporation that shall neglect or refuse to keep or cause to be kept such books, or to keep any book open for inspection as herein required, shall forfeit to the people the sum of fifty dollars for every day it shall so neglect or refuse. If any officer or agent of any such corporation shall wilfully neglect or refuse to make any proper entry in such book or books, or shall neglect or refuse to exhibit the same, or to allow them to be inspected and extracts taken therefrom as provided in this section, the corporation and such officer or agent shall each forfeit and pay to the party injured a penalty of fifty dollars for every such neglect or refusal and all damages resulting to him therefrom. It shall be a defense to any action for penalties under this section that the person suing therefor has within two years sold or offered for sale any list of stockholders of such corporation or of any other corporation, or has aided or abetted any person in procuring any stock list for any such purpose. Nothing herein impairs the power of the courts to compel by mandamus or judgment the production for examination by any stockholder of the stock books of a corporation.

§ 33. Stock books of foreign corporations. Every foreign stock corporation having an office for the transaction of business in this state, except moneyed and railroad corporations, shall keep therein a book to be known as a stock book, containing the names, alphabetically arranged, of all persons who are stockholders of the corporation, showing their places of residence, the number of shares of stock held by them respectively, the time when they respectively became the owners thereof, and the amount paid thereon. Such stock book shall be open daily, during business hours, for inspection by any judgment creditor of such corporation; by any officer of this state authorized by law to investigate the affairs of any such corporation; by any person who shall have been stockholder of record in such corporation for at least six months immediately preceding his demand; by any person holding stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all of its outstanding shares; or by any person thereunto in writing authorized by the holders of stock of such corporation to an amount equal to five per centum of all of its outstanding shares. Persons so entitled to inspect stock books may make extracts therefrom. If any such foreign stock corporation has in this state a transfer agent, whether such agent shall be a corporation or a natural person, such stock book may be deposited in the office of such agent and shall be open to inspect at all times during the usual hours of transacting business, to any stockholder, judgment creditor or officer of the state authorized by law to investigate the affairs of such corporation. For any refusal to allow such book to be inspected, such corporation and the officer or agent so refusing shall each forfeit the sum of fifty dollars to be recovered by the person to whom such refusal was made. It shall be a defense to any action for penalties under this section that the person suing therefor has within two years sold or offered for sale any list of stockholders of such corporation or of any other corporation or has aided or abetted any person in procuring any stock list for any such purpose. Nothing herein impairs the power of the courts to compel by mandamus or judgment the production for examination by any stockholder of the stock books of a corporation.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. Section one hundred of chapter thirty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to insurance corporations, constituting chapter twenty-eight of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter seven hundred and sixty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven and chapter five hundred and ninety-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 100. Investments. No domestic life insurance corporation, whether incorporated by special act or under a general law, shall invest in or loan upon any shares of stock of any corporation, other than a municipal corporation, nor, excepting government, state or municipal securities, shall it invest in, or loan upon, any bonds or obligations which shall not be secured by adequate collateral security or where more than one-third of the total value of the collateral security therefor shall consist of shares of stock. Every such corporation which on the first day of June, nineteen hundred and six, owned any shares of stock other than public stocks of municipal corporations, whenever the same were acquired, or any bonds or obligations of the kinds above described where said bonds or obligations were acquired after the first day of March, nineteen hundred and six, shall dispose of said shares of stock and of said bonds and obligations within fifteen years from the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and six, and in each year prior to the expiration of said fifteen years shall make such reduction of its holdings of said securities as may be approved in writing by the superintendent of insurance. No investment or loan shall be made by any such life insurance corporation unless the same shall first have been authorized by the board of directors or by a committee thereof charged with the duty of supervising such investment or loan. No such corporation shall subscribe to or participate in any underwriting of the purchase or sale of securities or property, or enter into any transaction for such purchase or sale on account of any corporation jointly with any other person, firm or corporation; nor shall any such corporation enter into any agreement to withhold from sale any of its property, but the disposition of its property shall be at all times within the control of its board of directors. Any such corporation, in addition to other investments allowed by law, may invest any of its funds in any duly authorized bonds or evidences of debt of any government in which such corporation is transacting business, or of any state, or of any city, county, town, village, school district, municipality or other civil division of any state and may loan upon the security of improved unincumbered real property in any state worth fifty per centum more than the amount loaned thereon. Provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed as prohibiting a life insurance company from entering into an agreement for the purpose of protecting the interests of the company in securities lawfully held by it, or for the purpose of reorganization of a corporation which issued securities so held, and from depositing such securities with a committee or depositaries appointed under such agreement; but such agreement and deposit of securities thereunder must first be approved in writing by the superintendent of insurance with a statement of his reason for such approval. Nor shall this section be construed as preventing such company from accepting corporate stock or bonds or other securities, which may be distributed pursuant to any such agreement approved as aforesaid or to any plan of reorganization approved in writing by the superintendent of insurance with a statement of his reason for such approval. But if any securities so received shall consist in whole or in part of stock in any corporation or of bonds or obligations which shall not be secured by adequate collateral security or where more than one-third of the total value of the collateral security therefor shall consist of shares of stock, then any stock and any such bond or obligation so received shall be disposed of within five years from the time of their acquisition or before the expiration of such further period or periods of time as may be fixed in writing for that purpose by the superintendent of insurance.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to provide for returning to the general fund the unexpended balance of certain existing appropriations and to repeal the acts and parts of acts making such appropriations, with respect to the unexpended balances.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. The unexpended balances of all existing appropriations made prior to January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, from the general fund and the unexpended balances thereof in the canal maintenance fund, less the amount of liabilities chargeable to such appropriations or fund, and incurred or to be incurred not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, shall revert to the general fund and be available for the payment of moneys appropriated by the legislature during or after the year nineteen hundred and sixteen, except appropriations for construction work, permanent betterments and repairs; and all such appropriations, other than the appropriations for such construction work, betterments and repairs, shall cease to have force or effect, and the various acts therefor in so far as they make such appropriations are repealed, after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, except for the purpose of paying liabilities incurred on or before that date.

CHAP. 129.

AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to the definition of practice of dentistry, the appointment of members of the state board of dental examiners, licenses, correction of books of dental registry and penalties.

Became a law April 5, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Section 1. Section one hundred and ninety of chapter forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the public health, constituting chapter forty-five of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 190. Definitions. As used in this article, the terms "university," "regents" and "physicians" have respectively the meanings defined in article eight of this chapter. "Board," where not otherwise limited, means the board of dental examiners of the state of New York. "Registered medical or dental school" means a medical or dental school, college or department of a university, registered by the regents as maintaining a proper educational standard and legally incorporated. "Examiner," where not otherwise qualified, means a member of the board. "State dental society" means the dental society of the state of New York.

Practice of dentistry. A person practices dentistry within the meaning of this article, who holds himself out as being able to diagnose, treat, operate, or prescribe for any disease, pain, injury, deficiency, deformity, or physical condition of the human teeth, alveolar process, gums, or jaws, and who shall either offer or undertake by any means or method to diagnose, treat, operate, or prescribe for any disease, pain, injury, deficiency, deformity, or physical condition of the same.

§ 2. Section one hundred and ninety-five of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and thirty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 195. 1. State board of dental examiners. The existing state board of dental examiners shall be divided into four classes and their terms of office shall continue except that said terms shall expire on the thirty-first day of July in each year. After July thirty-first, nineteen hundred and ten, the state board of dental examiners shall be increased by the addition of a member residing in the ninth judicial district, who shall be appointed in the manner provided by this section, for a term of four years, commencing on the first day of August, nineteen hundred and ten, and who shall be a member of the class whose terms commence on such date. Before the day when the official terms of the members of any of said classes shall expire, the regents shall appoint their successors, to serve for the term of four years from said day. Such appointment shall be made from nominations in number twice the number of the outgoing class made by such society to the regents prior to the second Tuesday in June of each year, or in default of such nominations from the licensed and registered dentists of the state who have been members of the state dental society for not less than ten years prior to the time of the appointment. The regents, in the same manner, shall also fill vacancies in the board that may occur. All nominations and appointments shall be so made that every vacancy in the board shall be filled by a resident of the same judicial district in which the last incumbent of the office resided. The board shall elect at its annual meeting from its members a president and shall note one or more meetings each year pursuant to call of the regents. No person shall be appointed an examiner unless he shall have received a dental degree from a body lawfully entitled to confer the same, and in good standing at the time of its conferment, and shall have been engaged within the state during not less than five years prior to his appointment in the actual and lawful practice of dentistry. Nor shall any person connected with a dental school as professor, trustee or instructor be eligible to such appointment. Cause being shown before them the regents may remove an examiner from office on proven charges of inefficiency, incompetency, immorality or unprofessional conduct.

2. Secretary of the board. The secretary shall be a licensed dentist who has been in practice in this state for at least five years with a degree of D.D.S. He shall be appointed by the regents, shall hold office during their pleasure, and shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars, payable from moneys received under this article. He shall have such powers and shall perform such duties as are prescribed by the rules of the regents.

§ 3. Section one hundred and ninety-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter seven hundred and eighty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 196. Examinations. The regents shall admit to examination any candidate who shall pay the fee herein prescribed and submit satisfactory evidence, verified by oath if required, that he:

1. Is more than twenty-one years of age;

2. Is of good moral character;

3. Has a preliminary education equivalent to graduation from a four year high school course registered by the regents, or an education accepted by the regents as fully equivalent.

4. Subsequently to receiving such preliminary education either has been graduated in course with a dental degree from a registered dental school, or else, having been graduated in course from a registered medical school with a degree of doctor of medicine, has pursued thereafter a course of special study of dentistry for at least two years in a registered dental school and received therefrom its degree of doctor of dental surgery, or else holds a diploma or license conferring full right to practice dentistry in some other of the United States or in some foreign country and granted by some licensing board, college, school or university registered by the regents as maintaining an educational standard equal to that required of dental colleges of this state, or else has lawfully practiced dentistry for more than twenty-five years without this state and within the United States; but the examination for those who have lawfully practiced for twenty-five years in other states shall be a practical examination only. The regents may also in their discretion on or after June first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, admit conditionally to the examination in anatomy, physiology, chemistry and metallurgy and histology, applicants twenty years of age certified as having studied dentistry not less than two years, including two satisfactory courses in two different calendar years, in a dental school registered as maintaining at the time a satisfactory standard, provided that such applicants meet the second and third requirements of candidates for examination. If a candidate fails on final examination, he may have a second examination without fee; but for every examination subsequent an additional fee of twenty-five dollars shall be required. Any member of the board may inquire of any applicant for examination concerning his qualifications and may take testimony of any one in regard thereto, under oath, which he is hereby empowered to administer.

5. Any dental dispensary or infirmary legally incorporated and registered by the regents, and maintaining a proper standard and equipment may establish for women students a course of study in oral hygiene, all such students upon entrance shall present evidence of attendance of one year in the high school, and may be graduated in one year as dental hygienists, upon complying with the preliminary requirements to examination by the board, which are:

A. A fee of five dollars.

B. Evidence that they are at least twenty years of age and of good moral character.

C. That they have complied with and fulfilled the preliminary and professional requirements and the requirements of the statute.

After having satisfactorily passed such examination they shall be registered and licensed as dental hygienists by the regents under such rules as the regents shall prescribe.

6. Any licensed dentist, public institution or school authorities may employ such licensed and registered dental hygienists. Such dental hygienists may remove lime deposits, accretions and stains from the exposed surfaces of the teeth, but shall not perform any other operation on the teeth or tissues of the mouth. They may operate in the office of any licensed dentist, or in any public institution or in the schools under the general direction or supervision of a licensed dentist, but nothing herein shall be construed as authorizing any dental hygienist performing any operation in the mouth without supervision. The regents may revoke the license of any licensed dentist who shall permit any dental hygienist operating under his supervision to perform any operation other than that permitted under the provisions of this section, and they may also revoke the license of any dental hygienist violating the provisions of this act.

§ 197. Degrees. No degree in dentistry shall be conferred in this state except the degree of doctor of dental surgery. Said degree shall not be conferred upon any one unless he shall after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, have satisfactorily completed a course of at least four years in a registered dental school, and prior to that date a course of at least three years, or having been graduated in course from a registered medical school with the degree of doctor of medicine shall have pursued satisfactorily thereafter a course of special study of dentistry for at least two years in a registered dental school; nor shall said degree be conferred upon any one matriculating after January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, unless prior to matriculation in the institution conferring this professional education, he shall have filed a regents' certificate that he had the minimum education required by the regents; provided, further, however, that the regents may confer upon all persons who shall have received the degree of master of dental surgery under the laws of this state, prior to March twenty-eight, nineteen hundred and one, the degree of doctor of dental surgery in lieu of said master's degree.

§ 198. Licenses. 1. On certification by the board of dental examiners that a candidate has successfully passed its examinations and is competent to practice dentistry, the regents shall issue to him their license so to practice pursuant to the rules established by them. On the recommendation of the board, the regents may also, without the examination hereinbefore provided for, issue their license to any applicant therefor who shall furnish proof satisfactory to them that he has been duly graduated from a registered dental school and has been thereafter lawfully and reputably engaged in such practice for six years next preceding his application; or who holds a license to practice dentistry in any other state of the United States granted by a state board of dental examiners, indorsed by the dental society of the state of New York, provided, that in either case his preliminary and professional education shall have been not less than required in this state. Every license so issued shall state on its face the grounds on which it is granted and the applicant may be required to furnish his proof on affidavit.

2. Upon recommendation of the board, the regents may issue a permit to graduate from the dental colleges of this state to be employed in registered dental dispensaries, infirmaries and public institutions while under the direction or supervision of a licensed dentist in the interim between graduation and one year thereafter. This permit may be revoked for cause. No such permit shall be issued except such graduate has definite offer of a position in such dental dispensaries, infirmaries or public institutions.

§ 199. 1. Registration. Every person practicing dentistry in this state and not lawfully registered before April seventeenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, shall register in the office of the clerk of the county where his place of business is located, in a book kept by the clerk for such purpose, his name, age, office and post-office address, date and number of his license to practice dentistry and the date of such registration, which registration he shall be entitled to make only upon showing to the county clerk his license or a duly authenticated copy thereof, and making an affidavit stating name, age, birthplace, the number of his license and the date of its issue, that he is the identical person named in the license; that before receiving the same he complied with all the preliminary requirements of this article and the rules of the regents and board as to the terms and the amount of study and examination; that no money, other than the fees prescribed by this article and said rules, was paid directly or indirectly for such license, and that no fraud, misrepresentation or mistake in a material regard was employed or occurred in order that such license should be conferred. The county clerk shall preserve such affidavit in a bound volume and shall issue to every licentiate duly registering and making such affidavit, a certificate of registration in his county, which shall include a transcript of the registration. Such transcript and the license may be offered as presumptive evidence in all courts of the facts stated therein. The county clerk's fee for taking such registration and affidavit and issuing such certificate, shall be one dollar. Any person who having lawfully registered as aforesaid shall thereafter change his name in any lawful manner shall register the new name with marginal note of the former name; and shall note upon the margin of the former registration the fact of such change and a cross reference to the new registration. A county clerk who knowingly shall make or suffer to be made upon the book of registry of dentists kept in his office any other entry than is provided for in this article shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars to be recovered by the State Dental Society in a suit in any court having jurisdiction.

2. A county clerk having properly issued a certificate of registration to a licensed dentist, shall forward a duly attested copy of the same, and a copy of the affidavit and evidence upon which said certificate was issued, to the secretary of the board within thirty days of such initial registration of a duly licensed dentist. On or before the first day of May of each year the secretary of the board shall mail to every dentist registered in the state of New York a blank application for re-registration, addressing the same in accordance with the post-office address given at the last previous registration. Upon receipt of such application blank, which shall contain space for the insertion of his name, office and post-office address, date and number of his license, and such other information as the regents deem necessary; and he shall sign and swear to the accuracy of the same before a notary public, after which he shall forward this sworn statement and application for renewal of his registration certificate to the secretary of the board together with the fee of two dollars. Upon receipt of such application and fee, and having verified the accuracy of the same by comparison with the applicant's initial registration statements the secretary of the board shall issue a certificate of registration which shall render the holder thereof a legal practitioner of dentistry for the ensuing year. These certificates of registration shall all bear date of September first of the year of issue, and shall expire on the thirty-first day of August in the year following. Applications for renewal of registration therefore must be made on or before the first day of September of each year, and if not so made an additional fee of one dollar for each thirty days of delay beyond the first day of September and up to the first day of January, shall be added to the regular fee. On the first day of January of each year, or within ten days thereafter, the secretary of the board shall publish and mail to every registered dentist in the state of New York a printed copy of the dental law and a printed list of the legally registered dentists within the state, and each such published list shall contain at the beginning thereof these words: "Each registered dentist receiving this list is requested to report to the secretary of the board the name and addresses of any dentists known to be practicing dentistry, whose names do not appear in this registry. The names of persons giving such information shall not be divulged." Should any dentist continue to practice dentistry beyond the first day of January, despite the fact that his name does not appear in the registry, he shall be counted as an illegal practitioner, and his license may be suspended or revoked by the regents, in accordance with the provisions of section two hundred and one. All practitioners of dentistry already registered in this state at the time of the passage of this act, shall make application to the secretary of the board for the re-registration blank upon receipt of which he shall, in like manner already described, make application for re-registration, forwarding to the secretary of the board the re-registration blank properly filled in and accompanied by the fee of two dollars. Said application and fee must reach the secretary on or before the first day of December following the adoption of this statute; failing which the delinquent shall be dealt with as outlined in section two hundred and one.

§ 200. Examination fees; expenses. Every applicant for license to practice dentistry shall pay a fee of not more than twenty-five dollars. All fees, fines, penalties and other moneys derived from the operation of this article shall be applied by the regents in the payment of all proper expenses incurred by them under its provisions, including the salary and expenses of the secretary of the board, the compensation and expenses of the members of such board, and all other expenses pertaining to the enforcement of the provisions of this article. All expenses of the state dental society incurred by them in the prosecution of illegal practitioners of dentistry shall be paid out of the first year's receipts, upon the indorsement of the auditing committee of the state dental society.

§ 201. Revocation of licenses. 1. If any practitioner of dentistry should fail to register in time for the appearance of his name in the published list of registered dentists, in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-nine the regents shall notify said delinquent to appear before them at an appointed time and place, and if his explanation of his failure to have registered shall be satisfactory to the regents, he may be reinstated and his name added to the registry; and the regents may also at their option remit the additional fees accruing because of delay in registering. But should the delinquent's explanation prove unsatisfactory, the regents may suspend the person from the practice of dentistry for a limited season; or the regents may revoke the person's license.

2. If any practitioner of dentistry be charged under oath before the board, with unprofessional or immoral conduct, or with gross ignorance, or inefficiency in his profession, or with fraud or deceit in procuring admission to practice, the board shall notify him to appear before a competent tribunal at a time and place designated, with counsel, if he so desires, to answer said charges, furnishing to him a copy thereof. Upon the report of the board to the regents that the accused has been guilty of unprofessional or immoral conduct, or that he is grossly ignorant or inefficient in his profession, or of fraud or deceit in procuring admission to practice, the regents may, without further hearing, suspend the person so charged from the practice of dentistry for a limited season, or may revoke his license. Upon the revocation of any license, the fact shall be noted upon the records of the regents and the license shall be marked as canceled, of the date of its revocation. Upon presentation of a certificate of such cancellation to the clerk of any county wherein the licentiate may be registered, said clerk shall note the date of the cancellation on the register of dentists and cancel the registration. A conviction of felony shall forfeit a license to practice dentistry, and upon presentation to the regents or a county clerk by any public officer or officer of a dental society of a certified copy of a court of record showing that a practitioner of dentistry has been convicted of felony, that fact shall be noted on the record of license and clerk's register, and the license and registration shall be marked "canceled." Any person who, after conviction of a felony shall practice dentistry in this state, shall be subject to all the penalties prescribed for the unlicensed practice of dentistry, providing that if such conviction be subsequently reversed upon appeal and the accused acquitted or discharged, his license shall become again operative from the date of such acquittal or discharge.

§ 202. Construction of this article. This article shall not be construed to prohibit an unlicensed person from performing merely mechanical work upon dental matter in a dental office or laboratory; or a student in an incorporated dental school or college, registered by the regents, from performing operations for purposes of clinical study under the supervision and instruction of preceptors; or a duly licensed physician from treating diseases of the mouth or performing operations in oral surgery. But nothing in this article shall be construed to permit the performance of independent dental operations by an unlicensed person under cover of the name of a registered practitioner or in his office.

§ 203. Penalties and their collection. A. A person who, in any county of this state, practices dentistry, not being at the time of said practice a dentist licensed to practice as such in this state and registered in the office of the clerk of such county, pursuant to the general laws regulating the practice of dentistry, is guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable upon conviction of a first offense by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, and upon conviction of a subsequent offense by a fine not less than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than two months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any violation of this section by a person theretofore convicted under the then existing laws of this state of practicing dentistry without license or registration, shall be included in the term "a subsequent offense." Every conviction of unlawful practice subsequent to a first conviction thereof shall be a conviction of a second offense. Every practitioner of dentistry must display conspicuously upon the house or in the dental office wherein he practices, his full name. If there are more dental chairs than one in any dental office the name of the practitioner practicing at each chair must be displayed conspicuously on or by said chair in plain sight of the patient. Any person who shall practice dentistry personally or by hiring or procuring another to practice and shall fail so to display or cause to be displayed the name, license and registration certificate of himself and any person practicing or employed to practice as a dentist or dental hygienist in his dental office or any dental office under his control, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable upon a first conviction by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year, and upon every subsequent conviction by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than sixty days, or by both fine and imprisonment. Any person who shall employ, hire, procure, or induce one who is not duly licensed and registered as a dentist to practice dentistry, or shall aid or abet one not so licensed and registered in such practice shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine or not less than fifty dollars or more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than a year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; providing that a person practiced upon by an unlicensed or unregistered dentist shall not be deemed an accomplice, employer, hirer, procurer, inducer, aider, or abettor within the meaning of this section.

B. A person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon every conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than six months, or by both fine and imprisonment, who

1. Shall sell or barter or offer to sell or barter, or, not being lawfully authorized so to do, shall issue or confer or offer to issue or confer any dental degree, license or any diploma or document conferring or purporting to confer any dental degree or license or any certificate or transcript made or purporting to be made pursuant to the laws regulating the license and registration of dentists; or

2. Shall purchase or procure by barter any diploma, certificate or transcript, with intent that the same shall be used as evidence of the qualifications to practice dentistry of any person other than the one upon or to whom it was lawfully conferred or issued or in fraud of the laws regulating such practice; or,

3. Shall use or attempt to use any diploma, certificate or transcript which has been purchased, fraudulently issued, counterfeited or materially altered either as a license or color of license to practice dentistry or in order to procure registration as a dentist; or,

4. Shall practice dentistry under a false or assumed name or under the license of registration of another person of the same name or under the name of a corporation, company, association, parlor or trade name; provided that legally incorporated dental corporations existing and in operation prior to January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, may continue so operating while conforming to the provisions of this act. Their advertising subject to the rules of the regents, and employees of said corporations shall be licensed and registered dentists, and corporations that cease to exist or operate for any reason whatsoever shall not be permitted to resume operation; or,

5. Shall assume the degree of bachelor of dental surgery, doctor of dental surgery, or master of dental surgery, or shall append the letters B.D.S., D.D.S., M.D.S., D.M.D., to his name, or make use of the same or shall prefix to his name the title doctor or any abbreviation thereof, not having and duly conferred upon him by diploma from some college, school or board of examiners legally empowered to confer the same, the right to assume said titles; or shall assume any title or append or prefix any letters to his name with the intent to represent falsely that he has received a medical or dental degree or license; or shall represent that, not having been licensed to practice dentistry under the laws of this state, he is entitled so to practice; provided that any licentiate may use the prefix to his name of "doctor" or "Dr."; or,

6. Shall falsely personate another of like name in any examination held by the regents or by the board, of the preliminary or professional education of candidates for dental students' certificates, dental degrees or licenses, or who shall induce another to make or aid and abet in the making of such false personation, or who shall knowingly avail himself of the benefit of such false personation, or who shall knowingly or negligently make or induce another to make falsely any certificate required by the regents or board in connection with their examinations.

C. Any person who in any affidavit or examination required of an applicant for examination, license or registration under the laws regulating the practice of dentistry, or under the laws, ordinances or regulation governing the regents' examinations of the preliminary education required for a dental student's certificate shall make wilfully a false statement in a material regard shall be guilty of perjury, and punishable upon conviction thereof by imprisonment not exceeding ten years.

D. All courts of specials sessions and police justices sitting as courts of special sessions shall have jurisdiction in the first instance to hear and determine all charges of misdemeanors mentioned in this article committed within their local jurisdiction, and to impose all the penalties provided for such misdemeanors, a judgment that the defendant pay a fine shall also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine be paid, specifying the extent of the imprisonment, which cannot exceed one day for every dollar of the fine imposed; provided, however, that the power of said courts and justices to hear and determine such charges shall be divested, if before the commencement of a trial before such court or justice, a grand jury shall present an indictment against the accused person for the same offense, or if a justice of the supreme court or a county judge of the county shall grant a certificate in the manner provided by law in cases of misdemeanor, that it is reasonable that such charge be prosecuted by indictment. Any misdemeanor mentioned in this article for which a punishment is not specifically imposed shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both fine and imprisonment. All prosecutions under this act shall be by the attorney-general in the name of the people of the state and all fines may be paid to the board or sued for and recovered in the name of the people of the state in an action brought therefor by the attorney-general.

E. All violations of this act when reported to the regents and duly substantiated by affidavits or other satisfactory evidence shall be investigated and if the report is found to be true and the evidence substantiated the regents shall report such violations to the attorney-general and request prompt prosecution. The regents may appoint such inspectors as are necessary to be paid from the funds received under this act at such salaries as they may determine for the purpose of the investigation of such violations.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss:

I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original law.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

THE FREEMAN'S CENT-A-WORD ADLETS SAVE MONEY, TIME AND WORRIMENT---PUT YOUR "WANTS" UP TO THE LITTLE HUSTLERS

BIG PARADE ON MEMORIAL DAY

Everybody on foot in a democratic demonstration of patriotism and preparedness is the parade program for Memorial Day with the exception of the Grand Army, whose members will ride in automobiles, and the grand marshal and his staff, the only exceptions to this order. Already citizens and business houses are displaying the national colors and a display of Old Glory such as the city has not know in years will be a fitting accompaniment to the unique expression of love and loyalty which will mark the celebration of this occasion in Kingston this year.

Through the generosity of a prominent citizen who asked that his identity be kept a secret, Gartland's military band of 20 pieces has been secured for the parade and will march at the head of the high school section. Announcement of this news was made at the high school auditorium at noon by Superintendent Michael and judging from the enthusiasm displayed there will be a delegation three or four hundred strong from the high school in the procession. The board of education has been asked to march at the head of the school.

Every citizen is urged to give an hour tomorrow to honor the memory of the soldier dead by marching in the citizens' division of the parade. All are urged to meet at West O'Reilly street before 9 o'clock in order to make the civic division representative an up to Kingston quality of patriotic fervor. Flags will be supplied to marchers.

The industrial section gives promise of being up to expectations with a large number of employes of various plants manifesting their intention to take part.

As has been published, the line of march is short, extending from the starting point, the armory, up Broadway to Clinton avenue, thence to Maiden Lane, counter-marching on Broadway, thence to McEntee street, to Wurts street, to Rogers street to Broadway and thence to the city hall, where the parade will break ranks and the patriotic exercises held.

Invocation—Rev. Wilbur F. Stowe.
Address—Congressman Charles B. Ward of Liberty.
Address—Hon. William E. Thorpe of Catskill.
Benediction.

The six divisions of the parade have already been published as announced by Major George Chandler, grand marshal, and these include every phase of city life, civic industrial, military and other organizations all being represented together with business and professional men whose ranks have been stirred to an unwonted degree by the public interest manifested in the preparedness feature.

In conclusion, the committee in charge whose indefatigable efforts have been so consistently directed toward making a great success of Memorial Day, ... urges every person in Kingston to turn out and do his or her part in properly honoring the veterans and the occasion instituted in their honor.

On account of Tuesday being a holiday there will be dancing at the Casino, Kingston Point, both afternoon and evening. The music for dancing will be furnished by Steve Miller's three-piece orchestra which will furnish the music during the summer for the regular Wednesday and Saturday night dances.

No Automobiles on Broadway.

Automobiles will not be permitted to park on Broadway and other streets on the line of march during the parade on Tuesday, but must keep in the side streets.

GOELET'S CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED TODAY

This afternoon while Robert W. Goelet, the well known New York millionaire, was on his way to the Kingston City Hospital to see John Ryan, a chauffeur, who was injured in an auto accident near Arkville this morning, as told elsewhere, his chauffeur, Henry Turen, drove the automobile past a trolley car which was discharging passengers on Broadway at Pine Grove avenue. The chauffeur was placed under arrest and later was arraigned before Recorder Lang and fined $5, which was paid.

MAY BE PUNISHED.

More to Exact Vengeance for Destruction of Tree.

The county officials who cut down the superb elm at the corner of John and Crown streets probably will discover that the destruction of county property is not a joke. The law it seems, provides that all trees growing upon land belonging to the county are its corporate property, and that corporate property cannot be destroyed even by the board of supervisors, and that any official destroying or conniving at its destruction is liable to removal from office, and to be made to pay three times its value. So great is the indignation over this piece of wantonness that it is proposed by some of the residents of the upper part of the city to enforce the law, and it is to be hoped they will do so.

Memorial Sunday at Trinity.

Memorial Day was observed at the Trinity Methodist Church on Sunday. The auditorium was decorated in an attractive and appropriate manner. The pastor, the Rev P. C. Weyant, preached a sermon that called forth many expressions of appreciation and held the close attention of his congregation. Trinity Church is fast becoming recognized as a church, the pulpit of which is filled from week to week by a strong, forceful preacher, not lacking in ability as an orator, one well deserving of the many words of appreciation. Concerning not alone his ability as a preacher, but as a force in the community life in the pastorates heretofore served by him. Many of the members who had found the habit of attending but one service on Sunday now find it profitable to attend both morning and evening. There is every indication of a steady growth in interest and attendance.

ACCORD.

Mrs Elizabeth McCabe, who recently returned home after a stay of several months with Mrs. A A Lester, was taken to Dr. Sahler's Sanitarium Friday.

While a load of M Lederman's boarders were driving down the clay hill Saturday, the shaft bolt dropped out, scaring the horse. After a short distance the wagon overturned, throwing everyone out. No one was severely hurt but the wagon was damaged considerably, two wheels being smashed.

The convention of the Township S. S Association Sunday was a great success. The attendance was good and the addresses were of a very high order. We only wish that every adult in the town could have been present. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President Chester Quick, Accord, vice president, Edwin DeWitt, Samsonville; secretary, Herman Knickel, Accord. Department superintendents were also elected.

The ladies of the M E Church will give an entertainment and strawberry social at the hall Wednesday evening, June 7.

WOODLAND.

Woodland, May 29—Walter Lord has purchased a new Ford touring car.

The Roxmor Inn has opened for the summer and a number of guests have arrived.

Destiny.

Destiny never forsakes the good man as long as he does not forsake himself and ignobly despair of himself. The genius which seemed to have departed from him returns to him again at the right moment, bringing new activity fortune and joy. Sometimes the genius comes in the shape of a friend, sometimes in that of an unexpected change of times. Sacrifice to this genius, even though you see him not. Hope in back looking, returning fortune even when you deem her far off. If the left side is sore lay yourself on the right. If the storm has bent your sapling one way bend it the other way until it attains once more the perpendicular medium.—Herder.

MEMORIAL DAY IN KINGSTON

The principal attraction, of course, will be the big preparedness parade which is scheduled for 9.30 o'clock in the morning, to be followed by exercises at the city hall.

Kingston Point Park will be open all day and evening.

For those desiring to go out of town the Central Hudson line will run an excursion to Bear Mountain Park on the steamer Newburgh, leaving Rondout at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The Rondout Social Maennerchor and the singing societies of Newburgh and Poughkeepsie will run an excursion to Coney Island on the steamer Sirius, leaving Kingston at 7 o'clock in the morning.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Arrangements are completed for the reception and dance to be held this evening at St Joseph's Hall, under the auspices of the Children of Mary Sodality. The proceeds will be devoted to the renovation of St Joseph's Church. All who attend are assured of an enjoyable evening. Muller's orchestra will supply music. Refreshments will be served by the young ladies.

Melnik-Betlej.

Michael Melnik and Miss Caroline Betlej, both of East Pierpont street, were married this morning at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Delaware avenue, the Rev Francis Lesniewski officiating. The ceremonies were very impressive, a nuptial mass being celebrated. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs Melnik will reside in New York city. Mr Melnik was formerly a member of the Russian Church but became a convert to the Roman Catholic faith and on Sunday made a public profession of faith after vespers in the church. The bride has been a member of the choir for several years and both she and her husband have the well wishes of a host of friends for a long and prosperous married life.

Anson-Recor.

Leonard-Straley.

Miss Mary Straley, of No. 214 Hasbrouck avenue, and John Leonard of ... were married at St Peter's Church at 6 30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Rev John P Neuman. They were attended by Miss Nellie Selfridge and William Tierney.

Bernard-Sahloff.

Miss Bessie Sahloff, daughter of Frederick Sahloff of this city, and Harry Bernard of Walden, formerly of this city, were married at the home of the bride on Third avenue on Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Mr Moot, pastor of the Ponckhockie Union Church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs James McCausland. After a honeymoon trip to New York and vicinity they will reside in Walden.

Wolfgang-Kaplan.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs Morris Kaplan on Fair street was the scene on Sunday afternoon, at half after three o clock of a most charming home wedding, when Miss Rae Kaplan, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Kaplan became the bride of Louis Wolfgang of New York city. The home was artistically decorated with lilacs, carnations and lilies-of-the-valley. The ceremony, performed by Rabbi Miller, took place under a bower of palms and lilacs, Muller's orchestra playing the customary wedding music and also a fine program of other selections. The bride, who was given away by her father was elegantly gowned in white taffeta trimmed with Georgette crepe, and wore a white picture hat. She carried bride roses. Following the ceremony an elaborate collation was served, the bridal table being decorated with white carnations and lily-of-the-valley. The great bridal cake was cut by the bride herself, who was the recipient of many beautiful and costly wedding gifts. Both the groom, who is a successful manufacturer in New York city, and the bride, who has made her home for some time in Waterbury, Conn., have a wide circle of friends in this city, who wish them all happiness in their married life. During the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfgang left for Atlantic City, where they will enjoy their honeymoon. Returning they will spend the summer at Arverne, N Y. Among the out of town guests were Mr and Mrs H. Wolfgang, Mr. and Mrs. Hayflick of New York city, and Mr and Mrs. Louis Friedman of Waterbury, Conn.

WALKILL.

Wallkill, May 29—A "Dry America" rally will be held in Wallkill in the Wallkill Reformed Church, Monday night, June 5, at 7:45. It will be addressed by the Rev. Sam Small one of the leaders in the fight for National Constitutional Prohibition. Admission is free and all are welcome.

The Wallkill Reformed Church festival will be held on the school grounds on June 14. Supper served in the church lecture room. Excellent band music. Strawberries and ice cream. The best yet festival. Come and bring your friends.

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR ARKVILLE

This morning a large touring car running on the state road near Arkville crashed through the roadside fence and shot down an embankment, a fall of about sixty feet, landing under one of the culverts of the Ulster & Delaware railroad. The car was wrecked, and John Ryan, the chauffeur, who lives in New Jersey, was seriously injured. The injured man was brought to Kingston on the down train on the railroad and taken to the Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance. The car was owned by an Englewood, N. J., lawyer named DeWitt, who was on his way to visit Robert W. Goelet of New York at his summer home in Delaware county. What caused the car to leap from the road is not known.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Miss Tessie McHugh, who spent the past week in the Catskills, has returned to her home on West O'Reilly street.

Mary Wynn of No. 17 Cedar street was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital this afternoon in the ambulance.

Mrs Elting of Warren street, who has been critically ill for the past few days, was slightly improved this morning.

Mr and Mrs. E. M. Lebowitz of New York city are the guests of Mrs. Lebowitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mollott, on Crown street.

The many friends of Mrs. C. D. Dodge of Green street, will be delighted to learn that she is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

Miss Alida Suppies and Miss Retta Smith are spending a few days at the home of Prof and Mrs J. Edgar Dransfield in Hudson Heights, N. Y.

John Mower, stenographer and office assistant of the Canfield Supply Co., has accepted a lucrative position with the Central Hudson Steamboat Co at Newburgh.

Mrs. William J. Stapleton of Chicago and her two children, Master Bobbie and Doris, also father-in-law, William Charles Stapleton, are on an extended visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. Hackett, 55 Van Buren street.

Mrs. W. S. Hawk, who has been under special medical treatment at Middletown, N. Y., has returned to Kingston having quite recovered. Mrs Hawk, who has been greatly attracted to Kingston as a place of residence, will make her home here, and as she is a woman of public spirit and interested in the community, her residence here will be of value to the community.

Back to Highland.

Severyn Stokes, who looked upon the lemonade when it was a deep pink on circus day, May 19, is wanted down on the farm in Highland and it is a safe bet that when he gets there all the wild animals in the Barnum and Bailey menagerie will not again attract him to Kingston, at least not without an escort. Severyn has been at "1818" since the big show, Recorder Lang having imposed a sentence of 60 days for intoxication on the man. An appeal was taken from the sentence to Judge Jenkins on Saturday and Stokes's sentence was modified so that he can help out at planting time.

Odd Fellows', Attention.

All Odd Fellows in the city are requested to meet at Kosciusko lodge rooms Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock to take part in the big preparedness parade. Any Odd Fellow, whether a member of a local lodge or not is invited to participate in the parade and meet at the lodge rooms.

Facts About the Deadly Fly

Flies carry disease germs on their feet.

When Your Foot Is Asleep.

After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and pricking are often felt in the arm, leg or foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise. The reason of the sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable while it lasts, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed, as straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled underneath the body, sensibility gradually returns to the nerve, and as each nerve fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a pricking sensation is felt, and these successive prickings from the successive awakenings of the numerous fibers have not inaptly been called "pins and needles."

Big and Little Bibles.

There are no fewer than 110 different editions of the Oxford Bible in English, varying from the magnificent folio edition for pulpit purposes to the "brilliant" Bible, the smallest edition of the Scriptures in the world. Of the revised version fourteen editions are published. More than a million copies of the revised New Testament had been ordered before the day of publication in May of 1881, and it is claimed that the workingmen of the establishment refused a bribe of some £4,000 to furnish a copy of the book before the day of issue. The largest folio Bible printed in Oxford measures 19 by 12 inches, and no erratum has as yet been found in it. The "Brilliant Text Bible" measures 3¾ by 2⅛ inches and is three quarters of an inch thick and bound weighs less than three ounces.—Exchange.

Hops as a Vegetable.

Of hops for the brewing vat we hear a good deal, but what of hops as a vegetable? The Romans ate them, and the Germans, at least the Bavarians, do so, while our own old fashioned country folk can relish a dish of "hop tops." Here is the recipe. Take only the very young shoots, which boil. Serve either with melted butter and a little gravy or with the plain salad dressing composed of oil, vinegar, pepper and salt. There you have a wholesome dish such as was not disdained by the epicures of ancient Rome.—London Chronicle.

Bad Enough.

"I think that society editor is a mean, horrid old thing, so there!" exclaimed wifie, looking up from the morning paper.

"What's the matter?" asked her husband, with a grin. "Did he take you at your word and leave your name out of the paper?"

"No," replied wifie; "it isn't quite so bad as that, but he went and got the description of my gown all wrong."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Horseshoeing In Chile.

Methods of horseshoeing in Chile are still primitive, the tools used being simple and few, consisting usually of a hammer, a rasp, a pair of pinchers, a crude knife and an anvil. There is no need of fire, for the workman beats the shoe into shape cold.

Lawyers and Advice.

"Why so?"

JAPANESE DELEGATE TO WOMEN'S CLUBS CONVENTION BELIEVES U. S. WILL BRING ABOUT WORLD PEACE.

New York, May 29.—"The peace of the world will finally be brought about by the United States," says Miss Nichi Kawai, the only Japanese delegate to the 13th biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, now in session here.

Miss Kawai hails from the Philippine Islands, where she has spent some time in working among the lepers and day nurseries in Manila. She has made a report of this work before the convention.

The treaty of Ghent, which ended the war of 1812, as signed on the 28th of December, 1814, was variously regarded. Henry Clay, one of the signers, thought it "a —— bad treaty" and did not hesitate to say so. In certain high quarters in England, on the other hand, it was looked upon as a great opportunity thrown away.

"An able minister would have continued the war," Lieutenant General Sir Charles Napier declared, "until the northern states withdrew from the Union, making a separate treaty with England, after which England could have raised the negroes of the south, marched to Washington at the head of an immense force of armed and disciplined black regiments and dictated peace, making Delaware an independent black state in alliance with England." So much depends upon the point of view.—From "Our Nation In the Building," by Helen Nicolay, in Century Magazine.

Tricks of the Trade.

"Why don't you get good envelopes so they'll stick?" she asked.

"What's the idea?"

"Whenever people come into the office for my boss he likes to make them think he is rushed to death."

"Uh huh!"

"So you see I am fixing up these old letters. He will make a great fuss opening them when a customer calls. He does that so much we have a hard time keeping a supply of letters to stick up."—Exchange.

Different Conditions.

Schoolteacher—I'm sorry to say, Mr. Jones, that your boy is very backward in his studies. Jones—That's strange. At home in conversation with me he seems to know it all.—Boston Transcript.

The Kick Subtle.

A man who lives in Savannah and owns a plantation in Chatham county, Ga., bought a mule with a reputation for owning a set of gifted and hair triggered hind legs and shipped her out to his place to be used in plowing for cotton.

A Sunday or so later he visited the plantation. The darky whose particular job it was to care for the working stock came limping up to him to report.

"Jim," asked the owner of the plantation "does that new mule kick much?"

Restraints of Poverty.

A negro with a bad cut in his head came to a doctor. The doctor fixed him up, and as the man was about to depart the physician said. "That's a pretty bad cut in your head, Henry. Why don't you profit by this lesson and keep out of bad company in the future?"

"Well, I should like to, doctor," replied Henry sadly, "but, you see, I ain't got no money to get a divorce."

One Exception.

"In the penitentiary."—Baltimore American.

Pretty Poor.

Hicks—Bluffer is talking of purchasing an automobile. Wicks—Bluffer! Why, he couldn't buy a charge of ammunition for an air gun!

They Often Do.

"Don't the bonds of matrimony interest you?"

One of the greatest difficulties in the great European war has been the distributions of the food supply. The travelling soup kitchen has solved the problem to a certain extent and each of the belligerent nations is plentifully supplied with the "boilers."

The accompanying photograph shows the latest style Russian soup kitchen, which was taken to France with the Russian troops who landed at Marseilles more than a month ago.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT KINGSTON POINT

Memorial services for the sailor dead were held Sunday afternoon at Kingston Point with more than 500 people in attendance to witness the exercises which were more than usually impressive. Flowers were strewn on the water by the speakers and various organizations represented, including the Sunday school of Ponckhockie Union Church.

Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., gave an eloquent tribute to the memory of the soldier and sailor dead, citing their patriotism as active rather than passive in its expressions and an existing force today in the inspiration that it had proved for the present generation.

The Rev. A. H. Haynes declared that Mason and Dixon's line had been obliterated and styled the sailors as brave as the soldiers and as important in their achievements for the united nation in the struggle of the sixties.

Major Everett spoke briefly and confined his remarks to the observance of the occasion in which, he stated, he was personally glad to see so many persons manifest interest.

Chaplain Drake referred to the rivers and their tributaries flowing to the sea, citing Rondout creek among others, the simile being used to show the flood of patriotism pouring to the defense of the country whenever occasion made necessary.

The Rev. F. W. Moot of Ponckhockie Union Church delivered the address of the afternoon, laying stress upon the perpetual influence of the sailor-soldiers who so ably defended this nation with their lives and made possible the United States as it exists today. In conclusion of the speeches, each speaker added his bouquet to the stream and the pretty ceremony was carried out most impressively by the Sunday school children. "America" was sung in conclusion.

The sole drawback was the purloining of the flowers floating on the river by some young people in boats, this form of vandalism being criticised by spectators but without effect.

In the evening memorial services at the Ponckhockie Union Church were largely attended. The Rev. F. W. Moot preached an appropriate sermon, his subject being, "The Art of Peace." The speaker, among other points, declared that the master minds of the world which were now devoted to war and the perfecting of engines of destruction would eventually be turned to the school of the Art of Peace in which the world will learn that war is a relic of savagery.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Ellen Dunn, daughter of Ellen and the late Patrick Dunn, formerly of Fish Creek, died in New York, Friday. Deceased was 12 years of age. The body was taken to Saugerties for burial in St. Mary's Cemetery on the 11:30 W. S. R. R. train Sunday morning.

Amalia Simon, sister of William and Herman Simon, died at her home Sunday evening, aged 71 years. She was born in Enkirch ad Mosel, Germany, and lived in this city 39 years. She leaves two brothers, William and Herman Simon, and a niece, Mrs. Joseph Salinger, of Shelbyville, Kentucky. Funeral will be held from her late home, 96 McEntee street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30. Interment in Montrepose cemetery.

Dennis Dunn, for several years dock master for James T. Maxwell, the bluestone dealer, died Sunday night at his home on Partition street, Saugerties. He is survived by a widow and several children. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Wednesday morning. Esopus Tribe, I. O. Red Men, of which he was a member, will attend and the burial services of the order will be used. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Katherine Kolts died Sunday evening at her home No. 44 Foxhall avenue, after long Illness. She is survived by her husband Frank, and leaves one son, George, and three daughters, Mrs. Mary Flick, Mrs. Henry Genskie, Mrs. J. E. Kiersted, all of this city. Mrs. Kolts has a host of friends who will deeply mourn her loss. Funeral will be held Wednesday morning from her late home, 44 Foxhall avenue, at 9, and at 9:30 from St. Peters Church.

The funeral of the Rev. John J. Boyle, late rector of St. Luke's Church, New York city, was held this afternoon. A number of the Catholic clergy of the city and a delegation of laymen met the cortege at the Rhinebeck ferry and accompanied the remains to St. Mary's Cemetery, where committal services were conducted by the Rev. John J. Hickey. A large number of parishioners from New York attended the funeral. Father Boyle was born and received his early education in St. Mary's parish. He is survived by one brother.

Mrs. Mary Dickerson Holt, widow of Dr. John V. Holt, and a former resident of this city, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Abrams, in Poughkeepsie, in her 90th year. Deceased was a native of Orange county and from the early seventies up to 1890 had made her home in Kingston, afterward residing in Esopus, Ulster Park and New Paltz. She was a member of the First Reformed Church. She is survived by two sons, William T. Holt, of Port Richmond, Staten Island, and Abner D. Holt, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. A. J. Abrams, of Poughkeepsie. The remains will be brought to Kingston on Wednesday on the train arriving here at 2.25 p. m. for interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Miss Sarah L. Brewer, a well known lady, died at her home on Center street, Ellenville Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock of complication, at the age of about 80 years. Miss Brewer had been a resident of this village many years, having been born in Dutchess county, and coming here from Poughkeepsie. She had with her as a member of her home, Miss Ella Haight, who cared for Miss Brewer in the most loving and true way. No daughter could have done more for her. Surviving are two sisters and a niece. Miss Anna Brewer, who arrived on Sunday to attend to the burial of her aunt. The funeral will be held from the home Tuesday evening in charge of Rev. H. P. Hobson, D. D., of St. John's Church of which deceased was a member, and the body will be taken by Undertaker Ostrander to Poughkeepsie on Wednesday for burial.

Rachel Bell, widow of Daniel Coddington, died at her home at High Falls, N. Y., on Wednesday, May 24, after a short illness. The deceased was 87 years of age. She is survived by three sons, Jesse of Tarrytown, James of Peekskill and Lorin of High Falls, three daughters, Mrs. Sarah Paulmier of Yonkers, N. Y., Mrs. Martha Sheeley and Mrs. Lambert Brodhead of High Falls, and one brother, DuBois Bell of Sayre, Pa., also 24 grandchildren, 35 great grandchildren, and six great, great grandchildren. She was born in the town of Rochester, N. Y. A large part of her life was spent at the Coddington homestead at High Falls, which is now occupied by the youngest son, Lorin. Besides all of her children, a large number of her grandchildren attended the funeral. The casket was covered with carnations, roses, lilies and a large wreath, a loving tribute of her grandchildren, also other floral offerings of friends. Although she lived to nearly four-score years and ten, her cheerful, youthful disposition made her dearly beloved by her large circle of grandchildren. The funeral, which was held at the house Friday afternoon at three o'clock, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Dahgremond of High Falls. The interment was in the family plot in the Kyserike cemetery. At the services, Mrs. Charles Hutchins sang beautifully, "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Asleep in Jesus."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 29.—The attendance on the street and on the floor of the stock exchange today was small, with transactions limited, but there were some wide price movements. Chandler Motor was in brisk demand, advancing 2½ points to 104½, with buyers talking about dividend probability. Reading advanced to 100⅜ and then lost its gain. The copper stocks shaded off under small sales, Anaconda yielding ⅝ to 83⅜, and other copper issues showing small fractional losses, because of the lower price of the metal. Mexican Petroleum declined 1⅛ to 108⅝. Willys-Overland advanced six points to 276 on three transactions and Steel Common was unchanged at 85.

Although trading was of a holiday character, many stocks showed a strong tone in the late forenoon, and price movements were generally toward higher levels. Chandler Motor continued its upward movement, selling at 106½, a gain of 4½ points in all and a new high record. This was followed by a quick reaction to 104½, from which it rose to above 105. Lehigh Valley advanced 1⅜ to 82⅞. Reading a point to 101⅜. Canadian Pacific to 177⅞, and fractional advances were made in many of the other railway issues. Studebaker rose to 139¼. Baldwin to 88⅞, and Mexican Petroleum to 108⅝. Steel Common sold at 85¼. Money loaning at 2½ per cent.

The final tone was strong. Stocks were in urgent demand in the late trading, with nearly all the important issues joining in the upward movement. Lehigh Valley was the strongest feature advancing to 83½ and Reading, St. Paul and Union Pacific made substantial gains. Steel Common was also active and strong, advancing ⅜ to 85⅜ and many of the specialties, including Studebaker, Lee Tire and Butte and Superior moved up over a point. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

One Woman's Way.

A West Philadelphia woman is still smarting over the "compliment" that a guest paid her when she was hostess at an entertainment a week ago. The West Philadelphia woman, whose name is not Brown, prides herself especially on her coffee, and she made some of her best for this occasion.

Among the guests was a woman who makes it a practice always to compliment persons with whom she comes in contact. She says it makes others feel pleasant and doesn't hurt her. During the refreshments this guest turned to the woman whose name is not Brown and said:

The Moss Troopers.

Moss troopers was the name given to the desperate plunderers and robbers who secreted themselves throughout the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in the "mosses" on the borders of Scotland. These outlaws were largely made up of deserters and criminals from the armies of England and the continent, and their depredations and cruelties were the terror of the region infested by them. Many severe laws were passed against them, but they were not fairly extirpated until the eighteenth century.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Mrs S. J. Horwitz and sister Minnie, who have been visiting Mrs. E. Mecker at 24 Lavan street, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

A coffee social will be held in St. Peter's school hall on Thursday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock. All ladies of the parish and friends are invited.

The members of Wiltwyck Hose Company, who are going to take part in the big Memorial Day parade, will meet at the rooms of the company on Fair street at 8:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

GLASCO.

Glasco, May 29.—The funeral of Capt. William Morgan was held at the M. E. Church, of which he was a member, on Sunday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Nicholas Hess, assisted by the Rev. H. I. Hoag, of Saugerties. "Captain Bill," as he was familiarly called, had a large circle of acquaintances and friends, besides relatives, which drew a large attendance. By his dying request the entire congregation arose and joined in the singing of "Jesus Lover of My Soul." After an appropriate address by each of the pastors, the choir sang "Come Ye Disconsolate." Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties.

The funeral of Floyd Ebel, the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ebel, was held at their home on Friday afternoon. A very touching and beautiful tribute to the memory of the litle lad, was the attendance of his school mates from the public school, who contributed an unusually large and beautiful floral display.

The Knickerbocker Ice Company commenced last week loading barges from their ice house at the landing, which is a favorable indication that there may be something doing next winter in the way of refilling.

Mrs. Raymond Ten Broeck will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society at her home on Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being their regular weekly meeting.

One of our well known lady chauffers alighted from her car at Fuller's Corner the other day, leaving the engine running, while she stepped inside. In a few seconds the car, without an occupant, started forward in the direction of a big telephone pole at the roadside. It failed to climb the pole because an irresistible force coming in contact with an immovable body, checked its further progress by the sudden and violent impact. No apparent damage resulted, however, and the lady quickly resumed her seat at the wheel and was soon lost to sight in a cloud of dust.

The Rev. Nicholas Hess preached upon the subject of "Peace" on Sunday evening. It goes without saying that the domine is a pacifist. The only kind of preparedness that he advocates is on the spiritual side.

Mrs. Hoyt Weeks, Jr., has been quite seriously ill for the past week.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, May 29.—Sally Tock Inn opened May 25. People passing through the village will find here an up-to-date tea room.

Rev. Chauncey Stevens and family came Friday. Mr. Stevens expects to occupy the Reformed parsonage as soon as his furniture arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Elmendorf, Wallace Beatty and Miss Elizabeth Elmendorf spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Elmendorf.

Mrs. Dennis Beatty of Kingston has been spending a few days in this village.

The supper held in the Reformed Church on Friday evening was a great success Receipts about $26.

Grange meeting in the new hall Friday evening, June 2. A number of new members will receive the first and second degrees. The Grange wishes to talk over the subject of the dedication of the hall. The dedication exercises will be free to all. The members are hoping to hold these exercises on June 8. Some good speakers will be present and all those who attend will be assured of a pleasant afternoon. Notice of the time, etc., will appear in this paper.

KYSERIKE.

Kyserike, May 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Van Wagenen are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a young son on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Henry Ahrens of Ellenville spent the past week with her daughter at Fred D. Oakley's.

Miss Maude Oakley and Miss Mildred Green spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Abner Oakley at Warwarsing.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner S. Osterhoudt have been entertaining friends from Walden.

Mrs. L. J. Haines, Mrs. Ollie Davis and Mrs. Edward Hardenburgh enjoyed an auto ride on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Maria Westbrook, Mrs. Vina Westbrook and son, Thomas, Roy Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davis and family and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiana motored to Ellenville on Sunday and were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Enkler.

The Kripplebush school will close June 2. The pupils have progressed fine under the management of Miss Mathilda Enkler. Miss Enkler expects to attend Oneonta Normal the coming year.

Claude Christiana and Miss Viola M. Davis were married at Accord, N. Y., on May 20, by the Rev. H. Heroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiana and Mrs. Marvin Davis and daughter, Dorothy, were in Kingston on Thursday.

Mrs. James H. Christiana has returned home after spending some time at Ellenville and Accord.

In a decision handed down in Utica today by Supreme Court Justice Davendorf, Miss Isabel W. G. Reed, grand regent of Utica Court, No. 1, Daughters of Isabella, who was expelled from the order by the national officers for alleged insubordination, is ordered reinstated. The court's decision marks the culmination of one phase of bitter controversy and litigation that have been waged between the national officers of the Daughters of Isabella and subordinate bodies of the organization of several states for months and that have already resulted in defections from the national order. Today's ruling is considered a sharp rebuke to the national officers and is directed principally against Supreme Regent Genevieve Walsh of New York city, National Secretary M. F. Kelley of Utica, and National Advocate P. H. Fitzgerald, also of Utica who voted to expel Miss Reed.

EXCITING GAME GOES TO RED SEALS

One of the fastest and most exciting games ever played on the Andrew street grounds was played Sunday afternoon and was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiastic spectators. The game, which went ten innings, ended in the Wilbur Feds quitting the game in the tenth when the Seals began to use their large bats and pounded Cullen for three doubles, a single and a tripple, and were keeping right on going. Stout started the game for the Feds. He was supposed to shut out the Red Seals, but was surprised to learn that five runs were gotten off him in the first. Cullen came to the rescue in the fifth, as something was again to happen. The uptowners led until the ninth, 6-4, when the Feds tied the score. The game was sent to inning ten and the Wilburs sent five more men home, making it 11-6. The Red Seals came to bat in last half of the tenth and here's where the trouble started. Pyers led off with a double. D. Moxham singled, Butler doubled, as did Johnson. Roche tripled and the Feds knowing that victory was about to change hands, decided that they quit the game, insisting that Roche was out on a very close play at third. After arguing for about ten or fifteen minutes, the umpire said he would give his time as five minutes for the Wilburs to take the field, which they refused. At the end of that time the umpire forfeited the game to the Red Seals, 10-0. It might be known that two men were out when Roche hit his tripple and the Feds had the better of winning, as the next batter might have struck out or went out in another way, but were so excited that they would lose threw the game away. The score by innings follows:

R. Seals 5 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 4—10

New York, May 29.—On the opening day at the Jamaica track, we lined the rail to watch the finish of the big handicap race, which Sand Marsh, a 15 to 1 shot, won with ease.

As the horses rounded the turn into the stretch, the jockey aboard the horse raced him along to his greatest speed, widening the gap that separated him from the contending field. As Sand Marsh neared the finish line, his jockey half turned in his seat, glanced back at the trailers, figured he had a commanding lead, and then pulled his horse, breezing in an easy winner.

Just at the moment a wizened old chap alongside of us, loosened a string of words that rhyme nicely with jam and sam and bell and dell.

"Didja see that? Didja see that?" he exclaimed, excitedly, as he grabbed our coat and whirled us around a bit. "Didja see him look back and then pull his horse?"

We remarked that we had.

"What of it?" we countered. "Sand Marsh had a safe lead, didn't he? Why race a horse to its limit when it isn't necessary?"

"That's what a jockey thought ten years ago—and it cost me $20,000," returned the old fellow. "Ever since that day I never can look at a turning jockey without feeling a shiver all over me.

"Yes?" we broke in, figuring that he had a story to tell.

"Well, Peter Pan was the sensation of the turf ten or eleven years ago," he continued, without waiting for our answer. 'He was the pride of the James R. Keene stable, and one of the greatest animals that ever faced a barrier. Along in 1906 Peter Pan was entered in one of the big races at Belmont Park. He was figured to be unbeatable in that event, and although a big field was pitted against him, he was quoted at 6 to 5 when the betting opened. And when he went to the post he was an odds-on favorite of 4 to 5.

"I bet $10,000 on Peter Pan to win, my betting averaging even money. If Peter Pan won that race I stood to get back $20,000. If he lost, every dollar I had in the world was gone. I'd played the horses for a while before then and had decided that I'd make my last bet on Peter Pan. Some folks probably think that I was crazy to stake every dollar I had in the world on a race horse, but those who remember Peter Pan will tell you that betting on him, when well ridden, was as safe a thing as investing in government bond.

"Well, the horses got away from the barrier in a bunch. After the first hundred yards Peter Pan shot into the lead and when the turn for home was reached, he was leading the nearest horse by a wide margin. It looked like an absolute cinch when jockey Walter Miller, riding Peter Pan, committed the fatal error of looking back.

"Miller turned and squinted down along the rail. He saw that his horse was leading the nearest horse within the scope of his vision by five lengths. And the finish mark was only about ten lengths away. It looked like sure victory, whereupon Miller pulled Peter Pan, and, of course, the horse slowed down.

"But Miller, in looking down along the rail hadn't seen the horse Frank Gill, driven by Jockey Hotter, racing along on the outside. When Miller turned, the Gill horse was probably three lengths behind and rushing along like a streak. And when Peter Pan was pulled, the gap between the two horses was reduced to a hare length.

"A roar from the stand awoke Miller to his peril. He looked toward the outside and saw Frank Gill almost abreast of him, with the finish line less than three lengths away. Miller applied the whip to the sides of Peter Pan, but before the great horse could get back into his fastest stride again, the finish line was crossed. And Frank Gill, a 15 to 1 shot, was the winner of the race by a nose."

"I've never bet on a horse race since that day. But I still love the horses and I like to see them go. But I never can watch a jockey pull a horse near the finish line, no matter how great his lead, without feeling a shudder—without calling back to memory that one action of Miller which lost me my bet of $10,000 and my seemingly certain winner of another $10,000."

Hot Liners.

The Indians received an awful wallop by the White Sox, being shut out in both games of a double-header. Morton's winning streak of eight was checked and Coumbe lost his first game of the season.

The Shoe Retailer, a paper printed in Boston, in the interest of the retail shoe trade, in its issue of May 13, gives pictures of the Greenwald shoe store in this city and says of them:

The lattice work background in both windows was painted white, thus giving a good contrast with the blue decorative scheme. Apple blossoms, made of artificial paper, covered the latice work. The two large ovals, flanked by a pair of scrolls, were made of beaver board and edged and puffed with a material to harmonize with the general decorative treatment. Mr. Greenwald says he is partial to the use of skins draped on the quartered oak backgrounds of his windows and states that the color of them always harmonizes with the decorative scheme.
